Senate-House Group Agrees On Housing Bill

Republican Leaders Press Drive To End Session By Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — The GOP substitute for President Truman's anti-inflation program was rammed through the House Banking Committee tonight on a 16-8 vote.

It calls for restoration of wartime curbs on installment buying, and a moderate tightening of bank credit.

GOP leaders were pressing a drive to adjourn the extra session of Congress, possibly Saturday night, or at the latest next Tuesday.

Earlier they had abandoned an anti-poll tax bill in the Senate, saying a southern filibuster prevented action at this session.

A Senate-House committee tentatively approved, meanwhile, a housing bill which Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said is principally designed to stimulate production of lower cost homes."

The measure is far different from the Truman-backed Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, designed to spur the construction of 15,000,000 homes in 10 years. For one thing, the T-E-W bill contains a provision for government-financed and publicly-owned homes for low income persons, a provision which McCarthy said is absent from the new bill.

The anti-inflation bill approved by the House Banking Committee flatly rejects Mr. Truman's call for reimposition of selective price and wage controls and rationing. It ignores his proposal for a $4,300,000,000 excess profits tax.

Provisions Of GOP Bill

The GOP bill provides:

1. That "in order to protect the nation's monetary, banking and credit structure, and interstate and foreign commerce against increased inflationary pressure," the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System is authorized to exercise installment buying controls up to March 15, 1949.

2. In order to "prevent injurious credit expansion," the Federal Reserve System until next March 31 may change reserve requirements of member banks as follows:

(a) Reserves against time deposits, up to seven per cent. The top requirement now is six per cent.

(b) Reserves against demand deposits—in central reserve bank cities (New York and Chicago) the maximum requirement can be increased from the present 26 per cent to 29; in reserve city banks, from 20 per cent to 23; in country banks, 14 to 17 per cent.

3. Every Federal Reserve Bank shall maintain reserves in gold certificates of not less than 35 per cent against its deposits, and reserves in gold certificates of not less than 40 per cent against its federal reserve notes in actual circulation. The present requirement in each category is 25 per cent.

May Have Decided On Whether To Seek New Stalin Meeting

MOSCOW, Aug. 4—(AP)—American, British and French envoys conferred for three hours tonight on their next step in negotiations with Russia for a settlement of the Berlin crisis and perhaps East-West differences in all Europe.

United States Ambassador Walter B. Smith and French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau went to the British Embassy where Frank Roberts, the special British envoy, received them. United States Embassy Counsellor Foy Kohler accompanied Smith.

It was reliably reported that one of the three embassies—which one was not specified—had already received the first official reaction to the talks with Prime Minister Stalin Monday night.

It was possible that all three envoys had received such advices.

Good Chance For Agreement

The three envoys possibly discussed whether to seek another appointment with Stalin in order to communicate to him the views of their home governments.

However, there was no indication up to a late hour tonight that the western diplomats had made any effort to obtain a second appointment with either Stalin or Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Reliable sources here said there is a good chance for "an agreement" between the Western Powers and the Soviet Union but they did not specify its nature.

(The British message to Roberts, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's personal envoy in Moscow, was being drafted Wednesday, London dispatches reported, after Bevin conferred with Herbert Morrison, acting prime minister; Sir William Strang, Foreign Office advisor; United States Ambassador Lewis Douglas, and Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander in Germany.

(Douglas, Strang and French Ambassador Rene Massigli also met in London to exchange views on the Moscow conversations. Informed British sources said a new meeting between the western envoys in Moscow with Stalin or Molotov or both "is on the cards."

Four-Power Parley Seen

(French informants in Paris said also it was probable the western envoys would see Molotov once more. They said all signs pointed to a new four-power conference to discuss East-West differences. United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffrey conferred with French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman after the latter had received Massigli on a flying visit from London.

(In Washington Secretary of State George Marshall declined to say whether any new communication had been sent to the United States ambassador in Moscow or when any announcement will be made concerning results of the Moscow conversations.)

Cominform Rift Not Reflected In Security Council

Trieste Fight Finds Russia Backing Yugos

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 4 (AP) — Despite Cominform attacks on Marshal Tito, Soviet Russia and the Ukraine backed Yugoslavia today in a fight with the West over Trieste.

There was not the slightest sign in the United Nations Security Council of the rift in Communist circles caused by the blasts of the Communist Information Bureau against the head of the Yugoslav state.

It was the first clear-cut indication here that the party struggle had not dented the solid Slav front in conflicts with the outside world.

Yugoslavia brought up the council fight by charging the United States and Britain with violating the Italian peace treaty. Dr. Joza Vilfan, Yugoslav delegate, declared the Western Powers were trying to make their zone of the Trieste territory a province of Italy.

Charge Lacks Basis, U. S. Says

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, United States deputy, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain, replied that Yugoslavia had no foundation for the charges.

Alexandre Parodi, France, called upon Yugoslavia to submit a report to the Council. That touched off Slav fireworks.

Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Soviet Ukrainian Foreign Minister, said he was "astounded" at attempts to put the Yugoslav charges aside by all kinds of irrelevant and secondary considerations. He said it would be inappropriate to broaden the case to inquire into the Yugoslav occupation zone.

Jakob A. Malik, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, backed up Manuilsky and Vilfan. He said the United States and Britain were trying to divert attention from the Yugoslav charges. He said the Council must consider the case speedily.

What's The Hurry, Cadogan Asks

Vilfan said no report was necessary from Yugoslavia but that the Council could request one if it so desired.

Anti-Poll Tax Bill Abandoned By 69-16 Vote

Southern Filibuster Successful As Motion To Adjourn Approved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—An easy-going southern filibuster killed the anti-poll tax bill today for this session of Congress.

A 69 to 16 roll-call vote in the Senate made it official. Earlier, Republican senators had decided to abandon their effort to pass the bill. This was the fifth day of the debate and pressure was mounting for adjournment.

Down the drain with the poll tax measure went the rest of President Truman's civil rights proposals. They weren't even mentioned as the Republicans decided to concentrate on their own anti-inflation legislation and one or two other matters before closing up shop for the year.

Technically, the decisive Senate vote came on a motion to adjourn instead of recess tonight. Approval of the motion had the effect of clearing the stage of the poll tax fight.

Barkley Opposes Motion

The motion to adjourn was opposed by Sen. Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic floor leader and nominee for Vice President. He said it "puts us right back where we were last week," and added that "the Senate cannot forever go on and admit to the American people that it is impossible to function."

Republicans and southern Democrats, however, lined up for the motion and the administration could muster only 16 votes in opposition.

The southerners' victory may prove only temporary, however. The Republican senators, meeting in a formal conference, committed themselves to an effort to change the rules at the start of the next session so as to make it easier to break filibusters.

Under their plan, the cloture rule by means of which two-thirds of the Senate can limit debate, would be made applicable to every phase of parliamentary action—to motions as well as to debate on actual legislation.

Tydings, O'Connor Team Up

Sen. Millikin, of Colorado, chairman of the Republican senators conference, said after today's closed-door session that the fight to pass the poll tax bill at this session was "futile." The House approved the bill months ago. It would outlaw collection of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in federal elections. Seven southern states now have the tax.

Millikin said there was some discussion at the meeting of presenting the anti-poll tax issue in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment rather than as legislation. The southerners have indi-

DP Appropriation Called Inadequate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—(AP)—A shortage of funds will limit to about 40,000 the number of refugees to enter the United States in the next 11 months, Ugo Carusi, newly-named displaced persons commissioner, said today.

This is less than half the amount of immigration contemplated for the period under the displaced persons law passed in June. A total of 205,000 was set as the quota for the two years ending June 30, 1950.

Carusi said his conclusion is based on a study of what can be done with the "inadequate" $2,000,000 budget appropriated by Congress to finance the immigration.

"We need at least $2,000,000 more for this fiscal year to get this program going on the scale Congress envisioned when it passed the displaced persons law," Carusi said in an interview.

President Truman already has asked the extra session of Congress to grant this money. He also wants the law changed to eliminate what he calls discrimination against Catholic and Jewish refugees. He proposes, in addition, that the bill be broadened to admit a total of 405,000 persons during the next four years.

U. S. Communist Party Denounces Red Probes

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—The American Communist Party said today the Washington Communist probes are a bi-partisan conspiracy to defeat Soviet peace moves and bring on an atomic war.

The party's 14th national convention adopted a resolution charging the investigations are "the answer of American warmongers to the latest Soviet peace initiative."

The peace initiative was described as the recent exchange of letters by Premier Stalin and Henry A. Wallace, Progressive Party presidential candidate.

Flood On Eastern Shore Hits Crops, Inundates Roads

Heavy Rain Washes Out Dams, Bridges

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 4 (AP) — Five days of rain have turned Maryland's lower Eastern Shore into vast pools of standing water.

It would be a major flood if it were not for the fact that the whole area is almost as level as a table top.

As it is, many roads are blocked, dams and bridges have washed out, communications lines are down, and millions of dollars worth of damage has been inflicted on its rich truck garden crops.

No loss of life has been reported.

The rain started Saturday afternoon and some areas in the six-county section had as much as 4.48 inches between then and Monday morning.

The showers continued intermittently through Monday and Tuesday, with the skies opening up again for another general deluge that started late Tuesday and continued through the day.

Three small dams which held back ponds or small lakes in Wicomico County gave way to the weight and washing of extra water.

Bridge approaches were washed out in turn and traffic across others was stopped for fear they would give way. There was 18 inches to two feet of water over the bridge across the Manokin River on the main highway between here and Princess Anne.

There was some fear that Salisbury's water supply would be cut off or polluted. It comes from small lakes impounded by earthen and concrete dams similar to those which were washed out. There was danger the ground seepage would pollute the drinking water, so City Engineer Clark Gardner ordered a heavy chlorine treatment.

The lake in Salisbury's municipal park overflowed. Two vehicle bridges and a footbridge were closed.

Nudists, Properly Undressed, Launch Their Convention

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Aug. 4—(AP)—This was hardly the kind of day for most people to run around in their skins—outdoors, that is.

Because of rain, barely a few delegates to the 17th annual convention of the American Sunbathing Association ventured to go outside at nearby Sunshine Park. The park is a 150-acre affair, closed to the public and operated by 69-year-old Dr. Ilsley Boone.

To dress for a convention session, all a man has to do is comb his hair. A woman delegate will go a bit further by applying some face makeup.

Two sessions were held today in the park's clubhouse. Mrs. Margaret A. B. Pulis, Oakland, N. J., association president, was chairman.

Boone said some 200 delegates, properly undressed, discussed organization problems. He said there are 1,500 members in the association and about 15,000 in 50 locals throughout the nation.

Boycott Grows As Hog Prices Hit Record Peak

Miami, Atlanta Join Telephone Crusade; Centering In Texas

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—A telephone crusade against high meat prices mounted as hogs hit record price peaks today.

Housewives in scattered parts of the country phoned one another to stay out of butcher shops, but the phone calls did not reach the Chicago livestock market. It was there that the new all-time high hog peak—$31.50 a hundred pounds—was reached.

Hogs provided most of the sad news for consumers. However, meat was not only high, but even the implements to eat it were going up. Three makers of sterling silver table service boosted flatware prices eight to 10 per cent.

Corn Prices Sink

Some long distance cheer came from the grain markets. Corn prices sank to a new low for the year as the largest corn crop in history approached maturity. Traders estimated the crop might top 3,500,000,000 bushels.

Corn is the major livestock food, particularly for hogs, traders said a big crop eventually will mean more hogs and lower pork prices—but not until next year.

The butcher boycott, spread by telephone calls, centered mainly in Texas. It began in Dallas, where the Dallas Federation of Women's Clubs urged housewives to buy no meat from August 9 to August 16. Women in several other Texas cities took up the plaintive cry.

Chain telephone calls also were being used to support the no-meat campaign in Miami, Fla., and Atlanta, Ga. Those who got the calls

Noted Surgeon's Missing Son Is Found In USAF

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Robert Eugene Potts, 21, son of a noted "blue baby" surgeon, was found today—a private in the Army Air Force in Texas.

He had been missing from classes at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., since June 2. Last week his father appealed for help in finding him.

The father, Dr. Willis J. Potts, made the plea as he was about to undergo surgery himself. He wanted to have his son by his side, he said. The operation, for a gall bladder condition, was successfully performed last Saturday.

A spokesman at Children's Memorial Hospital—where he is on the staff — said Dr. Potts heard from his son today.

Univis Settlement Brought Nearer

DAYTON, O., Aug. 4—(AP)—Striking workers of the Univis lens plant, thwarted by National Guard troops, agreed late today to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's terms for approaching a settlement of the 92-day-old dispute.

Herbert Hirschberg, regional organizer of the CIO United Electrical Workers, announced members of the Univis plant local would vest in their leaders full authority to sign an agreement with the company.

Gov. Herbert, incensed by members' rejection of a signed agreement between union and company officials last Sunday, had refused to arrange another conference unless UEW negotiators were empowered to act for the membership.

"The Governor has been informed," Hirschberg announced, "that we will be prepared today to meet to settle the strike on the basis of the membership giving authority to the negotiating committee in conjunction with the shop committee."

Hopes Are Raised For 52 Aboard Missing Plane

PARIS, Aug. 4. (AP)—A second message for help received by a French ship at sea raised hopes tonight for the 52 persons aboard a giant Air France seaplane missing since Sunday on a transatlantic flight.

Last night the French frigate Leverrier intercepted an SOS. Today a radio call for help described as "extremely feeble" came with the call letters "BCR." Air France officials said this indicated the message was from the missing plane.

Ships and planes have been thrown into a search for the plane, a 73-ton six engine Latecoere 631.

Declares War Job Protected By Patterson

Silvermaster Denies Spy Accusation, Won't Say If He's "Commie"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, accused of spying for Soviet Russia, related today that a White House aide and a Cabinet officer protected his wartime government job after naval intelligence tried to get him fired.

Silvermaster produced a letter he said was written by Robert P. Patterson, then Secretary of War, clearing him after Lauchlin Currie, for years a top White House assistant, had called on Patterson in Silvermaster's behalf.

The middle-aged Silvermaster, a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee, flatly refused to say whether he ever was a Communist, but he asserted he never was a spy. He said the naval intelligence report was an unjustified smear and that he had been cleared after investigation by various agencies, including a chief of the United States Secret Service.

(In New York, Patterson said that to the best of his recollection Currie called him during the war about a case in the Board of Economic Warfare involving a man he thinks was Silvermaster. He ordered an inquiry, he said, and told Currie later that the War Department did not object to the man staying in BEW. He added he has every confidence in Currie. Patterson said he never met Silvermaster and only heard of him the one time.)

Stayed On Until 1946

Testimony that both the Navy and the Civil Service Commission had tried unsuccessfully to pry Silvermaster loose from his job with the Board of Economic Warfare was given the committee. He stayed on four more years—until 1946.

Louis Russell, a former FBI agent and now a committee investigator, testified that the Civil Service Commission looked upon Silvermaster as a Communist. And Elizabeth Bentley, who says she was formerly a Soviet agent, repeated her story that Silvermaster furnished information that went to Russia. She said she was a courier for secrets released by many government officials, and that Silvermaster headed a group of employes with whom she dealt.

The Vassar graduate entered the hearing while Silvermaster was testifying and was asked to stand.

"Do you know Elizabeth Bentley?" he was asked.

"I refuse to answer on the grounds that any answer might incriminate me," Silvermaster replied.

This was his stock answer to a rapidfire series of questions including: "Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?"

He did however deny her charges as "false and fantastic."

Navy Secretary Won't Talk

The committee is digging into stories that Soviet spy rings honeycombed the government during the war. Tomorrow it will hear Alger Hiss, native Baltimorean and former State Department employe who helped get the United Nations started. Whittaker Chambers, who describes himself as a former Communist, testified yesterday that Hiss

Sunpapers Will Have New Home In Two Years

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4. (AP)—The A. S. Abell Company announced tonight that construction of a large, modern plant for publication of the Sunpapers on the site formerly occupied by the old Calvert railroad station in Baltimore will be started in the near future.

The contract for construction was signed by Paul Patterson, president of the A. S. Abell Company with Lou R. Crandall, president of the George H. Fuller Company, contractor.

The building is expected to be completed within 18 to 24 months.

The four-story structure will have a front of 258 feet on Calvert Street, with a depth of 158 feet.

Bridge Mystery

Note Seemingly Connects Death Leap To "Spy" Quiz

SAN FRANCISCO Aug. 4. (AP)—A strange and cryptic suicide note was found early today on the fog-bound walkway of Golden Gate bridge—a note seemingly linking a woman's death leap to the Washington Communist "spy" quiz.

The note, unsigned, was addressed to "Dear E.T.B.," which Highway Patrol officers were quick to note were the initials of Elizabeth T. Bentley, admitted ex-Communist courier and star witness in the congressional Communist inquiry.

The note was found with scattered outer clothing bearing labels of expensive bay area women's shops, and newspaper clippings of Miss Bentley's testimony and of Alger Hiss, native Baltimorean and former State Department official.

But tonight the swift-running waters of the Golden Gate had failed to yield a body—not unusual due to the vagaries of the tides.

In Washington, Miss Bentley was unable to recall anyone she might know in San Francisco.

Bridge police had not discarded the idea the entire matter may be a hoax, saying the scattered nature of the clothing might indicate it was thrown from a moving automobile.

If a woman did actually jump—to become the 101st suicide from the bride—her body might never be found because the tide was running fast into the Pacific.

The note, with its bitter references to "E.T.B.'s sensationalism," was found some 15 feet from a pair of suede pumps, a tired-looking handbag, and worn but once-expensive feminine apparel.

Its embittered message concluded: "By the time someone reads this my troubles will be over. Thank God. How I have suffered. I don't want my little baby to suffer what I've been through so I am taking it with me. Praise the Lord there is a way out."

There was no signature, only the postscript:

"Nobody would care about my name, except maybe Elizabeth."

Blow To Opera

Met, Unable To Meet Wage Demands, Cancels Season

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP) — The world-renowned Metropolitan Opera today cancelled its 1948-49 season because, it said, demands for union wage increases could not be met.

If the cancellation stands, it will be the first time in 50 years that the Met has failed to present a season of opera.

The opera association said its decision was caused by "failure to reach agreements with all of the 12 unions representing the employes."

Shortly after the announcement, Local 802 of the AFL American Federation of Musicians said it had reluctantly withdrawn demands for a wage boost in an effort to reach a settlement with the opera. This union said the only point it had continued to insist on was establishment of unemployment insurance and old age benefits.

The musicians said in a statement that the Met "is not a private venture."

"It is a civic institution," the statement asserted. "It is one which belongs not to a small group of people—not to a board of directors—but it belongs to all the people, to those thousands of Americans who have contributed money so that the Metropolitan can continue its existence. x x x

"It is inconceivable that the Metropolitan board of directors could act so cavalierly."

The union said it was "confident that this unilateral action will not stand for long, that those to whom the Metropolitan represents an integral part of our culture will assert themselves and make possible the next season."

However, a spokesman for the association indicated the decision was final.

"This business of long drawn-out negotiations with the unions has been doing on every year," he said. "The directors think it is time to meet the issue."

Alexandre Parodi, France, called upon Yugoslavia to submit a report to the Council. That touched off Slav fireworks.

Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Soviet Ukrainian Foreign Minister, said he was "astounded" at attempts to put the Yugoslav charges aside by all kinds of irrelevant and secondary considerations. He said it would be inappropriate to broaden the case to inquire into the Yugoslav occupation zone.

Jakob A. Malik, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, backed up Manuilsky and Vilfan. He said the United States and Britain were trying to divert attention from the Yugoslav charges. He said the Council must consider the case speedily.

What's The Hurry, Cadogan Asks

Vilfan said no report was necessary from Yugoslavia but that the Council could request one if it so desired.

DP Appropriation Called Inadequate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—(AP)—A shortage of funds will limit to about 40,000 the number of refugees to enter the United States in the next 11 months, Ugo Carusi, newly-named displaced persons commissioner, said today.

This is less than half the amount of immigration contemplated for the period under the displaced persons law passed in June. A total of 205,000 was set as the quota for the two years ending June 30, 1950.

Carusi said his conclusion is based on a study of what can be done with the "inadequate" $2,000,000 budget appropriated by Congress to finance the immigration.

"We need at least $2,000,000 more for this fiscal year to get this program going on the scale Congress envisioned when it passed the displaced persons law," Carusi said in an interview.

President Truman already has asked the extra session of Congress to grant this money. He also wants the law changed to eliminate what he calls discrimination against Catholic and Jewish refugees. He proposes, in addition, that the bill be broadened to admit a total of 405,000 persons during the next four years.

U. S. Communist Party Denounces Red Probes

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—The American Communist Party said today the Washington Communist probes are a bi-partisan conspiracy to defeat Soviet peace moves and bring on an atomic war.

The party's 14th national convention adopted a resolution charging the investigations are "the answer of American warmongers to the latest Soviet peace initiative."

The peace initiative was described as the recent exchange of letters by Premier Stalin and Henry A. Wallace, Progressive Party presidential candidate.

Anti-Poll Tax Bill Abandoned By 69-16 Vote

Southern Filibuster Successful As Motion To Adjourn Approved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—An easy-going southern filibuster killed the anti-poll tax bill today for this session of Congress.

A 69 to 16 roll-call vote in the Senate made it official. Earlier, Republican senators had decided to abandon their effort to pass the bill. This was the fifth day of the debate and pressure was mounting for adjournment.

Down the drain with the poll tax measure went the rest of President Truman's civil rights proposals. They weren't even mentioned as the Republicans decided to concentrate on their own anti-inflation legislation and one or two other matters before closing up shop for the year.

Technically, the decisive Senate vote came on a motion to adjourn instead of recess tonight. Approval of the motion had the effect of clearing the stage of the poll tax fight.

Barkley Opposes Motion

The motion to adjourn was opposed by Sen. Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic floor leader and nominee for Vice President. He said it "puts us right back where we were last week," and added that "the Senate cannot forever go on and admit to the American people that it is impossible to function."

Republicans and southern Democrats, however, lined up for the motion and the administration could muster only 16 votes in opposition.

The southerners' victory may prove only temporary, however. The Republican senators, meeting in a formal conference, committed themselves to an effort to change the rules at the start of the next session so as to make it easier to break filibusters.

Under their plan, the cloture rule by means of which two-thirds of the Senate can limit debate, would be made applicable to every phase of parliamentary action—to motions as well as to debate on actual legislation.

Tydings, O'Connor Team Up

Sen. Millikin, of Colorado, chairman of the Republican senators conference, said after today's closed-door session that the fight to pass the poll tax bill at this session was "futile." The House approved the bill months ago. It would outlaw collection of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in federal elections. Seven southern states now have the tax.

Millikin said there was some discussion at the meeting of presenting the anti-poll tax issue in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment rather than as legislation. The southerners have indi-

Nudists, Properly Undressed, Launch Their Convention

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Aug. 4—(AP)—This was hardly the kind of day for most people to run around in their skins—outdoors, that is.

Because of rain, barely a few delegates to the 17th annual convention of the American Sunbathing Association ventured to go outside at nearby Sunshine Park. The park is a 150-acre affair, closed to the public and operated by 69-year-old Dr. Ilsley Boone.

To dress for a convention session, all a man has to do is comb his hair. A woman delegate will go a bit further by applying some face makeup.

Two sessions were held today in the park's clubhouse. Mrs. Margaret A. B. Pulis, Oakland, N. J., association president, was chairman.

Boone said some 200 delegates, properly undressed, discussed organization problems. He said there are 1,500 members in the association and about 15,000 in 50 locals throughout the nation.

ARRESTS OWN SON— Patrolman Harold Jones (right) is shown testifying yesterday against his son, Harold O. Jones, 19, (left), in Magistrate's Court, Philadelphia, on a disorderly conduct charge. The son was sentenced to three months in the House of Detention. His father testified the youth "has a bad conduct discharge from the Navy and has spent 18 months in a reformatory" and "I have many, many times gotten him out of trouble." The son's only comment was to call his father a "liar."

Flood On Eastern Shore Hits Crops, Inundates Roads

Heavy Rain Washes Out Dams, Bridges

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 4 (AP) — Five days of rain have turned Maryland's lower Eastern Shore into vast pools of standing water.

It would be a major flood if it were not for the fact that the whole area is almost as level as a table top.

As it is, many roads are blocked, dams and bridges have washed out, communications lines are down, and millions of dollars worth of damage has been inflicted on its rich truck garden crops.

No loss of life has been reported.

The rain started Saturday afternoon and some areas in the six-county section had as much as 4.48 inches between then and Monday morning.

The showers continued intermittently through Monday and Tuesday, with the skies opening up again for another general deluge that started late Tuesday and continued through the day.

Three small dams which held back ponds or small lakes in Wicomico County gave way to the weight and washing of extra water.

Bridge approaches were washed out in turn and traffic across others was stopped for fear they would give way. There was 18 inches to two feet of water over the bridge across the Manokin River on the main highway between here and Princess Anne.

There was some fear that Salisbury's water supply would be cut off or polluted. It comes from small lakes impounded by earthen and concrete dams similar to those which were washed out. There was danger the ground seepage would pollute the drinking water, so City Engineer Clark Gardner ordered a heavy chlorine treatment.

The lake in Salisbury's municipal park overflowed. Two vehicle bridges and a footbridge were closed.

Miami, Atlanta Join Telephone Crusade; Centering In Texas

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—A telephone crusade against high meat prices mounted as hogs hit record price peaks today.

Housewives in scattered parts of the country phoned one another to stay out of butcher shops, but the phone calls did not reach the Chicago livestock market. It was there that the new all-time high hog peak—$31.50 a hundred pounds—was reached.

Hogs provided most of the sad news for consumers. However, meat was not only high, but even the implements to eat it were going up. Three makers of sterling silver table service boosted flatware prices eight to 10 per cent.

Corn Prices Sink

Some long distance cheer came from the grain markets. Corn prices sank to a new low for the year as the largest corn crop in history approached maturity. Traders estimated the crop might top 3,500,000,000 bushels.

Corn is the major livestock food, particularly for hogs, traders said a big crop eventually will mean more hogs and lower pork prices—but not until next year.

The butcher boycott, spread by telephone calls, centered mainly in Texas. It began in Dallas, where the Dallas Federation of Women's Clubs urged housewives to buy no meat from August 9 to August 16. Women in several other Texas cities took up the plaintive cry.

Chain telephone calls also were being used to support the no-meat campaign in Miami, Fla., and Atlanta, Ga. Those who got the calls

Noted Surgeon's Missing Son Is Found In USAF

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Robert Eugene Potts, 21, son of a noted "blue baby" surgeon, was found today—a private in the Army Air Force in Texas.

He had been missing from classes at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., since June 2. Last week his father appealed for help in finding him.

The father, Dr. Willis J. Potts, made the plea as he was about to undergo surgery himself. He wanted to have his son by his side, he said. The operation, for a gall bladder condition, was successfully performed last Saturday.

A spokesman at Children's Memorial Hospital—where he is on the staff — said Dr. Potts heard from his son today.

Univis Settlement Brought Nearer

DAYTON, O., Aug. 4—(AP)—Striking workers of the Univis lens plant, thwarted by National Guard troops, agreed late today to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's terms for approaching a settlement of the 92-day-old dispute.

Herbert Hirschberg, regional organizer of the CIO United Electrical Workers, announced members of the Univis plant local would vest in their leaders full authority to sign an agreement with the company.

Gov. Herbert, incensed by members' rejection of a signed agreement between union and company officials last Sunday, had refused to arrange another conference unless UEW negotiators were empowered to act for the membership.

"The Governor has been informed," Hirschberg announced, "that we will be prepared today to meet to settle the strike on the basis of the membership giving authority to the negotiating committee in conjunction with the shop committee."

Hopes Are Raised For 52 Aboard Missing Plane

PARIS, Aug. 4. (AP)—A second message for help received by a French ship at sea raised hopes tonight for the 52 persons aboard a giant Air France seaplane missing since Sunday on a transatlantic flight.

Last night the French frigate Leverrier intercepted an SOS. Today a radio call for help described as "extremely feeble" came with the call letters "BCR." Air France officials said this indicated the message was from the missing plane.

Ships and planes have been thrown into a search for the plane, a 73-ton six engine Latecoere 631.

Declares War Job Protected By Patterson

Silvermaster Denies Spy Accusation, Won't Say If He's "Commie"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, accused of spying for Soviet Russia, related today that a White House aide and a Cabinet officer protected his wartime government job after naval intelligence tried to get him fired.

Silvermaster produced a letter he said was written by Robert P. Patterson, then Secretary of War, clearing him after Lauchlin Currie, for years a top White House assistant, had called on Patterson in Silvermaster's behalf.

The middle-aged Silvermaster, a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee, flatly refused to say whether he ever was a Communist, but he asserted he never was a spy. He said the naval intelligence report was an unjustified smear and that he had been cleared after investigation by various agencies, including a chief of the United States Secret Service.

(In New York, Patterson said that to the best of his recollection Currie called him during the war about a case in the Board of Economic Warfare involving a man he thinks was Silvermaster. He ordered an inquiry, he said, and told Currie later that the War Department did not object to the man staying in BEW. He added he has every confidence in Currie. Patterson said he never met Silvermaster and only heard of him the one time.)

Stayed On Until 1946

Testimony that both the Navy and the Civil Service Commission had tried unsuccessfully to pry Silvermaster loose from his job with the Board of Economic Warfare was given the committee. He stayed on four more years—until 1946.

Louis Russell, a former FBI agent and now a committee investigator, testified that the Civil Service Commission looked upon Silvermaster as a Communist. And Elizabeth Bentley, who says she was formerly a Soviet agent, repeated her story that Silvermaster furnished information that went to Russia. She said she was a courier for secrets released by many government officials, and that Silvermaster headed a group of employes with whom she dealt.

The Vassar graduate entered the hearing while Silvermaster was testifying and was asked to stand.

"Do you know Elizabeth Bentley?" he was asked.

"I refuse to answer on the grounds that any answer might incriminate me," Silvermaster replied.

This was his stock answer to a rapidfire series of questions including: "Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?"

He did however deny her charges as "false and fantastic."

Navy Secretary Won't Talk

The committee is digging into stories that Soviet spy rings honeycombed the government during the war. Tomorrow it will hear Alger Hiss, native Baltimorean and former State Department employe who helped get the United Nations started. Whittaker Chambers, who describes himself as a former Communist, testified yesterday that Hiss

Sunpapers Will Have New Home In Two Years

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4. (AP)—The A. S. Abell Company announced tonight that construction of a large, modern plant for publication of the Sunpapers on the site formerly occupied by the old Calvert railroad station in Baltimore will be started in the near future.

The contract for construction was signed by Paul Patterson, president of the A. S. Abell Company with Lou R. Crandall, president of the George H. Fuller Company, contractor.

The building is expected to be completed within 18 to 24 months.

Bridge Mystery

Note Seemingly Connects Death Leap To "Spy" Quiz

SAN FRANCISCO Aug. 4. (AP)—A strange and cryptic suicide note was found early today on the fog-bound walkway of Golden Gate bridge—a note seemingly linking a woman's death leap to the Washington Communist "spy" quiz.

The note, unsigned, was addressed to "Dear E.T.B.," which Highway Patrol officers were quick to note were the initials of Elizabeth T. Bentley, admitted ex-Communist courier and star witness in the congressional Communist inquiry.

The note was found with scattered outer clothing bearing labels of expensive bay area women's shops, and newspaper clippings of Miss Bentley's testimony and of Alger Hiss, native Baltimorean and former State Department official.

But tonight the swift-running waters of the Golden Gate had failed to yield a body—not unusual due to the vagaries of the tides.

In Washington, Miss Bentley was unable to recall anyone she might know in San Francisco.

Bridge police had not discarded the idea the entire matter may be a hoax, saying the scattered nature of the clothing might indicate it was thrown from a moving automobile.

If a woman did actually jump—to become the 101st suicide from the bride—her body might never be found because the tide was running fast into the Pacific.

The note, with its bitter references to "E.T.B.'s sensationalism," was found some 15 feet from a pair of suede pumps, a tired-looking handbag, and worn but once-expensive feminine apparel.

Its embittered message concluded: "By the time someone reads this my troubles will be over. Thank God. How I have suffered. I don't want my little baby to suffer what I've been through so I am taking it with me. Praise the Lord there is a way out."

There was no signature, only the postscript:

"Nobody would care about my name, except maybe Elizabeth."

Blow To Opera

Met, Unable To Meet Wage Demands, Cancels Season

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP) — The world-renowned Metropolitan Opera today cancelled its 1948-49 season because, it said, demands for union wage increases could not be met.

If the cancellation stands, it will be the first time in 50 years that the Met has failed to present a season of opera.

The opera association said its decision was caused by "failure to reach agreements with all of the 12 unions representing the employes."

Shortly after the announcement, Local 802 of the AFL American Federation of Musicians said it had reluctantly withdrawn demands for a wage boost in an effort to reach a settlement with the opera. This union said the only point it had continued to insist on was establishment of unemployment insurance and old age benefits.

The musicians said in a statement that the Met "is not a private venture."

"It is a civic institution," the statement asserted. "It is one which belongs not to a small group of people—not to a board of directors—but it belongs to all the people, to those thousands of Americans who have contributed money so that the Metropolitan can continue its existence. x x x

"It is inconceivable that the Metropolitan board of directors could act so cavalierly."

The union said it was "confident that this unilateral action will not stand for long, that those to whom the Metropolitan represents an integral part of our culture will assert themselves and make possible the next season."

However, a spokesman for the association indicated the decision was final.

"This business of long drawn-out negotiations with the unions has been doing on every year," he said. "The directors think it is time to meet the issue."

County Draft Plan Still Unchanged

Draftees will face the same procedure in Allegany County as they did in World War II, it seems from the set-up.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, State Selective Service director, Baltimore, says that Cumberland will have three local boards, designated Nos. 27, 28 and 29, while Frostburg will have one, No. 30.

While the state draft machinery is almost ready, the exact location and personnel of the county boards is not fixed. Names are in the Baltimore office for prospective members, but forms must be completed by the nominees which will be sent to President Truman in Washington.

The President is expected to make the appointments within a week or 10 days, depending upon how long it takes for the papers to be filled out and returned. Governor Lane will then recommend that the appointments, Col. Stanwood said.

Board No. 27 will control (election) districts 1, 2, 3, 4, 16, 21 and 33; Board No. 28, Districts 5, 14, 22, 23; Board 29, Districts 6, 7, 20 and 29; and the Frostburg Board will be for Districts 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 17, 18, 19, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 30, 31 and 32.

The registration period for men from 19 to 25 begins August 30 and ends September 18.

Inflation Check Could Be Found In Parity Program

Harry Truman is entitled to spread his views on inflation at some length before the Eightieth Congress assembled by him in special session, because he and the Administration to which he succeeded are solely responsible for all of it. There have been three phases: (1) Inflation was made the primary initial objective of the New Deal. (2) At the war's end Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace announced, with the Administration's assent that wages could be raised more than 20 per cent without consequent rises in prices. (3) When the "first wave" of strikes followed in the automobile industry, and spread to everything else, President Truman sanctioned both the wage demands and the price increases made in order to meet them. And now a $1,100 car (prewar price) costs about $2,200.

The President suggests various means of combating his own inflation; but what do they amount to in the face of continued New Deal policy of encouraging the things which produces it.

One phase of inflation may have escaped general notice. While bank deposits are much greater than those of seven or eight years ago, each dollar will buy only half as much as it did then. In 1946, there were 162,658,307 life insurance policies in force; their value to beneficiaries has also been cut in two. The public debt at the end of 1947 was $258,286,383,109. Inflation has halved the real value of the bonds representing it. The halving process has also operated against pensions—war and civil—and old-age allowances.

In other words, inflation has made everybody poorer, whether he realizes it or not. The finish? We don't expect ever to come out where China has, but our news columns recently reported that a Chinese beggar is insulted if less than $10,000 in paper money is offered him.

In order to correct some of the mistakes of the Administration, and to soften the force of inflation, Republican leaders in Congress hope to start through the House the Senate-enacted measure to re-establish consumer credit controls. To this will probably be added amendments to restore the gold reserve requirements for Federal Reserve Banks by three per cent of demand deposits and one per cent on time deposits. By such a statute, the amount of money banks could lend would be reduced, which would prove a check on inflation.

Of course, the Congress could make a still more direct approach to checking the price spiral. It could be accomplished by the simple method of reducing food prices by lowering support levels for agricultural products from, say, 90 to 60 per cent of parity because, in the event of bumper crops which has been predicted by the Department of Agriculture, prices would then automatically drop. That would bring benefits to the consumer, and he would not have to make up the difference in the capacity of taxpayer, as he would under the price-control system, as proposed by Mr. Truman.

It is the opinion of a vast majority that too little consideration is given the part the parity-support program is playing in high prices, but it is so well charged with political dynamite that high parties shy away from any suggestion to revise it.

But it is essential to have a readjustment whereby food prices will be brought into a more realistic relationship with other prices and will stop acting as a propellant of all prices.

August—The Splendid Month—For All Mankind

Words (we paraphrase Winston Churchill speaking once in this country) are the only abiding realities. All else is forgotten—"thrones, dominations, powers" —while words are remembered. The nephew of Julius Caesar did a great thing when he named after himself what theretofore the Romans knew only as the Sixth Month of their year. And now August is severeally defined in the dictionaries as "having an aspect of solemn dignity or grandeur; majestic," and these are some of its synonyms: "Grand magnificent, noble, stately, dignified, imposing, solmen, awful."

Each of these attributes has been taken over by the month that bears the Augustan name. It is the season of fulfillment, of mellow fruitage in field and orchard; of a vast jubilation, with the cicades clashing their symbals by day, and at night the lantern processions of fireflies, with cricket rhythm to mark the time for them; of repose, accepted as such by philosophers and rhymers and even by the very beasts of the field. Yet, above all else, this is the Splendid Month.

Is it more important to be alive in August than in any other month of the year? So its name proclaims, and since words have an authority above aught else, who shall gainsay it?

Shoot Mother Goose

Recently there has been some criticism of comic books and their effect upon childish minds. It has been asserted they are at least partially responsible for juvenile delinquency and 'teen-age crime.

The result has been that many publishers have agreed to tone down their product and make it more in keeping with childish thought. The extent to which comic books are read is indicated by the sale between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 comic books every month.

Dr. Frederic Wertham, a noted New York psychiatrist goes a bit further and declares children have had access to the wrong kind of literature for many years, including the Mother Goose stories. He insists these presumably innocent stories and jingles have filled childish minds with fear, and instilled habits of cruelty and dishonesty. He points out several outstanding examples of this sort.

The story of the old lady who lived in a shoe and whipped her children before sending them to bed has been responsible for many bad dreams. The farmer's wife who cut off the tails of the mice inspires cruelty. The good doctor says there is no more brutal story in literature than Hans Christian Anderson's "The Tinderbox, read to children through many generations.

If Junior is a bad boy, it must be because he has been reading and listening to the wrong sort of literature.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Meaning of Physical Fitness

The concept of physical fitness is not clear unless we consider the condition in terms of—for what? This was one of the bitter lessons we learned in the war because many brawny men passed the physical with flying colors only to fail later through nervousness and inability to cope with a new environment. On the other hand, the number of 4 F's was so large that the nation was considered by some to be in a deplorable state of health.

Dr. Van Dellen

At the present time, our checkups merely tell whether or not the body is efficient and disease exists. Once completed, the real test remains because no one knows if physical fitness can be used properly for the designated purpose. In addition, medical science has never proved conclusively that such individuals have a longer life span, a greater resistance to infection, or stand less chance of developing arteriosclerosis than one who has poor vision, flat feet, or paralysis.

•—•—•

According to a report of the Baruch committee on physical medicine, our examinations should take into consideration the kind of work the candidate is to do and his manner of living. He should have a circulatory and muscular system adequate to carry on his daily work and pleasure, and enough more to meet emergency needs. Such an investigation should include also the two components of the nervous system. One is the vasomotor apparatus, which plays a prominent role in regulating heart beat, sweating, digestion, and warmth of the skin. The other is the mind, which is tested by talking with the person and ascertaining his general attitude toward life and reactions to various situations. This part is most important and in the past has been neglected which may explain why we have so much psychoneurosis. After all, the physical is hard to dissociate from the psychological and one who has mental upsets can disrupt production much more than the victim of heart disease. It is well known that when no organic cause for fatigue can be found, a social or personal factor is usually responsible. If this could be determined ahead of time, much unhappiness and illness could be avoided.

Nowadays there is a growing tendency for examinations to proceed along this line. The "for what" question is not neglected. Soldiers, sailors, and laborers need good muscles, lungs, heart, and circulatory system. When the occupation requires skill and agility, excellent neuromuscular coordination is demanded. Special strength may be needed to perform certain tasks. But the muscular system is not so important to the white collar worker—professional men, business executives, factory supervisors, and office employes.

By fitting the job to the man, handicaps can be disregarded because there are always positions that can be filled by individuals with heart trouble or paralyzed extremities without tiring themselves, harming others, or curtailing production. In order to be successful, the will to work or succeed must be present. Furthermore, many defects are correctable; those with visual disorders may be able to see normally with glasses, the deaf can often hear by means of hearing aids, etc. Disease affects physical fitness only when it reduces activity below the point essential for carrying on a job or when it lessens the prospect of continued life. Rejection is disappointing to some handicapped persons because few physicians will pass a candidate, should the prospective work be of the type to endanger life.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Now we turn crime reporter.

A man in East Los Angeles—Joseph Chutuk by name—had a gun shoved in his ribs and lost ten dollars to a bandit. But this was no ordinary crook. The person behind the gun was a sweater girl.

Imagine trying to make crime attractive!

But if glamour girls go in for the rackets, watch out.

I can see a band of lady crooks getting together for a bank job. The chief says, "Remember, this is going to be a big haul . . . wear your strapless bathing suits."

And picture one girl leaving the hide-out without even putting on her makeup. The rest of the mob is shocked. Then they find out she's only going shoplifting.

Yes, sir, the more glamorous they are, the bigger the job. To look at them you won't know whether they're going to Atlantic City for a fashion show or Washington, D. C., for a raid on the mint.

You'll just have to be beautiful to get in. In fact, I can see a girl becoming desperate because they won't admit her, and going out to try to kidnap the Westmore Brothers.

And with the new approach to crime, think of all the equipment the burglar will have to carry: The Jimmy, a flashlight, a stick of dynamite, twelve lipsticks and an eyebrow tweezer.

Of course, it'll ruin everything when they get caught. Striped sweaters don't look so glamorous.

But then they might get selected "Miss Tehachapi."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Speaker Joe Martin has again blocked the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing act by a clever parliamentary maneuver. The bill has been passed by the Senate, has been OK'd by the House Banking and Currency Committee, but is now blocked inside the Rules Committee. It could be passed in about one day if the Rules Committee would let it reach the House floor for debate.

In order to get it to the floor, Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas of California has been circulating a "discharge" petition, which when it gets 215 names will force the Rules Committee to discharge the housing bill.

But to block Mrs. Douglas, Speaker Martin decreed that no Congressman could sign the petition unless the House was in session. Then Joe promptly recessed the House for a long week end.

This probably makes the passage of a housing act impossible. Because it is required that Mrs. Douglas's discharge petition "lie on the Speaker's desk for seven legislative days," by which time the special session of Congress will have adjourned—if GOP leaders have their way.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Douglas has 163 names on her petition. Sam Rayburn has promised to get her the last 25 names as soon as she gets 190.

Note—If Sam got busy now, with his prestige and influence, he could get 50 names in one day.

Unfortunate Congressman

This column does not comment on the private life of public figures —except where it interferes with their public duties.

But when a Congressman is so frequently under the influence of liquor that he literally has to be escorted away from public functions where he is scheduled to speak, and when he attempts to transfer an enlisted man to an active war front because of personal spite, then the people who elect him are entitled to know about it.

It is the unpleasant obligation of the Washington press to report these things.

Unfortunately, the record of Congressman Virgil Chapman, Democrat of Kentucky now aspiring to the Senate, is not a happy one to recount.

In 1945, Roy H. Hamilton of Berea, Ky., a Navy enlisted man with 32 months duty overseas, was ordered back to the United States after V-E Day. But Hamilton had certain political information about Congressman Chapman, who fenagled with the Navy to order Hamilton back to sea. At this point, Senator "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky intervened with the Secretary of the Navy, told him of Chapman's personal spite, and the order was canceled.

All this is a matter of record.

Equally embarrassing have been some of the Congressman's antics on official trips and speaking engagements. Sent to Alaska at the taxpayers' expense on an official inspection trip, the Gentleman from Kentucky fell so lamentably below Kentucky standards when it came to holding his liquor that he had to be taken to a hospital. At one time, Rep. Leonard Hall, New York Republican, had to escort Chapman out of a hotel bar to keep him from embarrassing the official mission.

On another occasion, Chapman got in such a condition while attending a meeting of the House Secretaries Association that other guests pushed him outside the door, where he lay in the hall — the fallen Gentleman from Kentucky. Again, scheduled to speak at the Thoroughbred Horse Racing Association last year, Chapman got himself in such a state that the toastmaster could not call on him.

This is the man who now aspires to the U.S. Senate. When a U.S. ambassador makes a public spectacle of himself, he is recalled. A Congressman is the ambassador of his own district. However, he cannot be recalled except by the people who elect him. Unpleasant as the above facts are, it is better that the people of Kentucky know them before an election, not afterward.

North-South Football

Champ Pickens of Montgomery, Ala., the man who is trying to build up North - South understanding through sports, once had to solve a complicated problem involving President Truman's home state.

Pickens stages a football game every December between an all-star team from the North and an all-star team of the South, which is played at Montgomery, Cradle of the Confederacy. One year the question arose as to whether the University of Missouri was in the North or the South.

A hot debate followed, partly because the star Missouri player was named Jefferson Davis, and the South wanted him on its team. However, when Pickens consulted the map, he found that Columbia, Mo., home town of the university, was north of the Mason-Dixon Line; so Jefferson Davis came to Montgomery, Ala., Cradle of the Confederacy, and played on the side of the North.

Champ Pickens has organized the Blue and Grey Association to which he charges $1 membership and which anyone can join, in order to promote North-South understanding. With the proceeds he plans to build a football stadium as a shrine to those who wore both the Blue and the Grey.

Under the Dome

The House Un-American Activities is secretly investigating Communism among American Negroes. Several prominent Negro leaders will be invited to testify. . . . Gov. Earl Warren will open his Vice-Presidential campaign Sept. 7, with a tour of the Northwest, then will concentrate on Texas and the border states. . . . Friends say Henry Wallace is privately worried over the way the commies have taken over his new party. Though worried, Wallace hasn't got the courage to kick them out. . . . Congratulations to the Senate Small Business Committee for helping the small oil companies from being crowded out by the big boys. . . . Senator Ecton of Montana and Congressman John Sanborn of Idaho, both Republicans, are using their free mailing frank to blanket the West with silver lobby propaganda. . . . Republicans are debating whether to call a special session of their own—right after the November election. The idea has the approval of House Speaker Joe Martin.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Basing Point

OFTEN the Federal Trade Commission and our courts follow theory without the slightest regard either for experience or the welfare of the country. Administrative lawyers, who have come into control of our affairs, seek to remake our way of life without concern over the processes that have made this the greatest unit of production and that have given the American people their unusually high standard of living which represents the widest distribution of goods and services.

The basing point, which has been long in existence in the United States, permits a buyer to obtain materials from any manufacturer of that commodity at a competitive price with the manufacturer closest to the buyer. Thus, for instance, a steel manufacturer in Pittsburgh can sell to a buyer in Indiana at the same price as a steel manufacturer in Chicago. The difference in the cost of transportation is absorbed by the seller.

The FTC and now the courts say that that is wrong. In the Cement Case, the Supreme Court abolished the basing point. There are no loopholes in that decision which the FTC interprets as follows:

"The Court agreed with the Commission that this pricing system not only constitutes an 'unfair method of competition' but also involves unlawful price discrimination. It further held, in effect, that identical delivered prices which the system was designed to establish, regardless of wide differences in the cost of transportation from widely scattered plants, automatically created and reflected systematic discriminations in net factory prices . . ."

Curiously, this decision does not increase competition but kills it off. Justice Burton, who dissented, made that clear:

"This is the field where a producer, for his own purposes and without collusion, often ships his product to a customer who, in terms of freight charges, is located nearer to one or more of the producer's competitors than to the producer himself. In selling to such a customer, this producer is at an obvious freight disadvantage. To meet the lower delivered-price of his competitor, the producer, therefore, reduces his delivered-price in that area by a sum sufficient to absorb his freight disadvantage. He might do this for many reasons. For example, this customer might be such a large customer that the volume of his orders would yield such a return to the producer that the producer, by distributing his fixed charges over the resultingly increased volume of business, could absorb the freight differential without loss of profit to his business as a whole and without raising any charges to his other customers. The securing of this particular business might even enable the producer to reduce his own basic factory price to all his customers. It might make the difference between a profitable and a losing business, resulting in the producer's solvency or bankruptcy."

Of course, that would not worry the theoreticians, not until the steel companies decided to follow the letter of their ruling which upset them no end. In the Morton Salt case, the FTC won another victory in the Supreme Court which will cost the housewife considerable money. Here the Court decided, following the FTC, that "carload discounts" may not be given; that is, that the manufacturer may not pass on to the customer reduced costs of operations. Justice Jackson and Frankfurter dissented from this opinion, Jackson saying:

"The Court uses overtones of hostility to all quantity discounts, which I do not find in the Act, but they are translated into a rule which is fatal to any discount the Commission sees it to attack . . . The law of this case, in a nutshell, is that no quantity discount is valid if the Commission chooses to say it is not. That is not the law which Congress enacted and which this Court has uniformly stated until today . . ."

Another matter, the Rigid Conduit case, comes into this discussion, but I have no room for it here. I need only make the point that these decisions involve increased costs at a time of high prices, that they confuse business processes, that they disorganize the normal relations between buyer and seller and that they accomplish nothing of benefit to anyone. But they do make the administrative lawyers happy because their theories are upheld by the Supreme Court.

Believed Russian Blockade Was Means Of Forcing Parley

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The amazing thing about what happened at the conference between Stalin and the three western ambassadors is not that they talked but that they didn't talk together long before this.

The technique is as old as diplomacy. It has been suggested time and again. Instead of a conference under klieg lights, diplomacy has always explored the issues through regularly accredited ambassadors and either with the head of a state or his foreign secretary.

The dispatches from Moscow indicate that something unusual has happened — ambassadors have actually been talking to the head of another government about critical issues.

Last May when the American government sent a note which opened the door to discussion, there was a curious fumbling of the ball here in Washington. It was said that unilateral discussions would be bad for the Allied democracies. Nobody seems to have thought then of the idea of the ambassadors of Great Britain, France, and the United States going together to the Russian government and laying all the cards on the table and issuing no statements until conclusions had been reached.

Again and again the Russians have indicated a desire to talk with the Western governments. Again and again the democracies have indicated that there was little to talk about or else that the Russians couldn't be trusted or else that there had to be a four-power conference if anything was to be taken up to alter the existing situation.

Believed Aim of Russians

The Russians evidently started the Berlin blockade as a means of altering the existing situation and forcing some kind of conference. They have succeeded. The United States, Britain and France are in the position now of offering some kind of trade or concessions in exchange for a lifting of the blockade —a palpably artificial issue.

Within recent weeks the situation had reached the point where war talk was in the air. From Berlin there came dispatches telling of a plan to send in an armored train and dare the Russians to fire on it. All this was sign that diplomacy had failed. Then public opinion began to look askance at the failure of diplomacy—people wondered why young men would have to be killed because somewhere there was not enough ingenuity to arrive at settlements in a peaceful manner.

It is unquestionably true that provocation by the Russians has been considerable but any administration that allowed American military forces to be bottled up in the city of Berlin without an explicit agreement as to the military right to supply such forces certainly cannot have been very alert.

The Russians are admittedly difficult to deal with and undoubtedly they are materialistic to the extreme in trying to wangle money and materials out of the western allies. But the evidence indicates they are not inclined to go to war about it. Under such trying circumstances any return to the type of international conferences held in London and Paris would be a mistake.

Latest Approach Held Correct

The latest approach is the correct one. There is no publicity during the negotiations. Neither side issues statements to the press or to the radio and there are not a half-hundred aides standing around and then leaking information to the press so that the negotiators cannot alter a position once taken.

This time precautions have been taken to exchange views in earnest and to make public the agreements reached when there are agreements. The process of reaching an agreement is often attended by retreats and concessions, and publicity frequently prevents a successful outcome of the negotiations. Evidently the four governments want to clear the air and start in a realistic manner to find a way to live together without going to war and without surrendering principles that are vital.

There need be no "appeasement" in the Munich sense and no humiliating shifts in public position. But there are ways to adjust international questions without threatening to go to war. If that formula has just been applied at Moscow in the critical circumstances of today, a milestone has indeed been reached in world affairs.

Inflation Grows In Mass; Resistance Is Diminishing

By MARK SULLIVAN

That inflation and cost of living are at a new height, is common knowledge. The public learns it at every counter, those who follow business statistics see the price indexes again and again accompanied by a phrase "all-time high." What is less readily noticed, but more ominous, is that inflation has increased greatly in mass and momentum; the forces and conditions pushing it are stronger, those resisting it have diminished.

An example is the attitude of heads of industry. Some two weeks ago, July 16th, the United States Steel Corporation raised wages 13 cents an hour. The raise—and this is the important point—was voluntary, without strike or other controversy. Five days later the Corporation took the corresponding step, increased the price of steel $9.34 a ton. Previously in May General Motors raised wages 11 cents an hour and last month increased the price of their cars by eight per cent.

Change of Attitude Significant

This pattern, raise of wages without resistance accompanied by increase of prices, is now being followed throughout large industry generally, it is ominously familiar. What is significant is the change of attitude on the part of industry heads. In 1945-6 General Motors fought a strike for over three months. During the same period the United States Steel Corporation and the steel industry fought a strike for a month yielding only under pressure from President Truman and upon simultaneously receiving from the Administration permission to raise the price of steel $5 a ton.

The change of attitude from three months ago until now is the more marked in that at the earlier time resistance to strikes was made difficult by the Wagner Labor Act which strongly favored unions. Now, an employer because of the Taft-Hartley law is able to meet a strike with some approach to equality. Also, three years ago, wage raises were formally supported by the Truman Administration as a policy.

Whatever the motives for the change in attitude by heads of industry the sum of them is an acceptance and sharing of the psychology of inflation. Individual industry heads may have felt that they paid dearly for their resistance to inflation three years ago. Or, that it is useless for them to stand out in opposition to inflation when the government itself is promoting it—every demand for a wage raise gives one reason, increase of cost of living, principally food, and the high price of food is kept up by the government policy of price support for farm products.

Some heads of industry may have come, however regretfully, to a realistic conclusion—inflation is here, it produces enormous buying power, and this is willing to pay any price, they can sell all the goods they can make, so why fight the tide?

New Alignment of Groups

The change of the industry heads creates a new alignment of groups and forces. Throughout, labor and agriculture have accepted inflation as giving them advantage, while industry resisted it. The prospect of greater momentum for inflation is obvious.

Adoption of a policy by so important a group as heads of industry cannot but be at once a reflection of a general public mood and a cause of it. Acceptance of inflation, in a spirit of "what the use of fighting" is a spreading phenomenon. Acceptance of the present degree of inflation carries with it inherently a complacency of spirit of surrender which expects more.

This spirit, as it becomes general, and unless it is formidably checked, passes into a definitely marked stage in the classic course of acute inflation. If people generally expect that goods are going to cost more, that the dollar is going to have less purchasing power they tend to pass into one of the late stages of inflation not far from the final one. In a spirit of either recklessness or despair they begin to feel it is unwise to hold money that it is better to exchange money for goods. Such a public mood causes increases in prices to become cumulatively rapid.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

New Currents

There is no such thing as the same day, the same year, or the same experience. Every day we enter a new world. Every day we meet new currents of life. Perhaps this is one reason why we so easily forget our friends that we have known and loved. For a little while we are pals, and almost inseparable. Then new currents of thought and new experiences, take us down the stream —and we become forgetful and neglectful.

One day my secretary entered my office and said that a lady wished to see me, but would not give her name —said that she wanted to surprise me! So I said to rush her right in—and, lo and behold, an old high school friend, who used to sit next to me, and whom, I blush to say, I often greatly embarrassed by making her laugh out loud because of my antics, thus giving cause for the principal to reprimand us both. We sat and talked, as of old, but we weren't the same. New currents had carried each of us afar.

The stream that we floated down on, so easily and happily, last year is not the one carrying us today. We have seen new scenes, met new people, and learned from many a book, and from many an experience. We ought to carry more people around in our hearts as well as our minds. If we did we would contact them oftener thus binding the friendship. The more that we encounter in life the more precious become our friends, for so little else matters.

As I write, I look about my cottage room and memories of laughter and activity become alive in my mind. I recall names, talk, and a variety of joys—but now the room has its empty chairs, and silence. New currents have carried so many of my former friends far, far away. Most of us, I fear, have been looked upon at times as a novelty—then becoming the "forgotten man", or woman. It's life, so we ought not to complain.

There are new currents in the world, never before experienced. Where are they going to take us? None of us know. However, armed with an unfaltering faith, we can leave all fear behind!

Baering Down On The News

All those flying saucers and flaming wings you see in the overcast are trial balloons turned loose by campaign managers.

They want to know when their candidate has the breeze in back of his big red ears. At the opportune moment they turn him loose for a gargle over the microphone.

I have a sure method of feeling the public pulse without stopping it. You can tell which way the wind is blowing by throwing four fast eggs into an electric fan.

The only trouble with a trial balloon is you can be eliminated from the tournament by a northwest breeze.

Inflation Check Could Be Found In Parity Program

Harry Truman is entitled to spread his views on inflation at some length before the Eightieth Congress assembled by him in special session, because he and the Administration to which he succeeded are solely responsible for all of it. There have been three phases: (1) Inflation was made the primary initial objective of the New Deal. (2) At the war's end Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace announced, with the Administration's assent that wages could be raised more than 20 per cent without consequent rises in prices. (3) When the "first wave" of strikes followed in the automobile industry, and spread to everything else, President Truman sanctioned both the wage demands and the price increases made in order to meet them. And now a $1,100 car (prewar price) costs about $2,200.

The President suggests various means of combating his own inflation; but what do they amount to in the face of continued New Deal policy of encouraging the things which produces it.

One phase of inflation may have escaped general notice. While bank deposits are much greater than those of seven or eight years ago, each dollar will buy only half as much as it did then. In 1946, there were 162,658,307 life insurance policies in force; their value to beneficiaries has also been cut in two. The public debt at the end of 1947 was $258,286,383,109. Inflation has halved the real value of the bonds representing it. The halving process has also operated against pensions—war and civil—and old-age allowances.

In other words, inflation has made everybody poorer, whether he realizes it or not. The finish? We don't expect ever to come out where China has, but our news columns recently reported that a Chinese beggar is insulted if less than $10,000 in paper money is offered him.

In order to correct some of the mistakes of the Administration, and to soften the force of inflation, Republican leaders in Congress hope to start through the House the Senate-enacted measure to re-establish consumer credit controls. To this will probably be added amendments to restore the gold reserve requirements for Federal Reserve Banks by three per cent of demand deposits and one per cent on time deposits. By such a statute, the amount of money banks could lend would be reduced, which would prove a check on inflation.

Of course, the Congress could make a still more direct approach to checking the price spiral. It could be accomplished by the simple method of reducing food prices by lowering support levels for agricultural products from, say, 90 to 60 per cent of parity because, in the event of bumper crops which has been predicted by the Department of Agriculture, prices would then automatically drop. That would bring benefits to the consumer, and he would not have to make up the difference in the capacity of taxpayer, as he would under the price-control system, as proposed by Mr. Truman.

It is the opinion of a vast majority that too little consideration is given the part the parity-support program is playing in high prices, but it is so well charged with political dynamite that high parties shy away from any suggestion to revise it.

But it is essential to have a readjustment whereby food prices will be brought into a more realistic relationship with other prices and will stop acting as a propellant of all prices.

August—The Splendid Month—For All Mankind

Words (we paraphrase Winston Churchill speaking once in this country) are the only abiding realities. All else is forgotten—"thrones, dominations, powers" —while words are remembered. The nephew of Julius Caesar did a great thing when he named after himself what theretofore the Romans knew only as the Sixth Month of their year. And now August is severeally defined in the dictionaries as "having an aspect of solemn dignity or grandeur; majestic," and these are some of its synonyms: "Grand magnificent, noble, stately, dignified, imposing, solmen, awful."

Each of these attributes has been taken over by the month that bears the Augustan name. It is the season of fulfillment, of mellow fruitage in field and orchard; of a vast jubilation, with the cicades clashing their symbals by day, and at night the lantern processions of fireflies, with cricket rhythm to mark the time for them; of repose, accepted as such by philosophers and rhymers and even by the very beasts of the field. Yet, above all else, this is the Splendid Month.

Is it more important to be alive in August than in any other month of the year? So its name proclaims, and since words have an authority above aught else, who shall gainsay it?

Shoot Mother Goose

Recently there has been some criticism of comic books and their effect upon childish minds. It has been asserted they are at least partially responsible for juvenile delinquency and 'teen-age crime.

The result has been that many publishers have agreed to tone down their product and make it more in keeping with childish thought. The extent to which comic books are read is indicated by the sale between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 comic books every month.

Dr. Frederic Wertham, a noted New York psychiatrist goes a bit further and declares children have had access to the wrong kind of literature for many years, including the Mother Goose stories. He insists these presumably innocent stories and jingles have filled childish minds with fear, and instilled habits of cruelty and dishonesty. He points out several outstanding examples of this sort.

The story of the old lady who lived in a shoe and whipped her children before sending them to bed has been responsible for many bad dreams. The farmer's wife who cut off the tails of the mice inspires cruelty. The good doctor says there is no more brutal story in literature than Hans Christian Anderson's "The Tinderbox, read to children through many generations.

If Junior is a bad boy, it must be because he has been reading and listening to the wrong sort of literature.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Meaning of Physical Fitness

The concept of physical fitness is not clear unless we consider the condition in terms of—for what? This was one of the bitter lessons we learned in the war because many brawny men passed the physical with flying colors only to fail later through nervousness and inability to cope with a new environment. On the other hand, the number of 4 F's was so large that the nation was considered by some to be in a deplorable state of health.

Dr. Van Dellen

At the present time, our checkups merely tell whether or not the body is efficient and disease exists. Once completed, the real test remains because no one knows if physical fitness can be used properly for the designated purpose. In addition, medical science has never proved conclusively that such individuals have a longer life span, a greater resistance to infection, or stand less chance of developing arteriosclerosis than one who has poor vision, flat feet, or paralysis.

●—●—●

According to a report of the Baruch committee on physical medicine, our examinations should take into consideration the kind of work the candidate is to do and his manner of living. He should have a circulatory and muscular system adequate to carry on his daily work and pleasure, and enough more to meet emergency needs. Such an investigation should include also the two components of the nervous system. One is the vasomotor apparatus, which plays a prominent role in regulating heart beat, sweating, digestion, and warmth of the skin. The other is the mind, which is tested by talking with the person and ascertaining his general attitude toward life and reactions to various situations. This part is most important and in the past has been neglected which may explain why we have so much psychoneurosis. After all, the physical is hard to disassociate from the psychological and one who has mental upsets can disrupt production much more than the victim of heart disease. It is well known that when no organic cause for fatigue can be found, a social or personal factor is usually responsible. If this could be determined ahead of time, much unhappiness and illness could be avoided.

Nowadays there is a growing tendency for examinations to proceed along this line. The "for what" question is not neglected. Soldiers, sailors, and laborers need good muscles, lungs, heart, and circulatory system. When the occupation requires skill and agility, excellent neuromuscular coordination is demanded. Special strength may be needed to perform certain tasks. But the muscular system is not so important to the white collar worker—professional men, business executives, factory supervisors, and office employes.

By fitting the job to the man, handicaps can be disregarded because there are always positions that can be filled by individuals with heart trouble or paralyzed extremities without tiring themselves, harming others, or curtailing production. In order to be successful, the will to work or succeed must be present. Furthermore, many defects are correctable; those with visual disorders may be able to see normally with glasses, the deaf can often hear by means of hearing aids, etc. Disease affects physical fitness only when it reduces activity below the point essential for carrying on a job or when it lessens the prospect of continued life. Rejection is disappointing to some handicapped persons because few physicians will pass a candidate, should the prospective work be of the type to endanger life.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Now we turn crime reporter.

A man in East Los Angeles—Joseph Chutuk by name—had a gun shoved in his ribs and lost ten dollars to a bandit. But this was no ordinary crook. The person behind the gun was a sweater girl.

Imagine trying to make crime attractive!

But if glamour girls go in for the rackets, watch out.

I can see a band of lady crooks getting together for a bank job. The chief says, "Remember, this is going to be a big haul . . . wear your strapless bathing suits."

And picture one girl leaving the hide-out without even putting on her makeup. The rest of the mob is shocked. Then they find out she's only going shoplifting.

Yes, sir, the more glamorous they are, the bigger the job. To look at them you won't know whether they're going to Atlantic City for a fashion show or Washington, D. C., for a raid on the mint.

You'll just have to be beautiful to get in. In fact, I can see a girl becoming desperate because they won't admit her, and going out to try to kidnap the Westmore Brothers.

And with the new approach to crime, think of all the equipment the burglar will have to carry: The Jimmy, a flashlight, a stick of dynamite, twelve lipsticks and an eyebrow tweezer.

Of course, it'll ruin everything when they get caught. Striped sweaters don't look so glamorous.

But then they might get selected "Miss Tehachapi."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Speaker Joe Martin has again blocked the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing act by a clever parliamentary maneuver. The bill has been passed by the Senate, has been OK'd by the House Banking and Currency Committee, but is now blocked inside the Rules Committee. It could be passed in about one day if the Rules Committee would let it reach the House floor for debate.

In order to get it to the floor, Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas of California has been circulating a "discharge" petition, which when it gets 215 names will force the Rules Committee to discharge the housing bill.

But to block Mrs. Douglas, Speaker Martin decreed that no Congressman could sign the petition unless the House was in session. Then Joe promptly recessed the House for a long week end.

This probably makes the passage of a housing act impossible. Because it is required that Mrs. Douglas's discharge petition "lie on the Speaker's desk for seven legislative days," by which time the special session of Congress will have adjourned—if GOP leaders have their way.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Douglas has 163 names on her petition. Sam Rayburn has promised to get her the last 25 names as soon as she gets 190.

Note—If Sam got busy now, with his prestige and influence, he could get 50 names in one day.

Unfortunate Congressman

This column does not comment on the private life of public figures —except where it interferes with their public duties.

But when a Congressman is so frequently under the influence of liquor that he literally has to be escorted away from public functions where he is scheduled to speak, and when he attempts to transfer an enlisted man to an active war front because of personal spite, then the people who elect him are entitled to know about it.

It is the unpleasant obligation of the Washington press to report these things.

Unfortunately, the record of Congressman Virgil Chapman, Democrat of Kentucky now aspiring to the Senate, is not a happy one to recount.

In 1945, Roy H. Hamilton of Berea, Ky., a Navy enlisted man with 32 months duty overseas, was ordered back to the United States after V-E Day. But Hamilton had certain political information about Congressman Chapman, who fenagled with the Navy to order Hamilton back to sea. At this point, Senator "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky intervened with the Secretary of the Navy, told him of Chapman's personal spite, and the order was canceled.

All this is a matter of record.

Equally embarrassing have been some of the Congressman's antics on official trips and speaking engagements. Sent to Alaska at the taxpayers' expense on an official inspection trip, the Gentleman from Kentucky fell so lamentably below Kentucky standards when it came to holding his liquor that he had to be taken to a hospital. At one time, Rep. Leonard Hall, New York Republican, had to escort Chapman out of a hotel bar to keep him from embarrassing the official mission.

On another occasion, Chapman got in such a condition while attending a meeting of the House Secretaries Association that other guests pushed him outside the door, where he lay in the hall — the fallen Gentleman from Kentucky. Again, scheduled to speak at the Thoroughbred Horse Racing Association last year, Chapman got himself in such a state that the toastmaster could not call on him.

This is the man who now aspires to the U.S. Senate. When a U.S. ambassador makes a public spectacle of himself, he is recalled. A Congressman is the ambassador of his own district. However, he cannot be recalled except by the people who elect him. Unpleasant as the above facts are, it is better that the people of Kentucky know them before an election, not afterward.

North-South Football

Champ Pickens of Montgomery, Ala., the man who is trying to build up North - South understanding through sports, once had to solve a complicated problem involving President Truman's home state.

Pickens stages a football game every December between an all-star team from the North and an all-star team of the South, which is played at Montgomery, Cradle of the Confederacy. One year the question arose as to whether the University of Missouri was in the North or the South.

A hot debate followed, partly because the star Missouri player was named Jefferson Davis, and the South wanted him on its team. However, when Pickens consulted the map, he found that Columbia, Mo., home town of the university, was north of the Mason-Dixon Line; so Jefferson Davis came to Montgomery, Ala., Cradle of the Confederacy, and played on the side of the North.

Champ Pickens has organized the Blue and Grey Association to which he charges $1 membership and which anyone can join, in order to promote North-South understanding. With the proceeds he plans to build a football stadium as a shrine to those who wore both the Blue and the Grey.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Basing Point

OFTEN the Federal Trade Commission and our courts follow theory without the slightest regard either for experience or the welfare of the country. Administrative lawyers, who have come into control of our affairs, seek to remake our way of life without concern over the processes that have made this the greatest unit of production and that have given the American people their unusually high standard of living which represents the widest distribution of goods and services.

The basing point, which has been long in existence in the United States, permits a buyer to obtain materials from any manufacturer of that commodity at a competitive price with the manufacturer closest to the buyer. Thus, for instance, a steel manufacturer in Pittsburgh can sell to a buyer in Indiana at the same price as a steel manufacturer in Chicago. The difference in the cost of transportation is absorbed by the seller.

The FTC and now the courts say that that is wrong. In the Cement Case, the Supreme Court abolished the basing point. There are no loopholes in that decision which the FTC interprets as follows:

"The Court agreed with the Commission that this pricing system not only constitutes an 'unfair method of competition' but also involves unlawful price discrimination. It further held, in effect, that identical delivered prices which the system was designed to establish, regardless of wide differences in the cost of transportation from widely scattered plants, automatically created and reflected systematic discriminations in net factory prices . . ."

Curiously, this decision does not increase competition but kills it off. Justice Burton, who dissented, made that clear:

"This is the field where a producer, for his own purposes and without collusion, often ships his product to a customer who, in terms of freight charges, is located nearer to one or more of the producer's competitors than to the producer himself. In selling to such a customer, this producer is at an obvious freight disadvantage. To meet the lower delivered-price of his competitor, the producer, therefore, reduces his delivered-price in that area by a sum sufficient to absorb his freight disadvantage. He might do this for many reasons. For example, this customer might be such a large customer that the volume of his orders would yield such a return to the producer that the producer, by distributing his fixed charges over the resultingly increased volume of business, could absorb the freight differential without loss of profit to his business as a whole and without raising any charges to his other customers. The securing of this particular business might even enable the producer to reduce his own basic factory price to all his customers. It might make the difference between a profitable and a losing business, resulting in the producer's solvency or bankruptcy."

Of course, that would not worry the theoreticians, not until the steel companies decided to follow the letter of their ruling which upset them no end. In the Morton Salt case, the FTC won another victory in the Supreme Court which will cost the housewife considerable money. Here the Court decided, following the FTC, that "carload discounts" may not be given; that is, that the manufacturer may not pass on to the customer reduced costs of operations. Justice Jackson and Frankfurter dissented from this opinion, Jackson saying:

"The Court uses overtones of hostility to all quantity discounts, which I do not find in the Act, but they are translated into a rule which is fatal to any discount the Commission sees fit to attack . . . The law of this case, in a nutshell, is that no quantity discount is valid if the Commission chooses to say it is not. That is not the law which Congress enacted and which this Court has uniformly stated until today . . ."

Another matter, the Rigid Conduit case, comes into this discussion, but I have no room for it here. I need only make the point that these decisions involve increased costs at a time of high prices, that they confuse business processes, that they disorganize the normal relations between buyer and seller and that they accomplish nothing of benefit to anyone. But they do make the administrative lawyers happy because their theories are upheld by the Supreme Court.

Believed Russian Blockade Was Means Of Forcing Parley

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The amazing thing about what happened at the conference between Stalin and the three western ambassadors is not that they talked but that they didn't talk together long before this.

The technique is as old as diplomacy. It has been suggested time and again. Instead of a conference under klieg lights, diplomacy has always explored the issues through regularly accredited ambassadors and either with the head of a state or his foreign secretary.

The dispatches from Moscow indicate that something unusual has happened — ambassadors have actually been talking to the head of another government about critical issues.

Last May when the American government sent a note which opened the door to discussion, there was a curious fumbling of the ball here in Washington. It was said that unilateral discussions would be bad for the Allied democracies. Nobody seems to have thought then of the idea of the ambassadors of Great Britain, France, and the United States going together to the Russian government and laying all the cards on the table and issuing no statements until conclusions had been reached.

Again and again the Russians have indicated a desire to talk with the Western governments. Again and again the democracies have indicated that there was little to talk about or else that the Russians couldn't be trusted or else that there had to be a four-power conference if anything was to be taken up to alter the existing situation.

Believed Aim of Russians

The Russians evidently started the Berlin blockade as a means of altering the existing situation and forcing some kind of conference. They have succeeded. The United States, Britain and France are in the position now of offering some kind of trade or concessions in exchange for a lifting of the blockade —a palpably artificial issue.

Within recent weeks the situation had reached the point where war talk was in the air. From Berlin there came dispatches telling of a plan to send in an armored train and dare the Russians to fire on it. All this was sign that diplomacy had failed. Then public opinion began to look askance at the failure of diplomacy—people wondered why young men would have to be killed because somewhere there was not enough ingenuity to arrive at settlements in a peaceful manner.

It is unquestionably true that provocation by the Russians has been considerable but any administration that allowed American military forces to be bottled up in the city of Berlin without an explicit agreement as to the military right to supply such forces certainly cannot have been very alert.

The Russians are admittedly difficult to deal with and undoubtedly they are materialistic to the extreme in trying to wangle money and materials out of the western allies. But the evidence indicates they are not inclined to go to war about it. Under such trying circumstances any return to the type of international conferences held in London and Paris would be a mistake.

Latest Approach Held Correct

The latest approach is the correct one. There is no publicity during the negotiations. Neither side issues statements to the press or to the radio and there are not a half-hundred aides standing around and then leaking information to the press so that the negotiators cannot alter a position once taken.

This time precautions have been taken to exchange views in earnest and to make public the agreements reached when there are agreements. The process of reaching an agreement is often attended by retreats and concessions, and publicity frequently prevents a successful outcome of the negotiations. Evidently the four governments want to clear the air and start in a realistic manner to find a way to live together without going to war and without surrendering principles that are vital.

There need be no "appeasement" in the Munich sense and no humiliating shifts in public position. But there are ways to adjust international questions without threatening to go to war. If that formula has just been applied at Moscow in the critical circumstances of today, a milestone has indeed been reached in world affairs.

Inflation Grows In Mass; Resistance Is Diminishing

By MARK SULLIVAN

That inflation and cost of living are at a new height, is common knowledge. The public learns it at every counter, those who follow business statistics see the price indexes again and again accompanied by a phrase "all-time high." What is less readily noticed, but more ominous, is that inflation has increased greatly in mass and momentum; the forces and conditions pushing it are stronger, those resisting it have diminished.

An example is the attitude of heads of industry. Some two weeks ago, July 16th, the United States Steel Corporation raised wages 13 cents an hour. The raise—and this is the important point—was voluntary, without strike or other controversy. Five days later the Corporation took the corresponding step, increased the price of steel $9.34 a ton. Previously in May General Motors raised wages 11 cents an hour and last month increased the price of their cars by eight per cent.

Change of Attitude Significant

This pattern, raise of wages without resistance accompanied by increase of prices, is now being followed throughout large industry generally, it is ominously familiar. What is significant is the change of attitude on the part of industry heads. In 1945-6 General Motors fought a strike for over three months. During the same period the United States Steel Corporation and the steel industry fought a strike for a month yielding only under pressure from President Truman and upon simultaneously receiving from the Administration permission to raise the price of steel $5 a ton.

The change of attitude from three months ago until now is the more marked in that at the earlier time resistance to strikes was made difficult by the Wagner Labor Act which strongly favored unions. Now, an employer because of the Taft-Hartley law is able to meet a strike with some approach to equality. Also, three years ago, wage raises were formally supported by the Truman Administration as a policy.

Whatever the motives for the change in attitude by heads of industry the sum of them is an acceptance and sharing of the psychology of inflation. Individual industry heads may have felt that they paid dearly for their resistance to inflation three years ago. Or, that it is useless for them to stand out in opposition to inflation when the government itself is promoting it—every demand for a wage raise gives one reason, increase of cost of living, principally food, and the high price of food is kept up by the government policy of price support for farm products.

Some heads of industry may have come, however regretfully, to a realistic conclusion—inflation is here, it produces enormous buying power, and this is willing to pay any price, they can sell all the goods they can make, so why fight the tide?

New Alignment of Groups

The change of the industry heads creates a new alignment of groups and forces. Throughout, labor and agriculture have accepted inflation as giving them advantage, while industry resisted it. The prospect of greater momentum for inflation is obvious.

Adoption of a policy by so important a group as heads of industry cannot but be at once a reflection of a general public mood and a cause of it. Acceptance of inflation, in a spirit of "what the use of fighting" is a spreading phenomenon. Acceptance of the present degree of inflation carries with it inherently a complacency of spirit of surrender which expects more.

This spirit, as it becomes general, and unless it is formidably checked, passes into a definitely marked stage in the classic course of acute inflation. If people generally expect that goods are going to cost more, that the dollar is going to have less purchasing power they tend to pass into one of the late stages of inflation not far from the final one. In a spirit of either recklessness or despair they begin to feel it is unwise to hold money that it is better to exchange money for goods. Such a public mood causes increases in prices to become cumulatively rapid.

Today's Talk

New Currents

There is no such thing as the same day, the same year, or the same experience. Every day we enter a new world. Every day we meet new currents of life. Perhaps this is one reason why we so easily forget our friends that we have known and loved. For a little while we are pals, and almost inseparable. Then new currents of thought and new experiences, take us down the stream —and we become forgetful and neglectful.

One day my secretary entered my office and said that a lady wished to see me, but would not give her name —said that she wanted to surprise me! So I said to rush her right in—and, lo and behold, an old high school friend, who used to sit next to me, and whom, I blush to say, I often greatly embarrassed by making her laugh out loud because of my antics, thus giving cause for the principal to reprimand us both. We sat and talked, as of old, but we weren't the same. New currents had carried each of us afar.

The stream that we floated down on, so easily and happily, last year is not the one carrying us today. We have seen new scenes, met new people, and learned from many a book, and from many an experience. We ought to carry more people around in our hearts as well as our minds. If we did we would contact them oftener thus binding the friendship. The more that we encounter in life the more precious become our friends, for so little else matters.

As I write, I look about my cottage room and memories of laughter and activity become alive in my mind. I recall names, talk, and a variety of joys—but now the room has its empty chairs, and silence. New currents have carried so many of my former friends far, far away. Most of us, I fear, have been looked upon at times as a novelty—then becoming the "forgotten man", or woman. It's life, so we ought not to complain.

There are new currents in the world, never before experienced. Where are they going to take us? None of us know. However, armed with an unfaltering faith, we can leave all fear behind!

Baering Down On The News

All those flying saucers and flaming wings you see in the overcast are trial balloons turned loose by campaign managers.

They want to know when their candidate has the breeze in back of his big red ears. At the opportune moment they turn him loose for a gargle over the microphone.

Boy, 9, Is Rescued From Jungle Life

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 4. (AP)—An emaciated, unkept nine-year-old boy appeared before Judge W. Laird Henry in Dorchester County Juvenile Court today and told a story of leading a jungle life on an island in Chesapeake Bay.

Judge Henry gave the lad's father, Virgil Price, a suspended two-year sentence in the Maryland House of Correction for neglecting the boy, Robert Lee Price.

The father must pay $32 a month for his support as a condition of staying out of the House of Correction.

The charge against Price was failure to provide proper guardianship for his son.

The boy had been living on James Island, a virtually isolated spot near the mouth of the Little Choptank River adjoining Taylor Island.

The evidence showed he had been living there in squalor with an unmarried couple his only companions. Most of the time he had no shelter, and very little to eat.

State police counted at least 150 automobiles and trucks stalled around Salisbury, either because the roads were blocked or their engines had been drowned out.

By far the greatest damage was to crops and one authority from the University of Maryland estimated it would run $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Cambridge had 4.48 inches of rain from Saturday afternoon to Monday morning in the first storm. Salisbury got 3.31 in that period. Easton recorded 2.43 inches.

the less money the banks will have to put out in inflationary loans.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), Banking Committee member, opened fire on the Republican measure. He issued a statement that it would have a "devasting effect on our economy" and predicted President Truman would veto it.

Republicans decided to present the measure to the House under procedures limiting debate to 40 minutes and requiring a two-thirds vote to pass the bill.

Patman predicted almost solid Democratic opposition and raised doubt whether Republicans can muster a two-thirds vote. There are now 244 Republican seats in the House and 185 Democratic.

The Republican housing bill was approved by a special Senate-House committee composed of members of the banking groups of both chambers. It has still to be acted upon by Senate and House.

Laying stress on low-cost homes, McCarthy said it does "nothing at all to liberalize loans on homes above $10,000."

Md. Trooper Who Shot Osprey May Be Disciplined

PIKESVILLE, Md., Aug. 4 (AP)—Col. Beverly Ober, state police superintendent, announced today that a trooper had been summoned before a disciplinary action board in connection with shooting of a female osprey.

The bird and her family had been perched on a piling at the Romancoke ferry slip. John W. Perry, Eastern Shore District game warden, reported the bird died after its beak was shot off by a trooper engaged in target practice.

"This department condones no such loutish and stupid acts," Ober said. "The proper disciplinary action will be taken by me when the full facts are established."

Nevertheless, two Democratic senators, Tydings and O'Conor, of Maryland, introduced a proposal for such a change in the basic charter. Tydings said: "If the Republicans really want to eliminate the poll tax, here's their opportunity. Let them put up or shut up."

In Louisville, Ky., housewives also were reported waging a telephone campaign against high meat prices.

In Washington, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told the Senate Banking Committee, "We can expect little relief from the price pressures now current until the closing months of 1949." And in Chicago the Army Quartermaster Market Center said it was going to South America to get meat.

The Agriculture Department added a dour note for consumers who might be thinking of meat substitutes. It said there was no prospect of lower chicken and egg prices before next year. Thanksgiving turkeys will cost more than last year, the department predicted.

Virginia GOP Hopes To Carry State After 20-Year Drought

[By The Associated Press]

Virginia Republicans rolled up their sleeves today to make a fight of it for the congressional delegation in November following Tuesday's primary election. The state's 11 men in Congress are Democrats.

As in Missouri and Kansas, where voters also went to the polls, all incumbents on Capitol Hill who ran for re-nomination appeared to have won out.

Virginia Democrats began getting ready for a GOP attempt to carry the state after a 20-year drought. Virginia gave Herbert Hoover a majority in 1928.

United States Sen. A. Willis Robertson, who scored an easy triumph in Tuesday's primary, goes up against Robert H. Woods, state Republican chairman, in November. The Republicans are expected to have a congressional candidate in all districts except perhaps the heavily Democratic Fourth District.

Kansas Republicans put former Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel up against Democrat George McGill for the Senate seat which Arthur Capper is vacating next January. Each won an easy victory in the primary. McGill is a former senator.

For governor, the Kansans nominated Frank Carlson on the Republican ticket to succeed himself. He will be opposed by Democrat Randolph Carpenter. The state's six Republican congressmen were renominated.

Missouri's interest centered on the race for governor to succeed Phil Donnelly, who couldn't run for re-election. The Democrats named State Auditor Forrest Smith and the Republicans Murray E. Thompson, speaker of the state House of Representatives. They had wide margins of victory.

$107,407,406 Collected In State Taxes Past Year

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4 (AP)—A total of $107,407,406.62 was collected in state taxes for the 1948 fiscal year, figures released by the State Comptroller's office showed today.

This is $8,771,366.70 more than anticipated in the most recent revenue estimates and $13,890,533.94 over original calculations.

General fund collections amounted to $58,866,362.90, while special fund collections totaled $48,541,043.72.

The largest amount was produced by the retail sales tax, a total of $23,652,540.65. The sales tax originally was expected to bring in $16,975,000. This estimate later was revised to $21,650,000.

The sales tax receipts represented collections for only 11 months, since the sales tax went into effect in July, 1947, and no colections were made that month.

On the Senate side, an expenditures subcommittee busy on the same spy stories, tried and failed to learn from Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan whether William W. Remington was discharged from his naval reserve commission for security reasons.

Remington, 30, is a Commerce Department official named by Miss Bentley as one source of government secrets she gave Russian agents. Remington said he thought she was a newspaper reporter and denied she got anything secret. In the source of his testimony, he has disclosed that he resigned his naval commission by request in 1947.

Sullivan was called before the senators after three admirals had refused to talk about Remington's discharge. Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) told Sullivan that the committee only wanted to know whether security was involved in the case.

Sullivan and the admirals referred to President Truman's executive order dealing with loyalty records in declining to go into the case.

Wherever you go, they're talking DYNAFLOW

FROM Atlantic to Pacific, it's simply terrific.

Not in a generation — maybe not in two — has any single improvement in automobiles caused the talk or met the instant approval that has greeted this new drive.

You see the reason in your first five minutes behind a Dynaflow* wheel.

You sense that this is not merely an improvement on old ways, but a whole new system of transferring power from your engine to the rear wheels.

For the first time, oil does everything — replaces the friction clutch, eliminates the usual forward gears, even actuates the mechanism by which you change from Driving range to emergency Low and Reverse.

You feel the result in new smoothness that's like riding a mighty tide of flowing oil.

You move from standstill to road speed in one smooth unbroken sweep of power, quick and effortless in getaway and instantly responsive at speed.

You stop by pressing the footbrake — go again by feeding gas. Once you've set the selector lever, you need not touch it again in normal driving until you're ready to park or back up.

Outside engineers look at Dynaflow and say, "Now you've got something!"

You'll say so too — once you handle a Buick ROADMASTER with this new driving magic.

Try it, first chance you get — and we think you'll want to see your Buick dealer at once to get an order in — with or without a car to trade.

Boy, 9, Is Rescued From Jungle Life

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 4. (AP)—An emaciated, unkept nine-year-old boy appeared before Judge W. Laird Henry in Dorchester County Juvenile Court today and told a story of leading a jungle life on an island in Chesapeake Bay.

Judge Henry gave the lad's father, Virgil Price, a suspended two-year sentence in the Maryland House of Correction for neglecting the boy, Robert Lee Price.

The father must pay $32 a month for his support as a condition of staying out of the House of Correction.

The charge against Price was failure to provide proper guardianship for his son.

The boy had been living on James Island, a virtually isolated spot near the mouth of the Little Choptank River adjoining Taylor Island.

The evidence showed he had been living there in squalor with an unmarried couple his only companions. Most of the time he had no shelter, and very little to eat.

of highways, and particularly along the back roads it was standing hub deep in many places. Traffic was getting through on the arterial highways but it was cut off altogether on many sideroads.

State police counted at least 150 automobiles and trucks stalled around Salisbury, either because the roads were blocked or their engines had been drowned out.

By far the greatest damage was to crops and one authority from the University of Maryland estimated it would run $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Cambridge had 4.48 inches of rain from Saturday afternoon to Monday morning in the first storm. Salisbury got 3.31 in that period. Easton recorded 2.43 inches.

the less money the banks will have to put out in inflationary loans.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), Banking Committee member, opened fire on the Republican measure. He issued a statement that it would have a "devasting effect on our economy" and predicted President Truman would veto it.

Republicans decided to present the measure to the House under procedures limiting debate to 40 minutes and requiring a two-thirds vote to pass the bill.

Patman predicted almost solid Democratic opposition and raised doubt whether Republicans can muster a two-thirds vote. There are now 244 Republican seats in the House and 185 Democratic.

The Republican housing bill was approved by a special Senate-House committee composed of members of the banking groups of both chambers. It has still to be acted upon by Senate and House.

Laying stress on low-cost homes, McCarthy said it does "nothing at all to liberalize loans on homes above $10,000."

Md. Trooper Who Shot Osprey May Be Disciplined

PIKESVILLE, Md., Aug. 4 (AP)—Col. Beverly Ober, state police superintendent, announced today that a trooper had been summoned before a disciplinary action board in connection with shooting of a female osprey.

The bird and her family had been perched on a piling at the Romancoke ferry slip. John W. Perry, Eastern Shore District game warden, reported the bird died after its beak was shot off by a trooper engaged in target practice.

"This department condones no such loutish and stupid acts," Ober said. "The proper disciplinary action will be taken by me when the full facts are established."

cated they would not oppose such an approach, although they resent the anti-poll tax bill as an unconstitutional invasion of states' rights. Millikin reported, however, that no attempt would be made by his side at this time to put across a constitutional amendment.

Nevertheless, two Democratic senators, Tydings and O'Conor, of Maryland, introduced a proposal for such a change in the basic charter. Tydings said: "If the Republicans really want to eliminate the poll tax, here's their opportunity. Let them put up or shut up."

Little Early Relief Seen

In Louisville, Ky., housewives also were reported waging a telephone campaign against high meat prices.

In Washington, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told the Senate Banking Committee, "We can expect little relief from the price pressures now current until the closing months of 1949." And in Chicago the Army Quartermaster Market Center said it was going to South America to get meat.

The Agriculture Department added a dour note for consumers who might be thinking of meat substitutes. It said there was no prospect of lower chicken and egg prices before next year. Thanksgiving turkeys will cost more than last year, the department predicted.

Virginia GOP Hopes To Carry State After 20-Year Drought

[By The Associated Press]

Virginia Republicans rolled up their sleeves today to make a fight of it for the congressional delegation in November following Tuesday's primary election. The state's 11 men in Congress are Democrats.

As in Missouri and Kansas, where voters also went to the polls, all incumbents on Capitol Hill who ran for re-nomination appeared to have won out.

Virginia Democrats began getting ready for a GOP attempt to carry the state after a 20-year drought. Virginia gave Herbert Hoover a majority in 1928.

United States Sen. A. Willis Robertson, who scored an easy triumph in Tuesday's primary, goes up against Robert H. Woods, state Republican chairman, in November. The Republicans are expected to have a congressional candidate in all districts except perhaps the heavily Democratic Fourth District.

Mermaids Club Is Entertained, To Be Formed Saturday

The Mermaids Club, for girls from 9 to 12, was entertained by Mrs. Ida Lindsay, advisor, and Miss Doris Twigg, sponsors of the club through Central YMCA.

The purpose of the club is to "try to improve my mind and increase my abilities, to live adventurously, seeking new knowledge and light, to think of happiness and welfare of others always, to seek and create beauty and to do these things in the spirit of Christian love and fellowship."

The club will be organized and officers elected, on the basis of an older club, with club pins and short business sessions to be held each Saturday before the regular swimming at 11 o'clock.

Last night the group swam for one-half hour, beginning at 7 o'clock, after which the program was held. It consisted of the group singing of the Mermaid Song, written by Mrs. Lindsay, accompanied at the piano by James Alderton. Next the group was introduced by Mrs. Lindsay assisted by Miss Twigg.

Army Wants Song To Call Its Own

The United States Army is appealing to the people for an all-Army song. The Marines have their hymn and the Navy sings "Anchors Aweigh," but the Army only has songs for its divisions such as the artillery and the airforce.

A contest will be held open to all Army personnel and civilians for original music and words suitable for marching and singing. The deadline for submitting the manuscripts is December 15, 1948.

On Army Day, April 6, 1949, the names of the five top songs will be announced and they will be recorded on V disks, printed in Army-Navy Hit Kits, and played on Army shows. The most popular of these will be designated the official Army song on Army Day, 1950.

The compositions should be sent to the Chief of Special Services, Department of the Army, Washington 25, accompanied by a DA AGO Form R-5564, entry blank for the contest.

Each contestant may submit only one entry and the government will have nonexclusive, royalty-free unlimited performing, playing, publishing and motion picture rights.

The contest rules also state that the Army will not be liable or responsible for copyright infringements of any of the entries or for any suits brought about by them.

Air Force Recruit Has Almost Perfect Score

The Army and Air Force Recruiting Office here had an outstanding enlistee recently when Keith Marvin Keller, an Air Force veteran of three years, made an almost perfect score on his R-5 test. He massed 160 points in the test required of all enlistees.

Keller, born in Carmel Station, Sasketchewan, Canada, and a college graduate, taught in Iowa City High School, Iowa, until recently. Tech. Sgt. Wesley Welsh, Westernport, enlisted him as a sergeant in the Air Corps, unassigned, when he was visiting there for a Washington firm.

Upon completion of his processing, he hopes to enroll in the Air Force Officer's Candidate School.

Mrs. Poling Managing Hotel At Luray, Va.

Word has been received here that Mrs. Ivan Poling has resigned as manager of Beverly Hotel, Staunton, Va., and has accepted appointment as manager of the Mimslyn Hotel, Luray, Va.

Mrs. Poling is well known here and is remembered by many local people. She and her late husband were associated with the operation of both the Algonquin and Fort Cumberland Hotels here for a number of years. They at one time owned the Algonquin which they sold after four years of operation and assumed the management of the Fort Cumberland, where they remained about eight years.

Ivan Poling died at Staunton last February 9, after operating the Beverly Hotel there for seven years with Mrs. Poling as his assistant.

The Mimlyn Hotel, an 89-room house at Luray, was purchased about three months ago by D. B. Whitman, a Washington, D. C., hotel man who operates the Stratford in the capital. He also has other hotel interests.

About the same time she accepted the management of the Mimslyn an announcement was made of Mrs. Poling's appointment to a special committee for vocational education by the Virginia Hotel Association to consider the possibility of establishing a cook and bakers school at Woodrow Wilson Technical School.

Sgt. Trozzo Chosen For Recruiting Team

Sgt. Trozzo participated in three campaigns during the war, serving with the 276th Regiment, 70th Infantry Division. In addition to his ETO ribbon with three battle stars, he has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal, Combat Infantry Badge, and the Good Conduct Ribbon with clasp.

The Clarysville stone bridge across Braddock Run on Route 40 was recommended for a historic marker by the Division of Bridge Design of the State Roads Commission.

A. F. Grubb, chief engineer of the design division, said he would recommend the retirement of the bridge if effective barricades were erected on the east and west ends of the bridge or if the County Commissioners of Allegany County would accept full responsibility of the road and bridge.

Local Leagues All-Stars Play 5-5 Tie Contest

Darkness Halts Contest In 10th

The all-star teams of the Interstate League and the Bi-State League battled to a 5-5 tie yesterday at Memorial Stadium in Westernport as darkness put a halt to hostilities after ten innings of play.

A three-run rally in the ninth by the Bi-Staters sent the game into overtime and each team counted a run in the tenth before quiting play.

The Interstate aggregation got off to a three-run lead in the third inning when Allan Swick, Romney pitcher, who started on the hill, for the Interstaters, walked and was thrown out attempting to steal as Johnny Cox, Cumberland American Legion second baseman, struck out. Eddie Diehl, Cumberland Legion then singled, went to third as Jim Gaffney, also of the Legion, singled and all came home as Bob Keller, Moorefield Legion first baseman, clouted a homerun.

Junior Woodsen, Queen City, starting hurler for the Bi-State nine, smashed out a four-ply swat to give the home team its only run until the ninth.

In the ninth with the Interstate ahead 4-1, and Pat Creegan, young lefty for the Cumberland Legion on the hill, two singles, an error and a wild pitch loaded the bases for the Bi-State stars and all three runs scored as Leo Ryan doubled.

In the tenth, after the Interstaters had again gone ahead Creegan's wildness cost him the chance to win the game. Two walks and a hit batsman loaded the bases with two out but Pat couldn't find the plate again and walked Jim Shockey, Lonaconing catcher to force in the tying run.

Diehl and Keller paced the Interstate nine-hit attack with two hits apiece, while Woodsen, Bub Robertson, Westvaco, and Jim Walters, Mt. Savage, shared six of the losers' nine bingles. The score:

INTERSTATE	AB	H	O	A
Cox, American Legion, 2b	2	0	2	1
Riggleman, Ridgeley, 2 b	2	1	1	2
Diehl, American Legion, ss	3	2	2	3

Walcott Wants Next Bout For Crown

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 4 (AP)—For $60,000 or 27½ per cent of the gate Jersey Joe Walcott is willing to fight the winner of the Jimmy Bivins-Ezzard Charles bout—but he ties a string to his okay.

The battle must be for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Felix Bocchicchio, Camden promoter who handles Walcott, said today the offer was extended him by Mrs. Florence Turner, Washington D. C. promoter.

"It's okay with us" Bocchicchio said "just as long as the National Boxing Association recognizes the fight for the title."

Cincinnati Reds Again Top Braves, Winning 4 To 2

St. Louis Cops Two From New York Giants

BOSTON, Aug. 4 (INS)—The Cincinnati Reds made it three in a row tonight as they defeated the National League pacemaking Boston Braves by a score of 4 to 2.

It was the fourth consecutive loss for the Braves who twice before suffered four consecutive losses. It cut their lead to four games as the St. Louis Cards went into second place by defeating the Giants twice.

Ken Raffensberger, starting and winning pitcher, pitched perfect ball for four innings, only 12 batters facing him.

Bob Elliott hit his 15th homer in the fifth.

It was Raffensberger's eighth win and Voiselle's ninth defeat.

Danny Litwhiler hit a homer in the sixth with one on and Ted Kluszewski hit one with none on in the fifth for the Reds.

CARDS WIN TWO

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals jumped all the way from fourth to second place in the National League when Harry Brecheen held the New York Giants to two hits tonight and blanked them 3 to 0 after the Cards won the afternoon game as well.

Brecheen, winning a keen duel from Larry Jansen, New York ace, even without the aid of Ron Northey's two-run homer in the ninth inning, boosted the Cards to within four games of the pacesetting Boston Braves, who lost to Cincinnati for the third straight time.

In the afternoon game George Munger, who had been unable to finish a game for two and a half months, regained his stamina and went the route to beat the New Yorkers 7 to 2. Box:

Amvets Play Frostburg Today And Westvaco Tossers Friday

Dual Win Here Would Put Locals On Top

Manager Norman Gerdeman's Amvets, trailing Westvaco and Frostburg, the deadlocked leaders by one-half game, have an opportunity to gain undisputed possession of first place by Friday night.

To attain this goal the Amvets must win games today and tomorrow.

If the Amvets can stop Frostburg today at Community Park, the locals will tie Westvaco for first place. And if the Amvets can hurdle Westvaco here tomorrow, Gerdeman's tossers will be on top of the league.

The games here today and tomorrow are scheduled to start at 5:30 and should attract large crowds because they are "naturals."

At the present time Westvaco and Frostburg have records of 18 wins and 7 losses while the Amvets trail by one-half game with a 17-7 record.

There's another game in Cumberland today and it's scheduled at Stitcher Field. It brings together the pacesetting Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion team of the Interstate League and Queen City Brewers, holders of fourth place in the Bi-State circuit.

Proceeds of this contest will be for the benefit of Harry Minnicks, Queen City player, who suffered a broken ankle in the recent game between the Brewers and Barton.

Lacy's, Amvets, Reed's Also Win

North End Social and Athletic Club softball team dropped into fourth place in the City Softball League standings when they were upset yesterday at Campobello by Ballard's Cleaners by the score of 9 to 3. It was the first victory for the Cleaners in ten starts in the second half race.

The Cumberland Amvets continued to roll merrily along, copping their tenth straight decision over the Astor Restaurant, 15-1, behind the one-hit pitching of Allan Sheetz.

In other contests played, Reed's moved up ahead of North End by downing Astor Cab, 7-2, and Lacy's won their seventh game over Joe's Crusaders, 8-1.

Winebrenner topped the Ballard attack with three hits as Dawson tossed a six-hitter at North End for the Cleaner's surprise victory.

Fradiska and Mulvey each had two hits for the losers with the latter's both being doubles.

Bub Porter hit a double, triple and single and Gene Scaletta two homeruns and Tommy Smith one as Reed's unleashed a 10-hit barrage against Astor Cab. Jim Eckard and Mil Dean each had two bingles for the Cabbies.

Hardy topped Lacy's with two hits as the first-half winners tallied six runs in the fourth inning to rout Joe's.

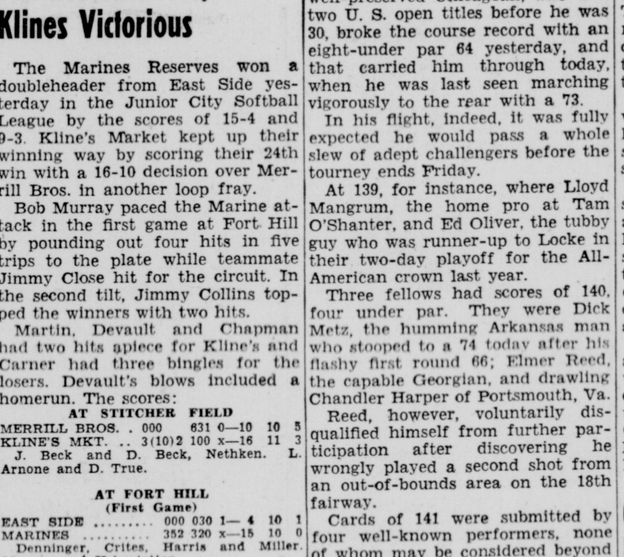
Patty Berg Takes All-American Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (INS)—Women's Western Open champion Patty Berg of Minneapolis seized control halfway through the $4,500 All-American women's tournament today by shooting an 80 while Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the first-round leader, hatched a nine-over-par 85. Thus with 36 holes to go, Miss Berg had a 36-hole score of 156 to 157 for Mrs. Zaharias, who yesterday tied the course record with a four-under-par 72. Miss Berg was helped immeasurably during today's windbeset second round by an eagle-3 on the second hole, coming when she holed a 90-yard approach shot.



TOP LAST HURDLE—Bill Porter (left) clears the final hurdle in the 110-meter high hurtle event of the 1948 Olympiad at Wembley Stadium, England, and goes on to win the race in 13.9 seconds, a new record. The 22-year-old former Navy ensign led the U. S. hurdlers in a clean sweep of the first three places in the event yesterday. Craig "Spider" Dixon can be seen on the right trailing the winner closely. Clyde Scott of Arkansas, not shown, finished second in the race.

Herman Barron Takes Lead In Tam O'Shanter

Guldahl Trails By A Single Stroke

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (INS)—Swarthy Herman Barron stole another four strokes from par at Tam O'Shanter today to lift the lead from Ralph Guldahl halfway through the $31,000 All-American professional golf tourney, the one Barron won in 1946.

Barron's second straight 68 gave the 39-year-old New Yorker a 36-hole total of 136, a stroke up on Guldahl and two swings ahead of South Africa Bobby Locke, who won the All-American last year and today came a-hurtling out of the pack with a five-under-par 67.

Guldahl's presence among the top three could be ascribed to the principle of initial momentum. The well-preserved Chicagoan, who won two U. S. open titles before he was 30, broke the course record with an eight-under par 64 yesterday, and that carried him through today, when he was last seen marching vigorously to the rear with a 73.

In his flight, indeed, it was fully expected he would pass a whole slew of adept challengers before the tourney ends Friday.

At 139, for instance, where Lloyd Mangrum, the home pro at Tam O'Shanter, and Ed Oliver, the tubby guy who was runner-up to Locke in their two-day playoff for the All-American crown last year.

Three fellows had scores of 140, four under par. They were Dick Metz, the humming Arkansas man who stooped to a 74 today after his flashy first round 66; Elmer Reed, the capable Georgian, and drawling Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va.

Reed, however, voluntarily disqualified himself from further participation after discovering he wrongly played a second shot from an out-of-bounds area on the 18th fairway.

Cards of 141 were submitted by four well-known performers, none of whom may be considered beyond hope even though they're five strokes off the pace with 36 holes to go.

Bill Nary, Pete Cooper, Sam Snead and Jim Demaret have the 141's.

Joan Rilling Wins In City Tourney

Joan Rilling won a hard, three-set match from Henrietta Lippold yesterday in the city tennis tournament to advance to the semi-finals. The scores were 7-9, 9-7, 6-1.

Miss Rilling will meet the current champion, Mrs. Ralph Higgins, with the winner slated to oppose Mrs. Gordon Bowie in the finals.

Lua Syckes will meet Jimmy Stakem in a quarter-final round match today on the Country Club courts in the men's division of the tennis tourney.

CCC Golf Team Evens Series With Somerset

Locals Take Second Match By 25 To 11

Cumberland Country Club men golfers evened accounts with Somerset, Pa., linksmen and marked up their fifth victory in seven matches this season by turning in a 25-11 triumph over the Fennsylvanians yesterday at the local club.

The CCC outfit, which lost 17½ to 15½ at Somerset, copped eight of yesterday's 12 matches and broke even in another. James Beacham, who paired with John Manley to defeat Dr. Hart and R. Boose, 3 and 0, shot a sparkling 72, one over par.

After Cumberland squared accounts with the Somerset outfit, arrangements were made to stage a rubber match at Somerset on September 8. Yesterday's scores:

Steve Gaydoe and Web Yoder, Somerset, defeated Carroll Boggs and C. S. Catherman, Jr., 2½ and ½.

C. Van Roby and Ed Mattingly, Cumberland, defeated J. Vargo and Al Shoemaker, 2½ and ½.

George Garlitz and John Topper, Cumberland, defeated C. Critchfield and G. Schrock, 3 and 0.

B. Wright and David Sigel, Cumberland, tied E. Younkin and H. E. Wright, 1½ and 1½.

John Manley and James Beacham, Cumberland, defeated Dr. Hart and R. Boose, 3 and 0.

Dr. P. E. Berry and Dr. F. Cawley, Cumberland, defeated J. Coleman and Dr. P. Shiffhour, 2½ and ½.

Ed Stalter and R. Lacy, Cumberland, defeated R. Shoemaker and B. Phillips, 2½ and ½.

J. Barkman and D. Walters, Somerset, defeated Jim McKalvey and Benjamin LaNeve, 3 and 0.

J. Shehee and P. Fletcher, Cumberland, defeated John Schrock and J. Stein, 3 and 0.

Pete Shumaker and J. Bowlin, Somerset, defeated Jack Waugh and J. Kelly, 2 and 1.

A. Widener and Msgr. L. Vaeth, Cumberland, defeated O. Parsons and N. Smith, 3 and 0.

Gordon Bowie and Dr. D. Sommerville, Cumberland, defeated S. Wright and K. Barron, 2½ and ½.

Rain Burdens Boys Tennis Schedules

National Junior Matches Postponed

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP)—Heavy morning rains put a crimp in the national junior and boys tennis championships today by washing out scheduled fourth round singles tests in the junior division and third round boys matches.

Officials, surveying the water-swamped courts at Kalamazoo College's Stowe Stadium, indicated that play could not be resumed before Thursday.

In that case two rounds of singles matches will be jammed into a single day's program, thinning both divisions to semi-finalists by Friday. To clear the way for the singles, many of today's and Thursday's doubles contests will be shifted to the old college courts and be played tomorrow.

Two days of steady play in the week-long championships already have reduced the big field of 152 starters to a dwindling list of 16 survivors in each division.

Dick Mouledous of New Orleans, seeded first among the juniors after advancing to the 1947 finals before losing to Herbert (Buddy) Behrens, still ruled as the youngster to beat, though second seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, the western junior champ, was at the peak of his game and was rated a top threat.

Other highly regarded players still in the running for the title vacated by Behrens when he became over age include national interscholastic champ Gil Bogley of Chevy Chase, Md., steady Keston Deimling of Chicago, and Canadian Lorne Maine of Vancouver, B. C.

Claiming A Horse Is A Gamble Too

Claiming a horse may not be all sugar and honey for a turfman. When he deposits a claim in a sealed box, he must worry all during the claiming race, for if anything happens to the thoroughbred during the running of the event and he is afterward adjudged the new owner, the horse is his no matter what its condition.

Even if the horse is killed during the race, and claims have been entered, the new owner is awarded the dead animal. Then it's up to him to pay all the necessary expenses for disposal.

Racing rules regarding claiming races make it so that the customers at the mutuel windows are not the only gamblers involved in that event.

Corriganville Battles Park For Fourth Place

A battle for fourth place between Narrows Park's Cardinals and the improved Corriganville team is in store for County Softball League fans today when these teams tangle at Narrows Park.

Fourth place is an important spot because that's the lowest a team can finish to get into the Shaughnessy playoffs at the close of the season. Narrows Park holds the 4th spot at present with a 26-17 record. Corriganville is 6th with 25-17. If Corriganville wins the teams will swap places.

In other games on tap today Wellersburg plays host to the Phone Workers, Ellerslie tests the Firemen at Hyndman and the Potomac Valley Cubs invade Allegany Grove.

Bedford Road will be idle and will win by forfeit due to the Corner Merchants dropping out of the circuit.

Joe DiMaggio Plays Despite All Handicaps

Despite a series of injuries, Joe DiMaggio continues to star in the Yankee lineup. Recently, though many a ball player would have quit under the circumstances, DiMaggio has been playing with arch supporters in his spiked shoes and special foam-rubber inner soles to ease the pain caused by his almost raw-red heels.

Bill Porter Is Winner; States Take Big Lead

Smith Captures 400 Meter Swim Trophy

By TED SMITS

LONDON, Aug. 4. (AP)—American track and swimming stars earned two more gold Olympic medals today as Bill Porter of Northwestern led his mates to a clean sweep of the 110-meter high hurdles and ukelele Bill Smith of Honolulu splashed to a surprising triumph in the 400-meter free style swim race.

At the end of five full days of competition, Uncle Sam's men's track team held an overwhelming lead with eight first place winners in 16 events and a total of 156 points. Sweden, the nearest competitor, was hopelessly outdistanced with 44.

In swimming Smith's success gave the American men their fourth straight triumph. It was their third successive new record in the water races.

The 22-year-old Porter skimmed over the sticks in Olympic record time of 13.9 seconds to smash the old mark set by Forrest Towns for America in the 1936 games at Berlin.

American Show

It was an American show with Clyde Scott, the football star from Navy and Arkansas, and Craig Dixon of UCLA running close together in the early stages. When Porter put on his final spurt he edged Scott and Dixon who were clocked in 14.1, equalling the old standard.

The hurdlers' triumph was as complete as the shot putters yesterday who also swept the first three places in the finals.

Smith's swimming victory, coming late in the day after the track events were completed, was surprising because Jimmy McLane, the 17-year-old lad from Akron, Ohio and Andover Academy, was expected to launch a double in this 400-meter race. He is favored to take the 1,500-meter event later in the week.

Although McLane had set a new Olympic record of 4:42.2 in a trial heat, Smith was too much for him in the finals when he hung up the new Olympic mark of 4:41. These figures obliterated the figures Jack Medica of Seattle, Wash. established at Berlin in 1936 when he won in 4:44.5.

U. S. Divers Lead

The men's diving team, reduced to two members because of the injury to Miller Anderson of Ohio State, ranked one-two after four of the eight dives in the high diving competition that will be finished tomorrow. Dr. Sammy Lee, the army medic from Pasadena, Calif. was out front with 51.51 points to 48.94 for Bruce Harlan of Ohio State, the Olympic springboard champ.

The crowd of 75,000, including the King and Queen of England, thrilled to the brilliant performance of Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland, a golden-haired housewife, who won her second title in the 80-meter hurdles. Mrs. Blankers-Koen beat her own world record for the distance by scooting home in 11:2 seconds.

As she already had taken the 100-meter race, Mrs. Blankers-Koen had a chance to eclipse the fine performance of Babe Didrikson—now Mrs. Mildred Zaharias—who had two firsts and a second in 1932 at Los Angeles. Mrs. Blankers-Koen withdrew from the broad jump but she also is entered in the high jump and relay.

Michelene Ostermeyer of France also became a double winner with her winning shot put effort of 45 Ft. 1½ ins. She already had won the discus. V. O. Gyarmati of Hungary copped the women's broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 8¼ inches. There were no Americans in the first six, the U. S. women's team being completely outdistanced in all track and field events.

One U. S. Distance Man

After leading the qualifiers into the javelin finals, Martin Biles of the University of California dropped into sixth place as Kaj Routavaar of Finland won with a throw of 228 feet 10½ inches. Dr. Steve Seymour of Los Angeles was second and Bob Likins of San Jose State College was eighth.

Only one American qualified for the 1,500 meter finals as Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin finished third in a heat won by the favored Swede, Lennart Strand.

In the women's swimming competition, Karen Margrethe Harup of Denmark broke her own Olympic record by taking a semi-final heat of the 100-meter backstroke in 1:15.5. Yesterday she did it in 1:15.6.

The women's 400-meter relay record really took a beating as the 4:35 mark by Holland at Berlin in 1936, was bettered three times in trial heats. Denmark posted a 4:33.5 in defeating the American girls, who made it in 4:34.1. Then a Dutch quartet regained the record for their native land in 4:31.3. The finals will be held Friday.

The U. S. contenders were eliminated in the foils division of men's fencing. Silvio Giolito of Woodside, N. Y., and Dean Cetrulo of Hollywood, Calif., were defeated in the semi-finals.

American yachtmen won two Olympic races and finished high in three others during the day's competition. The U. S. scored in both the six-meter international and star classes in the second of a series of seven races to determine class championships.

Capt. W. O. G. Grut of Swden took the modern pentathlon title with Maj. G. B. Moore of Chevy Chase, Md., finishing second. The 34-year-old Swedish officer turned in a record low score of 16 points for the five events.

U. S. Track Stars Score Sweep In 110 Meter High Hurdles

Local Leagues All-Stars Play 5-5 Tie Contest

Darkness Halts Contest In 10th

The all-star teams of the Interstate League and the Bi-State League battled to a 5-5 tie yesterday at Memorial Stadium in Westernport as darkness put a halt to hostilities after ten innings of play.

A three-run rally in the ninth by the Bi-Staters sent the game into overtime and each team counted a run in the tenth before quitting play.

The Interstate aggregation got off to a three-run lead in the third inning when Allan Swick, Romney pitcher, who started on the hill, for the Interstaters, walked and was thrown out attempting to steal as Johnny Cox, Cumberland American Legion second baseman, struck out. Eddie Diehl, Cumberland Legion then singled, went to third as Jim Gaffney, also of the Legion, singled and all came home as Bob Keller, Moorefield Legion first baseman, clouted a homerun.

Junior Woodsen, Queen City, starting hurler for the Bi-State nine, smashed out a four-ply swat to give the home team its only run until the ninth.

In the ninth with the Interstate ahead 4-1, and Pat Creegan, young lefty for the Cumberland Legion on the hill, two singles, an error and a wild pitch loaded the bases for the Bi-State stars and all three runs scored as Leo Ryan doubled.

In the tenth, after the Interstaters had again gone ahead Creegan's wildness cost him the chance to win the game. Two walks and a hit batsman loaded the bases with two out but Pat couldn't find the plate again and walked Jim Shockey, Lonaconing catcher to force in the tying run.

Diehl and Keller paced the Interstate nine-hit attack with two hits apiece, while Woodsen, Bub Robertson, Westvaco, and Jim Walters, Mt. Savage, shared six of the losers' nine bingles. The score:

Walcott Wants Next Bout For Crown

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 4 (AP)—For $60,000 or 27½ per cent of the gate Jersey Joe Walcott is willing to fight the winner of the Jimmy Bivins-Ezzard Charles bout—but he ties a string to his okay.

The battle must be for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Felix Bocchicchio, Camden promoter who handles Walcott, said today the offer was extended him by Mrs. Florence Turner, Washington D. C. promoter.

"It's okay with us" Bocchicchio said "just as long as the National Boxing Association recognizes the fight for the title."

St. Louis Cops Two From New York Giants

BOSTON, Aug. 4 (INS)—The Cincinnati Reds made it three in a row tonight as they defeated the National League pacemaking Boston Braves by a score of 4 to 2.

It was the fourth consecutive loss for the Braves who twice before suffered four consecutive losses. It cut their lead to four games as the St. Louis Cards went into second place by defeating the Giants twice.

Bob Elliott hit his 15th homer in the fifth.

It was Raffensberger's eighth win and Voiselle's ninth defeat.

CARDS WIN TWO

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals jumped all the way from fourth to second place in the National League when Harry Brecheen held the New York Giants to two hits tonight and blanked them 3 to 0 after the Cards won the afternoon game as well.

Brecheen, winning a keen duel from Larry Jansen, New York ace, even without the aid of Ron Northey's two-run homer in the ninth inning, boosted the Cards to within four games of the pace-setting Boston Braves, who lost to Cincinnati for the third straight time.

In the afternoon game George Munger, who had been unable to finish a game for two and a half months, regained his stamina and went the route to beat the New Yorkers 7 to 2. Box:

Amvets Play Frostburg Today And Westvaco Tossers Friday

Dual Win Here Would Put Locals On Top

Manager Norman Gerdeman's Amvets, trailing Westvaco and Frostburg, the deadlocked leaders by one-half game, have an opportunity to gain undisputed possession of first place by Friday night.

To attain this goal the Amvets must win games today and tomorrow.

If the Amvets can stop Frostburg today at Community Park, the locals will tie Westvaco for first place. And if the Amvets can hurdle Westvaco here tomorrow, Gerdeman's tossers will be on top of the league.

The games here today and tomorrow are scheduled to start at 5:30 and should attract large crowds because they are "naturals."

At the present time Westvaco and Frostburg have records of 18 wins and 7 losses while the Amvets trail by one-half game with a 17-7 record.

There's another game in Cumberland today and it's scheduled at Stitcher Field. It brings together the pacesetting Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion team of the Interstate League and Queen City Brewers, holders of fourth place in the Bi-State circuit.

Proceeds of this contest will be for the benefit of Harry Minnicks, Queen City player, who suffered a broken ankle in the recent game between the Brewers and Barton.

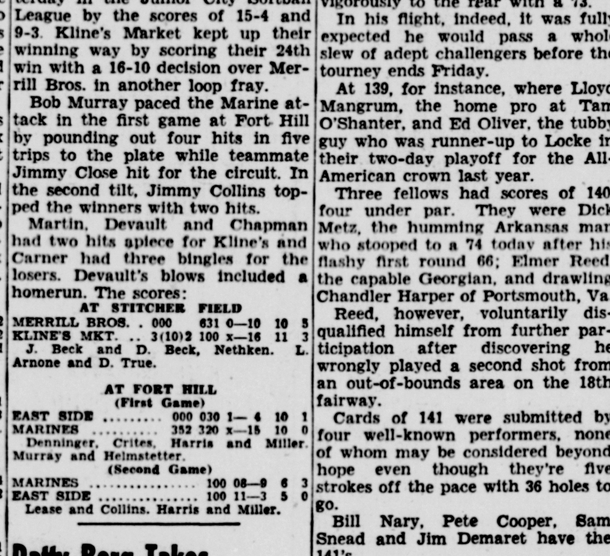
Patty Berg Takes All-American Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (INS)—Women's Western Open champion Patty Berg of Minneapolis seized control halfway through the $4,500 All-American women's tournament today by shooting an 80 while Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the first-round leader, hatched a nine-over-par 85. Thus with 36 holes to go, Miss Berg had a 36-hole score of 156 to 157 for Mrs. Zaharias, who yesterday tied the course record with a four-under-par 72. Miss Berg was helped immeasurably during today's windbeset second round by an eagle-3 on the second hole, coming when she holed a 90-yard approach shot.



TOP LAST HURDLE—Bill Porter (left) clears the final hurdle in the 110-meter high hurtle event of the 1948 Olympiad at Wembley Stadium England, and goes or to win the race in 13.9 seconds, a new record. The 22-year-old former Navy ensign led the U. S. hurdlers in a clean sweep of the first three places in the event yesterday. Craig "Spider" Dixon can be seen on the right trailing the winner closely. Clyde Scott of Arkansas, not shown, finished second in the race.

Herman Barron Takes Lead In Tam O'Shanter

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (INS)—Swarthy Herman Barron stole another four strokes from par at Tam O'Shanter today to lift the lead from Ralph Guldahl halfway through the $31,000 All-American professional golf tourney, the one Barron won in 1946.

Barron's second straight 68 gave the 39-year-old New Yorker a 36-hole total of 136, a stroke up on Guldahl and two swings ahead of South Africa Bobby Locke, who won the All-American last year and today came a-hurtling out of the pack with a five-under-par 67.

Guldahl's presence among the top three could be ascribed to the principle of initial momentum. The well-preserved Chicagoan, who won two U. S. open titles before he was 30, broke the course record with an eight-under par 64 yesterday, and that carried him through today, when he was last seen marching vigorously to the rear with a 73.

In his flight, indeed, it was fully expected he would pass a whole slew of adept challengers before the tourney ends Friday.

At 139, for instance, where Lloyd Mangrum, the home pro at Tam O'Shanter, and Ed Oliver, the tubby guy who was runner-up to Locke in their two-day playoff for the All-American crown last year.

Three fellows had scores of 140, four under par. They were Dick Metz, the humming Arkansas man who stooped to a 74 today after his flashy first round 66; Elmer Reed, the capable Georgian, and drawling Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va.

Reed, however, voluntarily disqualified himself from further participation after discovering he wrongly played a second shot from an out-of-bounds area on the 18th fairway.

Cards of 141 were submitted by four well-known performers, none of whom may be considered beyond hope even though they're five strokes off the pace with 36 holes to go.

Bill Nary, Pete Cooper, Sam Snead and Jim Demaret have the 141's.

Joan Rilling Wins In City Tourney

Joan Rilling won a hard, three-set match from Henrietta Lippold yesterday in the city tennis tournament to advance to the semi-finals. The scores were 7-9, 9-7, 6-1.

Miss Rilling will meet the current champion, Mrs. Ralph Higgins, with the winner slated to oppose Mrs. Gordon Bowie in the finals.

Lua Syckes will meet Jimmy Stakem in a quarter-final round match today on the Country Club courts in the men's division of the tennis tourney.

CCC Golf Team Evens Series With Somerset

Locals Take Second Match By 25 To 11

Cumberland Country Club men golfers evened accounts with Somerset, Pa., linksmen and marked up their fifth victory in seven matches this season by turning in a 25-11 triumph over the Pennsylvanians yesterday at the local club.

The CCC outfit, which lost 17½ to 15½ at Somerset, copped eight of yesterday's 12 matches and broke even in another. James Beacham, who paired with John Manley to defeat Dr. Hart and R. Boose, 3 and 0, shot a sparkling 72, one over par.

After Cumberland squared accounts with the Somerset outfit, arrangements were made to stage a rubber match at Somerset on September 8. Yesterday's scores:

Steve Gaydoe and Web Yoder, Somerset, defeated Carroll Boggs and C. S. Catherman, Jr., 2½ and ½.

C. Van Roby and Ed Mattingly, Cumberland, defeated J. Vargo and Al Shoemaker, 2½ and ½.

National Junior Matches Postponed

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP)—Heavy morning rains put a crimp in the national junior and boys tennis championships today by washing out scheduled fourth round singles tests in the junior division and third round boys matches.

Officials, surveying the water-swamped courts at Kalamazoo College's Stowe Stadium, indicated that play could not be resumed before Thursday.

In that case two rounds of singles matches will be jammed into a single day's program, thinning both divisions to semi-finalists by Friday. To clear the way for the singles, many of today's and Thursday's doubles contests will be shifted to the old college courts and be played tomorrow.

Two days of steady play in the week-long championships already have reduced the big field of 152 starters to a dwindling list of 16 survivors in each division.

Dick Mouledous of New Orleans, seeded first among the juniors after advancing to the 1947 finals before losing to Herbert (Buddy) Behrens, still ruled as the youngster to beat, though second seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, the western junior champ, was at the peak of his game and was rated a top threat.

Other highly regarded players still in the running for the title vacated by Behrens when he became over age include national interscholastic champ Gil Bogley of Chevy Chase, Md., steady Keston Deimling of Chicago, and Canadian Lorne Maine of Vancouver, B. C.

Claiming A Horse Is A Gamble Too

Claiming a horse may not be all sugar and honey for a turfman. When he deposits a claim in a sealed box, he must worry all during the claiming race, for if anything happens to the thoroughbred during the running of the event and he is afterward adjudged the new owner, the horse is his no matter what its condition.

Even if the horse is killed during the race, and claims have been entered, the new owner is awarded the dead animal. Then it's up to him to pay all the necessary expenses for disposal.

Racing rules regarding claiming races make it so that the customers at the mutuel windows are not the only gamblers involved in that event.

Corriganville Battles Park For Fourth Place

A battle for fourth place between Narrows Park's Cardinals and the improved Corriganville team is in store for County Softball League fans today when these teams tangle at Narrows Park.

Fourth place is an important spot because that's the lowest a team can finish to get into the Shaughnessy playoffs at the close of the season. Narrows Park holds the 4th spot at present with a 26-17 record. Corriganville is 6th with 25-17. If Corriganville wins the teams will swap places.

In other games on tap today Wellersburg plays host to the Phone Workers, Ellerslie tests the Firemen at Hyndman and the Potomac Valley Cubs invade Allegany Grove.

Bedford Road will be idle and will win by forfeit due to the Corner Merchants dropping out of the circuit.

Joe DiMaggio Plays Despite All Handicaps

Despite a series of injuries, Joe DiMaggio continues to star in the Yankee lineup. Recently, though many a ball player would have quit under the circumstances, DiMaggio has been playing with arch supporters in his spiked shoes and special foam-rubber inner soles to ease the pain caused by his almost raw-red heels.

Bill Porter Is Winner; States Take Big Lead

Smith Captures 400 Meter Swim Trophy

By TED SMITS

LONDON, Aug. 4. (AP)—American track and swimming stars earned two more gold Olympic medals today as Bill Porter of Northwestern led his mates to a clean sweep of the 110-meter high hurdles and ukelele Bill Smith of Honolulu splashed to a surprising triumph in the 400-meter free style swim race.

At the end of five full days of competition, Uncle Sam's men's track team held an overwhelming lead with eight first place winners in 16 events and a total of 156 points. Sweden, the nearest competitor, was hopelessly outdistanced with 44.

In swimming Smith's success gave the American men their fourth straight triumph. It was their third successive new record in the water races.

The 22-year-old Porter skimmed over the sticks in Olympic record time of 13.9 seconds to smash the old mark set by Forrest Towns for America in the 1936 games at Berlin.

American Show

It was an American show with Clyde Scott, the football star from Navy and Arkansas, and Craig Dixon of UCLA running close together in the early stages. When Porter put on his final spurt he edged Scott and Dixon who were clocked in 14.1, equalling the old standard.

The hurdlers' triumph was as complete as the shot putters yesterday who also swept the first three places in the finals.

Smith's swimming victory, coming late in the day after the track events were completed, was surprising because Jimmy McLane, the 17-year-old lad from Akron, Ohio and Andover Academy, was expected to launch a double in this 400-meter race. He is favored to take the 1,500-meter event later in the week.

Although McLane had set a new Olympic record of 4:42.2 in a trial heat, Smith was too much for him in the finals when he hung up the new Olympic mark of 4:41. These figures obliterated the figures Jack Medica of Seattle, Wash. established at Berlin in 1936 when he won in 4:44.5.

U. S. Divers Lead

The men's diving team, reduced to two members because of the injury to Miller Anderson of Ohio State, ranked one-two after four of the eight dives in the high diving competition that will be finished tomorrow. Dr. Sammy Lee, the army medic from Pasadena, Calif. was out front with 51.51 points to 48.94 for Bruce Harlan of Ohio State, the Olympic springboard champ.

The crowd of 75,000, including the King and Queen of England, thrilled to the brilliant performance of Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland, a golden-haired housewife, who won her second title in the 80-meter hurdles. Mrs. Blankers-Koen beat her own world record for the distance by scooting home in 11:2 seconds.

As she already had taken the 100-meter race, Mrs. Blankers-Koen had a chance to eclipse the fine performance of Babe Didrikson—now Mrs. Mildred Zaharias—who had two firsts and a second in 1932 at Los Angeles. Mrs. Blankers-Koen withdrew from the broad jump but she also is entered in the high jump and relay.

Michelene Ostermeyer of France also became a double winner with her winning shot put effort of 45 Ft. 1½ ins. She already had won the discus. V. O. Gyarmati of Hungary copped the women's broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 8¼ inches. There were no Americans in the first six, the U. S. women's team being completely outdistanced in all track and field events.

One U. S. Distance Man

After leading the qualifiers into the javelin finals, Martin Biles of the University of California dropped into sixth place as Kaj Routavaar of Finland won with a throw of 228 feet 10½ inches. Dr. Steve Seymour of Los Angeles was second and Bob Likins of San Jose State College was eighth.

Only one American qualified for the 1,500 meter finals as Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin finished third in a heat won by the favored Swede, Lennart Strand.

In the women's swimming competition, Karen Margrethe Harup of Denmark broke her own Olympic record by taking a semi-final heat of the 100-meter backstroke in 1:15.5. Yesterday she did it in 1:15.6.

The women's 400-meter relay record really took a beating as the 4:35 mark by Holland at Berlin in 1936, was bettered three times in trial heats. Denmark posted a 4:33.5 in defeating the American girls, who made it in 4:34.1. Then a Dutch quartet regained the record for their native land in 4:31.3. The finals will be held Friday.

The U. S. contenders were eliminated in the foils division of men's fencing. Silvio Giolito of Woodside, N. Y., and Dean Cetrulo of Hollywood, Calif., were defeated in the semi-finals.

American yachtmen won two Olympic races and finished high in three others during the day's competition. The U. S. scored in both the six-meter international and star classes in the second of a series of seven races to determine class championships.

Capt. W. O. G. Grut of Swden took the modern pentathlon title with Maj. G. B. Moore of Chevy Chase, Md., finishing second. The 34-year-old Swedish officer turned in a record low score of 16 points for the five events.

Cleveland Fans Setting Pace In Major Attendance

Tribe Shooting For New All-Time Mark

By DICK SMITH

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4—(AP)—Pennant feverish Cleveland fans, setting the pace for major league baseball attendance, will break another turnstile record tomorrow when the Indians play Washington.

That's assuming, of course, it doesn't rain—a not unreasonable assumption considering rain checks haven't meant a thing to 1,516,257 customers who've paid their way into the Lakefront stadium on the 39 playing dates there so far this season.

With 26 home dates left, the league-leading Tribe is within 5,721 of equalling the 1,521,978 gate here for all of last season. Even the most optimistic fans didn't regard the 1947 fourth-placers as pennant contenders, but they turned out in numbers that swept away the 1,057,289 record set in 1946 when crowd-conscious Bill Veeck became Tribe president.

Advance sales indicate hitting 2,000,000 at the big municipal bowl this year will be easy. In fact, the Tribe's front office is shooting at the major league all-time season record of 2,265,512 set by the New York Yankees in 1946.

Last night, for the fifth time this season, more than 70,000 streamed to the stadium to watch the Indians. Leroy (Satchel) Paige, beating Washington 5-3 in his first major league start, was the big drawing card for the 72,434 gate which moved the Tribe ahead of the New York Yankees' 1948 home attendance of 1,511,781 for 41 home playing dates.

Tuesday night's near sellout set a new night game attendance record here, exceeding the 65,797 at the Yankee game last June 23.

Cleveland's 1948 fans have hung up two major league attendance records—73,163 for an opening game, when the Tribe beat St. Louis, and 82,781 at a Sunday doubleheader June 20 with Philadelphia.

The other times the gate bettered 70,000 were on rainy May 23 when 78,431 turned out for a doubleheader with the Yankees and last Sunday when 70,702 watched the Tribe stop the upsurging Boston Red Sox with a double defeat.

Bucs Sell Erickson

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 4—(INS)—Purchase of veteran hurler Paul Erickson from the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today by the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association.

Erickson posted a 7-12 record with the Chicago Cubs last season and won two games this year for the Philadelphia Phillies before being shunted to the New York Giants. The Pirates obtained the pitcher from the Giants on waivers.

Jean Baptiste Nompere de Champagny, Duc de Cadore, 1756-1834, was a French courtier and diplomat. He served in the American Revolution.

Bucs Sell Erickson

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 4—(INS)—Purchase of veteran hurler Paul Erickson from the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today by the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association.

Erickson posted a 7-12 record with the Chicago Cubs last season and won two games this year for the Philadelphia Phillies before being shunted to the New York Giants. The Pirates obtained the pitcher from the Giants on waivers.

Jean Baptiste Nompere de Champagny, Duc de Cadore, 1756-1834, was a French courtier and diplomat. He served in the American Revolution.

Just Between Us

Rumor Is Always Ugly; Fight It By Ignoring It

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Nancy Mottram

Rumor isn't a pretty thing. But people like to talk, and the conversation is bound to veer around to the subject of a mutual friend, or even someone you don't know too well. And lots of times, though you start out with no intent to be vicious, your words begin a chain reaction of trouble.

You can't resist making a snide crack once in a while. It's human nature. But it can be picked up by evesdropping ears, and you can land on the wrong side of the one involved in less time than it took you to say it. Or, by being quoted to every Tom, Dick and Harry, that remark can change a lot in the process, and wind up as a really cruel piece of chatter.

Perhaps you've been on the receiving end of this sort of trouble. When it comes to your attention, you think that every whisper is about you, and you can't help but be furious—and hurt.

When you find yourself in that sort of spot, what can you do to clear it up? Rush out, full of anger and denial, with a tremendous chip on your shoulder? Decide to give that nameless source the same medicine, and start your own tongue wagging, letting words fall where they may? Or would it be better to stay as cool, calm and collected as possible, and think over your strategy thoroughly before taking any steps?

If you can't pin down the time, place and person who began the whole thing, don't begin to beat your head against a brick wall, or worse, take the attitude of being sorry for yourself. You won't be solving anything.

A lot of loud noise on the matter from you will keep your grief before the public. The more attention it gets, the larger an issue it becomes, and people who ordinarily wouldn't have heard about it are let in on all the details. Instead of dying away or being pushed aside for a new subject, it's talked over, joked about, and causes you misery that much longer.

The wisest way to tackle rumor is to ignore it. When news of it comes to you, explain your side quietly, and then do your best to forget it. If the rumor-mongers learn that you have confidence enough in yourself and in the loyalty of your friends to disregard it, they'll turn to others who can't accept the fact that sooner or later, they're going to have to take that sort of thing in their stride.

Miss Mottram cannot answer all letters personally, but the most important ones will be answered in her column.

Most Prices Steady At Local Stockyards

A heavy run of stock was reported Tuesday at the Cumberland Stock Yards. Officials said the market was steady at last week's prices on most stock with the exception of hogs which were a little higher. The report:

Fair to medium steers 27-31; plain and fair steers 23-26; stock cattle 23-26; good butcher heifers 25-27; plain to medium heifers 19-24; good butcher heiferettes and cows 22½-25; medium cows 17-20; shelly kind 14-16½.

Good bulls 24½-26½; medium bulls 22-23½; plain and common bulls 19-21; good veal calves 30-33; medium calves 26-29; light and plain calves 18-30 cents.

Good hogs 29¼-30.1; heavy hogs and sows 21½-24; pigs $7.25 to $11 a head; shoats $15 to $19. Medium lambs 24-26½; good chickens 38-42½; old hens 25-28. Horses $47.50 to $65 a head.

Next door reminds us that one of our crying needs is more spankings.

On an average day, the steel industry uses 4,600,000,000 gallons of water, or nearly twice the amount consumed by New York City.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Romantic Ideas Can Go To Extremes, 20-Year-Old Girl Is Advised

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a certain boy for six months and we have become very fond of each other.

Recently my mother has become very peeved about my going out with this boy. She admits he is a lovely boy but insists that he is definitely not for me. She points out that he has no college training (neither have I), has no trade, no position in life and no money. She adds that she has had a hard life, and has had to make many sacrifices, and couldn't stand my making the same mistake. I try to say that when I marry, it will be for love and not for money, but Mom comes back with, "When no money comes in, love flies out the window."

Should I break off with this boy before we become more deeply attached, or see him against my mother's wishes and try to argue the point further with her? I am 20 and he is 22. "LENORE"

Dear "Lenore":

I certainly don't believe that either a college education, a fancy position in life, or a lot of money are essential to the making of a happy marriage, but neither do I believe that young people should be talking about getting married when the boy is not equipped to earn a living. It is all very well to talk about marrying "for love and not for money," but there is such a thing as carrying this to a foolish extreme.

I think it is quite likely that if you stopped talking about marriage now, while you and this boy are so far from being ready for it, your mother would have a lot more sympathy with your romance. When this young man has prepared himself to take care of a wife, she will probably make no further objections, and if you make it clear that you have no idea of getting married until he reaches that point, she will probably be willing to have you go on seeing him in the meantime.

Age Difference Too Much

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About two weeks ago I met a boy at a dance that I attend every week. He is quiet and polite and very nice. I would like to get better acquainted, and I know he feel the same way for he told me so. But he is 22 years old and I am 16. Do you think he is too old for me? "DOUBTFUL"

Dear "Doubtful":

Yes, I'm afraid I do think that at your time of life a six years' age difference is too much. You, presumably, are still in school, while he has probably been out several years, and your interests are, or should be, quite different. I think it would be much better if you went around with boys in your own age group.

In any event, any gesture toward developing the friendship should come from the man first.

KEYSER

W. Va. Firemen Plan Convention In Keyser Week Of August 23-28

$1,650 In Prizes Will Be Awarded In Giant Parade Planned On August 28

KEYSER—Complete co-operation of city officials of Keyser with the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company during the week of August 23-28 when Keyser firemen will be hosts to the annual V-J Day celebration and the State Fireman's Convention was assured the volunteer firemen by Mayor John C. Freeland at a special meeting of the group held recently.

Mayor Freeland was requested by firemen to have the largest key possible made to present to the president of the State Fireman's Association when they convene here for their annual convention August 26.

Invitations have been sent to more than 200 fire companies, bands, and drum corps in West Virginia and surrounding states, William Miller, general chairman of the convention said.

The V-J Day celebration will get underway August 23 when an amateur contest will be held that night on Davis Street. Persons of all ages having any kind of talent may enter the contest, the chairman said.

Plan Demonstration

Highlighting the first night of the celebration will be a demonstration on "How not to fight a fire" by the Bungleville Fire Department of Keyser. The demonstration will be staged at the rear of the Baltimore and Ohio Station.

A hooking contest by members of the Mineral County and Allegany County, Md., fire departments will be staged Tuesday night on Maple Avenue.

Following the contest will be an auction sale of contents of a ladies purse. All women in Keyser and surrounding communities are asked to be on hand with their pocketbooks loaded. The purse with the most contents will be auctioned to the highest bidder.

Boxing bouts are scheduled for Wednesday night when local and out-of-town teams will compete.

Thursday, August 26, will mark the first day of the fireman's convention with registration that morning at 9 o'clock. Convention headquarters will be the building just off North Mineral Street formerly occupied by Snider Brothers. Following registration of delegates, a meeting will be held.

Entertainment for that afternoon includes a baseball game between the Keyser Athletic Club and unnamed opponent at 4 p. m.

A banquet for visiting delegates will be held that evening at 6 o'clock at the Odd Fellow Hall, Mineral Street, and will be followed by a dance.

Parade Planned

Miller said Senator Revercomb and Governor Clarence W. Meadows have been invited to attend the banquet.

Registration and meeting of delegates will again be held on Friday. Climaxing the week-long celebration will be a mammoth parade to be staged in Keyser Saturday afternoon, August 28, at 2 o'clock. Prizes amounting to $1,650 will be awarded winners in the parade.

Keyser citizens having spare bedrooms are asked to contact the chairman or any members of the organization, Miller said.

Keyser firemen participated in a parade at Lonaconing last night and will take part in LaVale's annual summer festival parade tonight.

Frostburg VFW Plans Club And Recreation Hall

Remodeling Work Will Begin Soon

FROSTBURG—Ranson Nave, an official of John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced yesterday that the room on East Main Street now occupied by the Acme Market will be vacated August 14. The VFW, which purchased the building several months ago from the Henry Mayer Estate, will begin immediately after the room is vacated to remodel the lower floor for use as a club and the second floor for use as a meeting room and recreation hall for young people, Nave said.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, organized here in 1936, are now occupying quarters in the Betz Building, East Main Street, which, after it is vacated by the VFW, will be used by the G. C. Murphy Company.

The improvements to be made on the former Mayer property, according to Nave, will include new flooring on the entire street floor, repainting of the room and the installation of modern equipment. Practically all tenants in the second floor apartments have vacated the premises, making it possible to begin remodeling work on the second floor soon.

Highlighting the first night of the celebration will be a demonstration on "How not to fight a fire" by the Bungleville Fire Department of Keyser. The demonstration will be staged at the rear of the Baltimore and Ohio Station.

A hooking contest by members of the Mineral County and Allegany County, Md., fire departments will be staged Tuesday night on Maple Avenue.

Following the contest will be an auction sale of contents of a ladies purse. All women in Keyser and surrounding communities are asked to be on hand with their pocketbooks loaded. The purse with the most contents will be auctioned to the highest bidder.

Boxing bouts are scheduled for Wednesday night when local and out-of-town teams will compete.

Thursday, August 26, will mark the first day of the fireman's convention with registration that morning at 9 o'clock. Convention headquarters will be the building just off North Mineral Street formerly occupied by Snider Brothers. Following registration of delegates, a meeting will be held.

Entertainment for that afternoon includes a baseball game between the Keyser Athletic Club and unnamed opponent at 4 p. m.

A banquet for visiting delegates will be held that evening at 6 o'clock at the Odd Fellow Hall, Mineral Street, and will be followed by a dance.

Parade Planned

Miller said Senator Revercomb and Governor Clarence W. Meadows have been invited to attend the banquet.

Registration and meeting of delegates will again be held on Friday. Climaxing the week-long celebration will be a mammoth parade to be staged in Keyser Saturday afternoon, August 28, at 2 o'clock. Prizes amounting to $1,650 will be awarded winners in the parade.

Keyser citizens having spare bedrooms are asked to contact the chairman or any members of the organization, Miller said.

Lonaconing Opens Street Light Festival With Parade, Carnival

LONACONING — Lee Morgan, lighting superintendent of the Potomac Edison Company, Hagerstown, congratulated Lonaconing as its new white way street lighting system was turned on last night.

Speaking after a parade opening the three-day celebration in honor of the street lights, Morgan listed the two main uses of street lights as the prevention of accidents and reduction of crime. He was introduced by James Getty, and Morgan Riley, chairman of the entertainment committee for the event, was master of ceremonies.

A color guard from Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, VFW, Lonaconing, led the parade, followed by cars ridden by "Miss Lonaconing," Marion Devlin; Mayor Alex Burt and Morgan.

Marching behind them were drum and bugle corps, bands, fire trucks and ladies' auxiliaries from Maryland and West Virginia. Nine local girls rode on a float sponsored by the local VFW.

Winners in the band competition were the Keyser, W. Va., and Frostburg Arion groups. Judging them were Albie Green and John McPartland.

William Abbott and William Broderick judged Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg, and Fulton Meyers Post No. 153, Cumberland, the best drum and bugle corps.

Other winners were:

Ladies' auxiliaries: Barton Hose Co. No. 1, Barton, Md., Ollie Eichhorn and Gertrude Cave, judges; fire companies: Keyser, James Merrback, Walter Green and Morgan Riley, judges; and best company drum major, Tally Hanna, Kelly-Mansfield Post, Piedmont, W. Va., Bill Kelly and W. K. Crowe, judges.

A street carnival was held after the parade which was attended by approximately 5,000 persons. The highlight of tomorrow's celebration will be a barber shop quartet contest.

Frostburg VFW Plans Club And Recreation Hall

Remodeling Work Will Begin Soon

FROSTBURG—Ranson Nave, an official of John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced yesterday that the room on East Main Street now occupied by the Acme Market will be vacated August 14. The VFW, which purchased the building several months ago from the Henry Mayer Estate, will begin immediately after the room is vacated to remodel the lower floor for use as a club and the second floor for use as a meeting room and recreation hall for young people, Nave said.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, organized here in 1936, are now occupying quarters in the Betz Building, East Main Street, which, after it is vacated by the VFW, will be used by the G. C. Murphy Company.

The improvements to be made on the former Mayer property, according to Nave, will include new flooring on the entire street floor, repainting of the room and the installation of modern equipment. Practically all tenants in the second floor apartments have vacated the premises, making it possible to begin remodeling work on the second floor soon.

Jaycees Find

she was assisted by the committee in charge and ended among the first three in the talent competition.

George H. Hanst, editor of the Oakland Republican, said publicity yesterday "was the first intimation we have had up here about any dissatisfaction with the way the contest was conducted. It also was a surprise to other members of the paper."

Miss Erma Jean Chambers, who won the Miss Frostburg title and placed second to Miss Cumberland, said she has nothing whatever to say and added that if there is any controversy it is up to the Jaycees. She did say there was some drinking at a dinner after the Miss Maryland pageant but that she had nothing alcoholic to drink.

Dr. Cook Not A Jaycee

Dr. Albert C. Cook, listed with the Frostburg Jaycee committee as advising of other irregularities, said he is not a member of the Frostburg Jaycees and went to the home of Rev. George Wehler where the meeting was held Tuesday night, on an entirely different matter.

"They asked me," Dr. Cook said, "what I had heard in Cumberland from various people. I said that I had heard some criticism of the contest by Cumberland residents at a luncheon the day after the pageant, that I had overheard the conversation. I certainly didn't speak with authority. I had no idea I would be considered as an authority. It was merely passing comment. I wasn't even present at the pageant."

The Frostburg committee, under the names of Rev. George L. Wehler, Ray Thomas, Jack Hayes, Walter Mackay, and Ray Layman with Dr. Albert C. Cook, advising of other alleged irregularities, issued the following statement for publication yesterday afternoon:

"After hearing many reverberations from all parts of the state, including many prominent citizens of Cumberland, on the 'Miss Cumberland's pageant, the natural conclusion is that the directors were prejudiced and as a result the competition was unfair.

"And as a result, the Hagerstown, Oakland and Frostburg groups will not enter a 'Miss Maryland' pageant so long as it is conducted in the manner it was this year.

"To further show the unfairness of this affair the contestants very definitely felt that undue attention and special direction was given to 'Miss Cumberland' by the directors. In fact, some of the contestants were given little or no rehearsal for the pageant.

"Furthermore, the sponsors of the various contestants were instructed that only one attendant was permitted in the dressing rooms and back stage, which was followed except by one, 'Miss Cumberland', who had as many as three and four. It was also noted that one of the judges entered the dressing rooms. Why was this permitted?

"That is not the most serious offense. It is known that one of the judges was a relative of the director, the latter having the audacity to announce that the judges were chosen in all fairness and from out of state. Also, one of the judges, we are informed, had dinner with 'Miss Cumberland.' Is that fair play?

"If fairness was the goal of the directors, the judges should not have seen the contestants before they arrived on the stage. Remember, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is not to blame, because it is based upon the principle of fair play.

"That is not all. Prior to the parade, one of the contestants was left standing in the hotel because she was told one of the committee would see to it that she would be escorted to the place of the awaiting car for the parade. It was not until her sponsors became suspicious that they went in search of her and found her standing alone.

"Another incident which should not have occurred was the vulgarity of 'The Bump' dance during the course of a vocal solo during one of the intermissions. Up until this point, it was a clean show, but from then on dirt was evident. The public was advised that this is a clean show. No wonder it is difficult to secure contestants, when the directors themselves cannot be trusted.

"There is still another incident which proves there was prejudice on the part of the directors. One of the contestants, wishing the advice of her instructor but who was not her chaperoning assistant, was refused her request by the remark that 'We can get along very well without your instructor.'

"Such remarks are definitely uncalled for. Furthermore, a very sarcastic remark was made on stage concerning one of the contestant's garb.

"It was also understood that whistling was not to be permitted, which was done and nothing said about it. It was further understood that a time limit was set on the display of the contestants' talent and limited to one act. But 'Miss Cumberland' not only had two but performed a glorified strip-tease act as well as consuming the most time. Why was this permitted?

"There is one who needs to be congratulated and that is 'Miss State Teachers College' for withdrawing because it was an illegal entry inasmuch as there was no prior contest for her.

"The crowning incident of breaking rules occurred after the pageant at a party for the contestants. The public was again guaranteed that the contestants were not permitted in bars, etc., where intoxicating beverages are sold. However, the party was held in such a place and the contestants received same if desired.

"Furthermore, if the directors had been fair and impartial when the vote was so very close, for their own self-respect as well as for the city they would have told the judges that inasmuch as 'Miss Maryland' was chosen from Cumberland last year, 'We hereby withdraw in favor of the runnerup.'

"On the basis of the aforementioned incidents it is deemed advisable that not only a recount of the votes be taken but the entire pageant be contested a second time."

The Frostburg group also chided the directors for not issuing complimentary tickets to parents of contestants.

Miss Erma Jean Chambers, participated in the contest as "Miss Frostburg," finished as runnerup to Miss Lookabaugh. "Miss Baltimore" was announced as the winner of third place.

W. E. Mueller, sponsor of the "Miss Potomac" entry, sent the Jaycees the following letter:

"Gentlemen, I find it necessary to call your attention to the unfair manner the rehearsal for the 'Miss Maryland' pageant was handled by Jack F. Moore, your pageant director, in reference to time allotted each contestant and in applying the rules to all contestants.

"The orchestra being available only on Sunday afternoon, this time was set aside for talent rehearsals. It would have been simple arithmetic to divide the time, fairly and equally. However, Moore gave and encouraged 'Miss Cumberland's' use of all the time she wanted, and our contestant, 'Miss Potomac,' was denied the right to practice or rehearse her talent, because Mr. Moore explained to me, it was a dress rehearsal and our contestant was not in costume.

"This rule did not apply to 'Miss Cumberland' on Sunday when she wore a playsuit which she did not use on Monday night. In some degree or other 'Miss Cumberland' monopolized rehearsal time of all of the contestants.

"This unfairness and partiality was carried further at Monday's rehearsal when the remaining time before it was necessary to check out of the hotel was taken by 'Miss Cumberland' and 'Miss Frostburg' to rehearse their talents.

"Inasmuch as our contestant had not once had the opportunity to rehearse her talent, I asked Mr. Moore for time for her. He then gave her one minute and told her to limit her talent performance Monday night to three minutes. He also gave her one minute to practice into a dead microphone. I went down to the auditorium to check on this and asked Moore to let her try again. He emphatically refused on the grounds that he was running the show and I had no business there.

"Just previous to this he permitted a dancing teacher (I am told) to coach both 'Miss Cumberland' and 'Miss Frostburg.' I told Moore I would enter a complaint with the Jaycees and the Atlantic City committee on his unfair handling of the rehearsals.

"I finally found Miss Slaughter, the Atlantic City representative, dining downtown and she told me she heard the argument between Mr. Moore and myself and insisted that 'Miss Potomac' be given at least a last-minute opportunity to rehearse her talent. Miss Slaughter showed 'Miss Potomac' how to give her performance and it was not in the manner in which Mr. Moore wanted her to do it.

all of the girls," Miss Lookabaugh declared.

"I attempted to model three pieces of wearing apparel, in what I considered the best modeling fashion, but at no time thought I was doing a "strip-tease" as the Frostburg Jaycees charged," she said, adding that she simply wore a suit and play suit on to the stage in an effort to save time in changing.

"My father was very angry when he read charges filed by the Frostburg group," Miss Lookabaugh said, "but I have never even thought of withdrawing."

National Pageant

"1. First and foremost the judges were all from out of state, so they could not have been Cumberland people or Cumberland boosters.

"2. The contestants were numbered and did not wear city identifications, therefore the judges could not have been partial to any city.

"3. The Cumberland Jaycees held a meeting of judges and contestants prior to the actual contest which is in accord with national headquarter's rules."

The time limit of the talent routine is set at three minutes, Miss Slaughter declared, and if Miss Cumberland used more than that time is was not in accord with our rule, however "I did not clock the time."

Jack F. Moore, pageant director, said the time limit was waived in the state contest and each contestant was permitted as much time as necessary for the talent drill."

Answering a charge by the Frostburg group that rehearsals were conducted in a biased manner, Miss Slaughter said:

"As far as rehearsals are concerned I do not know whether partiality was shown. However, when I found that the sponsor of Miss Potomac was not pleased with her rehearsals, I personally stepped into the picture and insisted that I be permitted to assist her with her talent presentation and gave her the help and advice of my years of experience in directing contests.

"No other contestant, including Miss Cumberland, received advice from me even though I knew I could have improved Miss Cumberland's talent routine. I made this concession to Miss Potomac so that she would feel she had our enthusiastic support. However, due to the actions of her sponsor she might have been discouraged by his complaining.

Miss Slaughter said she sincerely believed Miss Frostburg, Miss Erma Jean Chambers, would have captured the state title if "she had been a little more talented."

"With her high rating in personality and intellect, Miss Frostburg would have overcome any competition of beauty of face and figure which was surpassed by Miss Cumberland," Miss Slaughter said, adding, "I told Miss Frostburg immediately following the contest that if she devoted the next year to improving her talent she would be a serious contender for the Miss Maryland title and the Miss America title.

Miss Chambers topped the list of contestants in the talent phase of the state contest but was topped by 13 points in he bathing suit phase, allowing Miss Cumberland to win the title by a three-point margin.

"If the Cumberland Jaycees in their enthusiasm devoted time and attention to training Miss Cumberland, the results under the fairest of judging should be an inspiration to all local contest directors to pattern their local pageant on the Cumberland Jaycee line so they could reach out, find and train in advance of state finals the most eligible girl in their city to vie for the state title," Miss Slaughter declared.

she was assisted by the committee in charge and ended among the first three in the talent competition.

George H. Hanst, editor of the Oakland Republican, said publicity yesterday "was the first intimation we have had up here about any dissatisfaction with the way the contest was conducted. It also was a surprise to other members of the paper."

Miss Erma Jean Chambers, who won the Miss Frostburg title and placed second to Miss Cumberland, said she has nothing whatever to say and added that if there is any controversy it is up to the Jaycees. She did say there was some drinking at a dinner after the Miss Maryland pageant but that she had nothing alcoholic to drink.

Dr. Cook Not A Jaycee

Dr. Albert C. Cook, listed with the Frostburg Jaycee committee as advising of other irregularities, said he is not a member of the Frostburg Jaycees and went to the home of Rev. George Wehler where the meeting was held Tuesday night, on an entirely different matter.

"They asked me," Dr. Cook said, "what I had heard in Cumberland from various people. I said that I had heard some criticism of the contest by Cumberland residents at a luncheon the day after the pageant, that I had overheard the conversation. I certainly didn't speak with authority. I had no idea I would be considered as an authority. It was merely passing comment. I wasn't even present at the pageant."

The Frostburg committee, under the names of Rev. George L. Wehler, Ray Thomas, Jack Hayes, Walter Mackay, and Ray Layman with Dr. Albert C. Cook, advising of other alleged irregularities, issued the following statement for publication yesterday afternoon:

"After hearing many reverberations from all parts of the state, including many prominent citizens of Cumberland, on the 'Miss Cumberland's pageant, the natural conclusion is that the directors were prejudiced and as a result the competition was unfair.

"And as a result, the Hagerstown, Oakland and Frostburg groups will not enter a 'Miss Maryland' pageant so long as it is conducted in the manner it was this year.

"To further show the unfairness of this affair the contestants very definitely felt that undue attention and special direction was given to 'Miss Cumberland' by the directors. In fact, some of the contestants were given little or no rehearsal for the pageant.

"Furthermore, the sponsors of the various contestants were instructed that only one attendant was permitted in the dressing rooms and back stage, which was followed except by one, 'Miss Cumberland', who had as many as three and four. It was also noted that one of the judges entered the dressing rooms. Why was this permitted?

"That is not the most serious offense. It is known that one of the judges was a relative of the director, the latter having the audacity to announce that the judges were chosen in all fairness and from out of state. Also, one of the judges, we are informed, had dinner with 'Miss Cumberland.' Is that fair play?

"If fairness was the goal of the directors, the judges should not have seen the contestants before they arrived on the stage. Remember, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is not to blame, because it is based upon the principle of fair play.

"That is not all. Prior to the parade, one of the contestants was left standing in the hotel because she was told one of the committee would see to it that she would be escorted to the place of the awaiting car for the parade. It was not until her sponsors became suspicious that they went in search of her and found her standing alone.

"Another incident which should not have occurred was the vulgarity of 'The Bump' dance during the course of a vocal solo during one of the intermissions. Up until this point, it was a clean show, but from then on dirt was evident. The public was advised that this is a clean show. No wonder it is difficult to secure contestants, when the directors themselves cannot be trusted.

"There is still another incident which proves there was prejudice on the part of the directors. One of the contestants, wishing the advice of her instructor but who was not her chaperoning assistant, was refused her request by the remark that 'We can get along very well without your instructor.'

"Such remarks are definitely uncalled for. Furthermore, a very sarcastic remark was made on stage concerning one of the contestant's garb.

"It was also understood that whistling was not to be permitted, which was done and nothing said about it. It was further understood that a time limit was set on the display of the contestants' talent and limited to one act. But 'Miss Cumberland' not only had two but performed a glorified strip-tease act as well as consuming the most time. Why was this permitted?

"There is one who needs to be congratulated and that is 'Miss State Teachers College' for withdrawing because it was an illegal entry inasmuch as there was no prior contest for her.

"The crowning incident of breaking rules occurred after the pageant at a party for the contestants. The public was again guaranteed that the contestants were not permitted in bars, etc., where intoxicating beverages are sold. However, the party was held in such a place and the contestants received same if desired.

"Furthermore, if the directors had been fair and impartial when the vote was so very close, for their own self-respect as well as for the city they would have told the judges that inasmuch as 'Miss Maryland' was chosen from Cumberland last year, 'We hereby withdraw in favor of the runnerup.'

"On the basis of the aforementioned incidents it is deemed advisable that not only a recount of the votes be taken but the entire pageant be contested a second time."

The Frostburg group also chided the directors for not issuing complimentary tickets to parents of contestants.

Miss Erma Jean Chambers, participated in the contest as "Miss Frostburg," finished as runnerup to Miss Lookabaugh. "Miss Baltimore" was announced as the winner of third place.

W. E. Mueller, sponsor of the "Miss Potomac" entry, sent the Jaycees the following letter:

"Gentlemen, I find it necessary to call your attention to the unfair manner the rehearsal for the 'Miss Maryland' pageant was handled by Jack F. Moore, your pageant director, in reference to time allotted each contestant and in applying the rules to all contestants.

"The orchestra being available only on Sunday afternoon, this time was set aside for talent rehearsals. It would have been simple arithmetic to divide the time, fairly and equally. However, Moore gave and encouraged 'Miss Cumberland's' use of all the time she wanted, and our contestant, 'Miss Potomac,' was denied the right to practice or rehearse her talent, because Mr. Moore explained to me, it was a dress rehearsal and our contestant was not in costume.

"This rule did not apply to 'Miss Cumberland' on Sunday when she wore a playsuit which she did not use on Monday night. In some degree or other 'Miss Cumberland' monopolized rehearsal time of all of the contestants.

"This unfairness and partiality was carried further at Monday's rehearsal when the remaining time before it was necessary to check out of the hotel was taken by 'Miss Cumberland' and 'Miss Frostburg' to rehearse their talents.

"Inasmuch as our contestant had not once had the opportunity to rehearse her talent, I asked Mr. Moore for time for her. He then gave her one minute and told her to limit her talent performance Monday night to three minutes. He also gave her one minute to practice into a dead microphone. I went down to the auditorium to check on this and asked Moore to let her try again. He emphatically refused on the grounds that he was running the show and I had no business there.

"Just previous to this he permitted a dancing teacher (I am told) to coach both 'Miss Cumberland' and 'Miss Frostburg.' I told Moore I would enter a complaint with the Jaycees and the Atlantic City committee on his unfair handling of the rehearsals.

"I finally found Miss Slaughter, the Atlantic City representative, dining downtown and she told me she heard the argument between Mr. Moore and myself and insisted that 'Miss Potomac' be given at least a last-minute opportunity to rehearse her talent. Miss Slaughter showed 'Miss Potomac' how to give her performance and it was not in the manner in which Mr. Moore wanted her to do it.

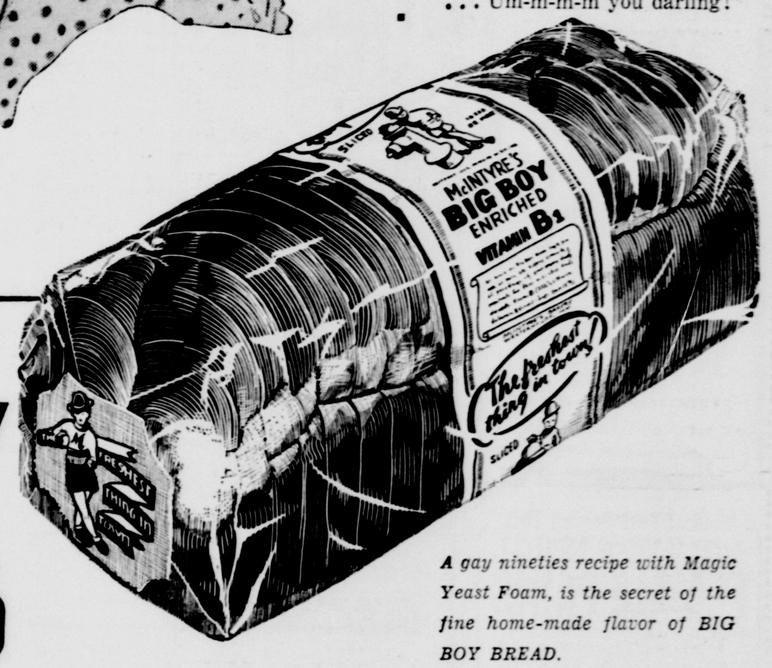
IT'S T.N.T.!

Trinitrotoluene, (T.N.T. to you) and John is going to think that a load of it has gone off under his chin if he comes back from the store with anything but McIntyre's Enriched BIG BOY Bread! I told that husband of mine that if he remembered T.N.T. he couldn't possibly forget the bread .... because McIntyre's Big Boy Bread is T.N.T. ... Tasty ... Nutritious ... Tempting! . That Home-Made flavor brings back memories of Grandma and her warm, sweet-smelling kitchen. That's because McIntyre's uses an old-fashioned gay 90's recipe, with the same Magic Yeast Foam that Grandma used. And that generous helping of B1. Anybody can tell you what an energy builder that is! Then, when it comes to tempting the appetite, ... well just one look at that rich, golden brown ....."Oh, John! You DID get BIG BOY Bread! ... Um-m-m-m you darling!"



BIG BOY Enriched BREAD
A gay nineties recipe with Magic Yeast Foam, is the secret of the fine home-made flavor of BIG BOY BREAD.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Louella Parsons on vacation)

(Louella O. Parsons is on Vacation)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4—(INS)—Dan Duryea, movie bad man, will rob a Hollywood drug store Friday the 13th—and it is not for a scene in a movie!

James Stewart

Dan has agreed to be the "bandit" in an official demonstration before FBI and police officers of a new crime detecting camera. Invented by Sam Rifkin, Los Angeles furniture man, the automatic gadget can be installed in banks, jewelry stores or in homes. The slightest pressure on a concealed button starts actual filming of robberies and other crimes in progress.

If it is what they hope, the new camera will be the greatest "witness" ever presented in a courtroom.

The Duryea "robbery" takes place in a crowded drug store right at the height of the noon activity—and natch, they aren't telling the particular store.

Beautiful blonde Collette Lyons gets the comedy lead in "The Lone Wolf and His Lady" at Columbia. Studio has been turning out these "Lone Wolfers" for years, but this particular one gets the "A" treatment for a couple of good reasons.

The first is a build-up for Collette, who is a top singer and a natural for musical comedies. Last season, she got excellent reviews in the revival of "Show Boat" on Broadway, and was in "The Dolly Sisters" and "Frisco Sal" movies.

Second item of interest is that Ron Randall, Australian discovery, makes his Hollywood debut as the "Wolf."

A trade paper makes an interesting analysis of the effect of current events on the box office. With war talk everywhere, comedies are booming at the ticket windows. The latest Abbott and Costello picture, "Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein," is cleaning up and is the No. 1 grosser in many parts of the country. It may even beat "Buck Privates."

Heavy dramas always take a nose dive when the real life going gets tough—witness "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Another odd observation is that war pictures get a big play in war times and die like dogs in peace times.

Hollywood in shorts: Lowdown on the Gertrude Michael case is man trouble. Ain't it always?

Louis B. Mayer's party honoring K. T. Keller, head of Chrysler, and also the homecoming of his daughters, Irene Selznick and Mrs. William Goetz, was one of the gayest of the year.

Barbara Stanwyck, in a pale pink and white print, looked like a debutante whizzing around the dance floor with Robert Taylor—one of the grandest guys in this town.

Felice Vanderbilt upheld the glamor department, holding up a tres decollete white satin. I saw Joan Crawford chatting for quite a spell with the Douglas Fairbanks, Jrs.

Staying on and on until the wee small hours were Danny Kaye and Sylvia Fine, the Walter Pidgeons, the Mervyn Le Roys, the Joe Pasternaks, Joe Schenck, and some fifty others.

Anita Colby at Ciro's with Jimmy Stewart, seem to be getting almost as steady as Anita Colby with Clark Gable.

Dick Bare, the director, looks so much like Cary Grant that he was heckled when he refused to sign Cary's name on autograph books outside a popular night spot. Dick should be careful about getting Cary in trouble.

Sorry I credited Dmitri Tiomkin with the musical scoring on "Twisted Road" when the honors actually go to Leigh Hartine.

Court Dismisses Miners' Appeals

Chief Judge William A. Huster has dismissed the appeals of a group of miners from a decision of the Maryland Unemployment Board denying them jobless pay benefits as a result of the Memorial Week declared following the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster in 1947.

The Court expressed the opinion that the decision of the Employment Security Board was correct.

One appeal involved James S. Nelson and others employed by the Johnstown Coal and Coke Company, and the other concerned Charles C. Paugh and others employed by the McNitt Coal Company in this county.

"Recent Surveys Prove . . ."

I note with no small surprise that "Look" magazine has been proudly sponsoring a number of ads which prove, according to the good old impartial surveys, that "Look" is second in readership among national magazines. Seems to me this is a significant, if not breath - taking change in advertising technique.

John Crosby

For nigh on twenty-eight years now, I have been listening to the results of "scientific tests," "recent researches" and "impartial surveys" as proclaimed over the radio by announcers. Every last one of them proved that the product being advertised was first in sales or purest by scientific tests, or least likely to cause rickets. At any rate, whatever was being surveyed or researched or tested, the product always won handsomely. I can't recall any one ever boasting about place or show money in these things.

"Look." I think, has stumbled on a challenging device which ought to be further explored. "Recent scientific tests prove," I can hear the announcer saying, "that Glubb's hair tonic is fourth in purity, finishing with a strong stretch drive and almost nosing out Vitaglo, which came in third. This is an immense improvement over 1947, when Glubb's came in last, and was almost ruled off the turf by the Federal Trade Commission.

"Our scientists, of course, are younger and less experienced than the people over at Vitaglo, who have been in this racket for twenty years, but we still have to overtake them in the drive for purity next year, though the odds are 'way against us."

The American consumer is a sucker for the under-dog, and an appeal like that would send them to drugstores in droves. Not tomorrow. Not next week, but RIGHT NOW.

A merchandise expert, which is what they call the man who runs around and gets the prizes for give-away shows, has announced lugubriously that the international situation is raising cain with his profession. This expert, a man named Robbins, says that while the give-away shows are attacting larger and larger audiences, the loot which keeps the customers happy is getting scarcer and scarcer. Stoves, radios, television sets, electrical appliances—all standard items on give-away shows—are harder and harder to get with the Army and Navy competing for scarce steel. The public is also showing a distressing tendency to buy refrigerators in place of winning them, and consequently the producers are increasingly reluctant to give them away.

"We are getting to the point where service prizes will be the giveaway mainstay," said Robbins dolefully. "By service prizes I mean special college or training courses."

The way I look at it, this is the beginning of a vicious circle. Your housewife, once accustomed to winning her deep freeze by knowing the name of the first President of the United States, will come back from her special college course with the names of all the Presidents at her fingertips. Giveaway shows will be grooming a whole set of specially trained jackpot winners, who will just have to be sent back to college for their Ph.D.'s. Then they'll troop back to the giveaway shows so horribly well informed that not even the super-jumbo jackpot question will give them pause. I don't know where it will all end. What can you give a housewife after she's got her Ph.D.? Full professorship, I suppose.

Speaking of experts, my specially trained political adviser has been brooding over some remark made here not long ago on the subject of politicians who appeared before the television cameras with their wrinkles carefully concealed under pancake makeup. The politicos, says my adviser, are courting disaster.

Years ago, he recalled, the artificial coloring of food was prohibited in a pure food law. This high-minded law backfired badly when the housewifes refused to buy stuff. The girls were accustomed to raspberries much redder than nature originally planned, and they were highly suspicious of the sickly looking things that came straight off the bush.

As for artificially colored Congressmen, he claims the reverse will be true. The voter will rear back from the straightened hairline, the widened, unpouched eye, the reworked chin, with the same suspicion that housewives once exhibited toward the unreddened raspberries. The voter, he says, wants the same ugly but recognizably human lawmaker that grandfather used to vote for, warts and all.

In fact, my expert says, your really shrewd politician may eventually get to the point where he pins on a few extra warts before appearing on the video screen.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

"Recent Surveys Prove . . ."

I note with no small surprise that "Look" magazine has been proudly sponsoring a number of ads which prove, according to the good old impartial surveys, that "Look" is second in readership among national magazines. Seems to me this is a significant, if not breath - taking change in advertising technique.

John Crosby

In loving memory of Pvt. Eugene Deffinbaugh, son of Mr. & Mrs. George D. Deffinbaugh, who died in France, August 5, 1944.

There is an Island loveller in its setting,
Than any that our eyes have gazed upon,
Where we shall all awaken, night forgetting,
In the white light of Eternal Dawn.

When we shall know that what seems loss and sorrow,
Is but a dream from which we waken there.
To find that yesterday, today, tomorrow,
Live ever in that Island of Somewhere.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Pvt. Eugene Deffinbaugh, son of Mr. & Mrs. George D. Deffinbaugh, who died in France, August 5, 1946.

There is an Island lovelier in its setting,
Than any that our eyes have gazed upon,
Where we shall all awaken, night forgetting,
In the white light of Eternal Dawn.

When we shall know that what seems loss and sorrow,
Is but a dream from which we waken there.
To find that yesterday, today, tomorrow,
Live ever in that Island of Somewhere.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters & Brothers.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and following the death of our Mother, Mrs. Myrtle Van Horn. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
The Van Horn Family.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and following the death of James Riggins, Piedmont, W. Va. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
Tracy Riggins, Sr. and Family.

We desire to take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness extended during our bereavement, the re-burial of our son and brother, Pfc. Charles Bond Harshbarger, Piedmont, W. Va. We also thank those who sent floral offerings and donated the use of their automobiles for the funeral.
Mrs. Louis Harshbarger & Family.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their floral tributes and the use of their cars at the funeral of our husband and father.
Mrs. C. L. Sisk & Family.

Stock Prices Score Most Decisive Advance In Weeks On Late Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Stock prices climbed rapidly in late trading today after a halting early ascent. The market closed with gains running from fractions to a top of four points in the most decisive advance in two weeks.

Trading volume expanded in the last few minutes of business but on the whole prices responded easily to only small buying orders. Turnover for the day amounted to 870,000 shares, compared with Tuesday's slow 720,000 shares.

Gains of a point or more were posted for United States Steel at 79½, Bethlehem Steel 36¼, General Motors 65, Chrysler 61⅞, Studebaker 26½, Standard Oil (NJ) 80¾, Mission Corporation 59½, Gulf Oil 71¼, Union Pacific 90 (up four), Southern Railway 46½, Southern Pacific 57¾, Santa Fe 114¼, American Smelting 59¾, Dow Chemical 46⅜, Philip Morris 34⅞, American Woolen 56⅛, International Paper 58, and Zenith Radio 33¾.

Wesson Oil and Snowdrift added 1¾ at 33¼ following news of a boosted dividend.

In the curb, higher prices appeared for Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Ford Motor of Canada "A", Pantepec Oil, Louisiana Land, and St. Lawrence preferred "A." Turnover of 180,000 shares compared with 140,000 Tuesday.

Selected railroad loans moved ahead today in an otherwise irregular bond market.

The volume was $3,061,000, not a startling figure, but an improvement over yesterday's $2,170,000 and the best so far this week.

Third Avenue adjustment 5s were very active—$204,000 of the issue sold—as the New York Transit Company turned a cold shoulder to proposals for a seven-cent fare. The current rate is a nickel and the railway had asked eight cents.

United States government bonds edged ahead a little in over-the-counter dealings.

Several Baltimore and Ohio issues advanced by a point or more and a number of Missouri Pacific loans moved up by lesser amounts.

Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s went ahead 1¼ to 69 and New York Central refunding 5s advanced 1¾ to 78¾. Other gainers included Michigan Central 3½s of 1998, Southern Pacific 4½s of 1981 and St. Louis and San Francisco 4½s.

Louisville and Nashville 2⅞s dropped 2¼ to 79¾ and United States Rubber fell a like amount to 92½. Other losers included National Dairy 2¾s, Koppers Company 3s and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western incomes of 1993.

Stock Prices Score Most Decisive Advance In Weeks On Late Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Stock prices climbed rapidly in late trading today after a halting early ascent. The market closed with gains running from fractions to a top of four points in the most decisive advance in two weeks.

Trading volume expanded in the last few minutes of business but on the whole prices responded easily to only small buying orders. Turnover for the day amounted to 870,000 shares, compared with Tuesday's slow 720,000 shares.

Gains of a point or more were posted for United States Steel at 79½, Bethlehem Steel 36¼, General Motors 65, Chrysler 61¾, Studebaker 26½, Standard Oil (NJ) 80¾, Mission Corporation 59½, Gulf Oil 71¼, Union Pacific 90 (up four), Southern Railway 46½, Southern Pacific 57¾, Santa Fe 114¼, American Smelting 59¾, Dow Chemical 46⅜, Philip Morris 34⅞, American Woolen 56⅛, International Paper 58, and Zenith Radio 33¾.

Wesson Oil and Snowdrift added 1¾ at 33¼ following news of a boosted dividend.

In the curb, higher prices appeared for Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Ford Motor of Canada "A", Pantepec Oil, Louisiana Land, and St. Lawrence preferred "A." Turnover of 180,000 shares compared with 140,000 Tuesday.

Selected railroad loans moved ahead today in an otherwise irregular bond market.

The volume was $3,061,000, not a startling figure, but an improvement over yesterday's $2,170,000 and the best so far this week.

Third Avenue adjustment 5s were very active—$204,000 of the issue sold—as the New York Transit Company turned a cold shoulder to proposals for a seven-cent fare. The current rate is a nickel and the railway had asked eight cents.

United States government bonds edged ahead a little in over-the-counter dealings.

Several Baltimore and Ohio issues advanced by a point or more and a number of Missouri Pacific loans moved up by lesser amounts.

Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s went ahead 1¼ to 69 and New York Central refunding 5s advanced 1¾ to 78¾. Other gainers included Michigan Central 3½s of 1998, Southern Pacific 4½s of 1981 and St. Louis and San Francisco 4½s.

Louisville and Nashville 2⅞s dropped 2¼ to 79¾ and United States Rubber fell a like amount to 92½. Other losers included National Dairy 2¾s, Koppers Company 3s and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western incomes of 1993.

Probe Shows Pageant Conducted On Fair Basis

Jaycees Find Charges Have Little Merit

Miss Frostburg Won In Two Brackets

Charges against the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and the state director of the Miss Maryland Pageant made by sponsors of the Frostburg and Paw Paw, W. Va., contestants were found largely without merit, according to a statement issued by the Jaycee Board of Directors at a special meeting last night.

The local Jaycee Board of Directors met with Jack F. Moore, state pageant director and master of ceremonies at the show, and a three-man delegation from the Frostburg Jaycees. Each charge was aired separately and in detail.

Following the discussion, the local Jaycee Board of Directors issued the following statement:

"The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce wishes to make the following statement concerning the comment on the 'Miss Maryland Beauty Pageant' held at Fort Hill High School auditorium August 2, 1948.

Conduct Acceptable

"The Jaycee Board of Directors believes that the 'Miss Maryland Pageant' was an entertaining and interesting pageant, conducted in a manner entirely acceptable to the audience and judged by an entirely impartial panel of judges.

"As to the adverse comment, the Jaycee Board of Directors believes most of the criticism is unjustified on the basis of exhaustive examination of the facts involved.

"Outward appearances would seem to indicate that 'Miss Cumberland' took a disproportionate amount of time in the talent contest. However, investigation revealed that almost all of the contestants exceeded the three-minute time limit by varying degrees and that not one of them was stopped.

"It might be noted that Miss Lonaconing's talent rendition was not interrupted but ended in the manner in which the author and 'Miss Lonaconing' intended it to end.

"Criticism about the disproportionate amount of rehearsal time given contestants may be justified, but not to an extent that it interfered with the results of the pageant."

Moore made the following statement last night:

Moore Makes Statement

"I have nothing to add to the statement issued by the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce regarding the general staging of the 'Miss Maryland Pageant.'

"However, with reference to the complaint lodged by the Frostburg Jaycees against my wife, Mrs. Winnie Moore, I have not been contacted by any member of the Frostburg Jaycees regarding their complaint.

"I feel that it is a most ungracious gesture on their part to make such a complaint, particularly without the courtesy of consulting me. I say this because the Miss Frostburg Pageant was directed and staged mainly by Mrs. Moore. Before rehearsals started, Mrs. Moore made a trip to Frostburg to help the Jaycees there sign up contestants. After rehearsing the contestants and the master of ceremonies, Rev. George Wehler, president of the Frostburg Jaycees and one of the signers of the complaint, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Dixie Ballard worked backstage during the entire show.

"Without the help of Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Ballard, I doubt very much if the Frostburg Jaycees would have had a pageant. I have asked the president of the Frostburg Jaycees for permission for my wife to speak to the general membership at their next regular meeting. He stated that the matter would be taken up at the next meeting of their Board of Directors Friday evening this week, and he would give me their answer the following day.

"I have derived a personal pleasure in directing and staging the Miss Maryland Pageant in Cumberland for the past two years but have received no other compensation.

"My efforts have been directed toward building up an annual affair for Western Maryland that will give us a festival atmosphere.

"It was staged in Cumberland because facilities gave better accommodations. Actually the winner of the contest made little difference to me, since my primary purpose was to present a program that would please the public and enable us to elaborate in following years.

"The program is Maryland's. The state stands to gain much publicity and in future years financial benefit. I stand to gain only the satisfaction of knowing I have contributed something to the area and a great deal of pleasure in the work."

Almost as soon as the Frostburg statement was published persons, many of whom said they attended the pageant Monday night, called the Cumberland News office to express "disapproval of any attack made on Miss Lookabaugh, or the directors of the state contest."

Lonaconing Satisfied

Pershing Holmes, co-chairman of the Miss Lonaconing pageant, said last night, "As far as I am concerned—I know nothing about judging, this is my personal opinion—I attended the Miss Maryland Pageant in Cumberland. From my viewpoint, not knowing how contestants were rated, it is my personal opinion our girl got fair treatment and the Junior Association of Commerce of Cumberland gave her as fair treatment as she could have gotten anywhere.

"As far as I'm concerned our entry had no talent training, although she had some natural talent, until she went to Cumberland where

CONTEST RATINGS-- Although Miss Juanita Lookabaugh's right to the title of Miss Maryland was questioned yesterday, official records of the judges show that the Narrows Park brunette won by a margin of three points. The semi-finals of the contest which contained three phases (top picture) shows that Miss Cumberland, No. 4 was defeated in the talent phase by Miss Frostburg, No. 3, about which most of the Frostburg protest centered, but won the bathing suit phase by a commanding majority. The pair tied in the evening gown phase. Entering the final phase (records in second picture) were Miss Cumberland No. 4, Miss Frostburg No. 3, and Miss Baltimore No. 1. The judges credited Miss Frostburg with 31 points in the personality phase and Miss Cumberland with 24 points but the commanding lead picked up by Miss Cumberland in the bathing beauty contest held good in spite of Miss Frostburg's 31-point personality score.

National Pageant Head Says Contest Here "Unbiased"

Declares Judges Above Reproach

The state finals of Maryland's beauty pageant conducted here Monday night was "fair and unbiased," Miss Lenora Slaughter, national director of the Miss America Pageant, who attended the local affair, said last night at her home in Atlantic City, N. J.

Informed that at least two groups in Western Maryland who sponsored contestants in the state pageant were protesting, Miss Slaughter said the "integrity of the seven out-of-state judges as far as national headquarters is concerned is above reproach."

"If I had any feeling of unfair play in the Cumberland contest, which I attended as national director, I would not have permitted it to continue," Miss Slaughter declared.

Answering charges made by the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose contestant finished second in the state contest, Miss Slaughter declared:

"Miss Maryland" To Lead LaVale Firemen's Parade

Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, "Miss Maryland of 1948," will head the LaVale Volunteer Firemen's parade tomorrow night at 7:30, Thomas L. Smith, president, has announced.

The parade, the fourth of five events scheduled to celebrate the company's 15th anniversary, will have fire companies and musical organizations from the county and area participating.

Saturday the fireman will wind up their program with public dancing and children's games in the Fire Hall auditorium.

Merchants Will Seek Tri-State Shoppers

Further plans for a "Back To School" promotion program by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce were discussed last night at a meeting of the sales promotion and advertising committees of the Bureau, James R. Kendall, assistant manager, said.

He said the meeting was devoted to working out details of the plan to promote this city as a tri-state shopping area.

Divorce Granted

George W. Kauffman, 507 Decatur Street, was granted an absolute divorce yesterday in Circuit Court by Chief Judge William A. Huster from Doris Ruth Kauffman.

Miss Lookabaugh To Retain Title Of Miss Maryland

Says She Wants To Go To Atlantic City

The title of Miss Maryland of 1948 wore well on Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, 18-year-old Cumberland girl, last night when she declared, "I have never thought of withdrawing," despite a storm of protest that was voiced yesterday over the decision.

"I want to go to Atlantic City and do my very best to win the Miss America title," she said in denying rumors that she may withdraw in view of criticism filed by the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce and W. E. Mueller, sponsor of the Miss Potomac entry.

"Anyway," Miss Lookabaugh, declared, "I don't think I would want a second hand title, if I were one of the other girls." The protesting organization threatened in a statement yesterday to file a formal protest with "national headquarters" against the decision of seven out-of-state judges.

Informed that many of the citizens of Western Maryland were "very disappointed" with the action of the Frostburg group, Miss Lookabaugh said she appreciated the support of the people and would do "my very best" to win the national title.

Although the bulk of the charges made by the Frostburg Jaycees and Mueller, were directed at the pageant director, Miss Maryland said she considered a few of "the unfounded charges" were directed at her.

"I never saw any of the judges except when all of the contestants had dinner with them at Taberna Montium Sunday night on the eve of the contest," she asserted, "and I don't remember drinking anything but milk."

Miss Lookabaugh said she did not see any one drinking alcoholic beverages at the party that was held for the judges and contestants at Taberna Montium after the contest on Monday night.

The Frostburg group charged that Maryland had several extra attendants in her dressing room on the night of the contest, but she branded the accusations "unfounded," and said her only attendant was a person assigned by a local department store.

"There were two other women in the room, but they were assisting

Jaycees Inaugurate Fly Control Program For Cumberland Residents

A community-wide fly control campaign has been arranged by the Junior Association of Commerce in co-operation with the Allegany County Farm Bureau, according to Charles S. Catherman, Jaycee president.

Catherman said William Scott is chairman of the Jaycee project and that arrangements have been made through J. William Loar, president of the Farm Bureau, to make the Bureau's large power sprayer available to residents of Cumberland.

The plan is simple in operation, Scott explained. All property owners, residents and business people of the community can have their premises sprayed completely with a DDT solution, which has been found effective against flys, mosquitoes, etc., for a charge of $2 per residence or vacant lot. Business houses will be charged on the basis of size and time and spray involved.

People interested in having their premises sprayed should telephone the Jaycee office, Telephone 29, and leave their name and address. Each Tuesday, the sprayer will be in the city, and will spray those premises for which telephone requests have been received.

The project is part of a nationwide, Jaycee-sponsored "Fly-Free Community" program and is proving most effective where similar co-operative and co-ordinated efforts have been undertaken.

There are fewer flys in the city this year, it is reported, but mosquitoes seem to be on the increase. Flys usually breed and hatch around farms, barns, etc., and the fact that the Farm Bureau put their power spray in operation on farms of the county a year ago, is believed to be a strong contributing factor. There are still breeding and hatching places in the city for flys. Spraying of these, Scott explained, will help eliminate the pests entirely.

Proper spraying by the qualified and trained power sprayer operator will also help cut down the mosquito nuisance, Scott said.

Textile Workers Redouble Effort For Full Vote

NLRB Will Count Votes Friday Night

James A. Blackwell, TWUA national representative, said last night that Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, is redoubling its efforts toward full participation in the union security election now being held by the National Labor Relations Board.

He said the added effort is necessary since the total number of employes eligible to vote in the election has been revised upwards. Blackwell said a NLRB agent has advised the union that 8,044 hourly paid employes are now on the lists.

It had been previously stated that roughly 7,500 workers were eligible to vote in the election.

Blackwell added, "The eligible figures cover those employed during the period ending July 17 and include all who are on vacation during this week of voting. It obviously means we must step up our efforts to have all vacationers still at home to come out and vote. We are urging as large a vote as possible so that a full reflection of sentiment can be obtained.

"We were pleased with the turn out up to closing of the polls at 11:30 last night, but our efforts will continue right through until Friday night," Blackwell said.

Miss Marie Pierce, NLRB field representative, said that in May, when the election was first planned, the Amcelle hourly rated payroll was roughly 7,500. The present voting list is taken from the July 17 payroll list, which is higher than the May lists.

The ballots, she said, will be counted beginning Friday night at the South Gate polling place. NLRB employes, she added, will work straight through until all ballots are counted.

Miss Pierce said the progress of voting has been "good."

Rieve Protests Barring Of TWUA From Election

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP) — The president of the CIO Textile Workers Union protested today the barring of a union local from a National Labor Relations Board election at Memphis, Tenn.

Emil Rieve, the president, said in a letter to the board that its decision "threatens the whole structure of industrial relations in America."

The local, No. 817, represents employes at the Kimberly-Clark Corporation plant in Memphis. Its officers have not filed non-Communist affidavits with the NLRB although officials of the parent union have done so.

The CIO union's status has been challenged at the AFL International Brotherhood of Papermakers and the AFL International Brotherhood of Pulp, Suphite and Papermill Workers.

The NLRB ordered an election at the plant but barred Local 817 from the ballot.

Rieve declared that the international union, not the local, is the certified bargaining agent in the contract with Kimberly-Clark.

It is general practice, he said, for the international union to sign contracts. The practice is approved by management as a means of fostering responsible unionism, he said, but the NLRB decision would undermine it.

Rieve wrote that all of the Textile Union locals could file under the Taft-Hartley Act because "We are hiding no Communists and we have no financial secrets." But to do so, he argued, "would impose a heavy burden upon both the union and the board.

Near-Centenarian Dies In City

Mrs. Catherine Sliker Wickertsheim, who celebrated her 98th birthday in May, died yesterday at 5 p. m. at the home of her son, John Wickertsheim, 514 Frederick Street.

Mrs. Wickertsheim, born in Salzburg, Germany, May 6, 1850, came to this country with her mother when she was seven years old to join her father who was a truck farmer in New York. She told friends that the ocean trip then took 40 days.

When her father and she came from their Englishtown, N. Y., home to market their produce in New York City, she saw blackberry bushes growing along the present Battery and Broadway. Union soldiers drilled in front of the George Washington Monument during the Civil War, she recalled.

In 1866 the family moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she married the late Andrew Wickertsheim in 1870 and went to Wilmington, Ohio, where she lived until 1943.

Mrs. Wickertsheim, last of a family of nine children, had one other son, the late Charles Wickertsheim, Charlestown, W. Va.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home and will be taken to Wilmington Friday.

Marines Drill Tonight

The regular drill of the Marine Reserve will be held today at 8 p. m. in the National Guard Armory, Capt. John T. Fey, company commander, said.

Potomac Group To Meet

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will have its seventh meeting September 10 and 11 at the Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown. Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., will be among the speakers.

Allan Deplores Strike Inference By TWUA Official

Says Celanese Pact Has Not Expired

An official of the Celanese Corporation of America last night deplored a statement by a Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, official, declaring the inference was that the TWUA was planning strike action at rayon plants. He said members should have been advised specifically if such action were planned at union meetings called last night and today to take up "urgent business."

Playford Aldridge, union president, yesterday declined to discuss the action planned but explained TWUA contracts with several rayon firms have expired. He did not comment when questioned as to the significance of the expiring agreements.

Edward R. Allan, personnel superintendent of the Amcelle plant said the statement made yesterday by Aldridge on the termination date of contracts at Viscose, Industrial Rayon and Tubize could carry only one inference—that the union is planning strike action at rayon plants with which the TWUA has agreements.

"While Mr. Aldridge states that the contract at Amcelle expired in June, the company never received notice of cancellation as provided in the agreement and by the terms of this agreement, it is automatically renewed for one year in the event either party fails to give notice in writing 30 days prior to the expiration date.

"In view of the apparent strike threat it would appear that the membership should be advised of such contemplated action but instead Mr. Aldridge has declined to indicate the reason for last night's urgent meeting.

"If strike action is taken by the TWUA, only rayon plants covered by TWUA agreements will be affected. Over 50 per cent of Celanese production would be unaffected by such action."

Local Man Wins Radio Contest

A local man, Harold R. Smith, was chosen "Bandleader of the Week" last night on the NBC program, "So You Want To Lead A Band," which originates in New York.

Smith, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, was one of three contestants who conducted Sammy Kaye's band on the show. He said he was interested in music, but had no experience as a band leader.

His 10-year-old triplet daughters are well known in this area as accordion players. They and Mrs. Smith are in New York.

Among the prizes Smith won were tickets to the baseball game today between the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, a gas range, a bicycle, and enough paint to paint his house inside and out.

Another contestant on the program was Mrs. Ethel Knepper, Somerset, Pa., who conducted the band as it played "Margie." Smith led the group in the "Woody Woodpecker Song."

Smith was chosen winner by the recorded volume of applause from the audience for his performance.

Smith on Monday was on the Second Honeymoon program on the ABC network with Mrs. Smith and each was presented with clothing and other prizes.

Asked why they were taking a second honeymoon, Smith said that after their marriage the depression set in, and upon its end the triplets arrived, causing the delay.

Gene Reiber Wins Soap Box Derby

LONACONING—A crowd of an estimated 1,000 persons saw Gene Reiber win Lonaconing's first soap box derby Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. on Douglas Avenue. He was awarded first prize, a week stay at a camp, contributed by James P. Love Post No. 92, American Legion.

Paul Doolan placed second in the derby and was given $5 donated by the Lonaconing Community decorating committee. James Rooney was third in the finalists.

Judges were James Kenney, Westernport; Paul Davis, Barton; Gilbert Blackburn, Westernport; and Frank Powers, Frostburg. Morgan Riley was announcer at the microphone during the derby races.

The derby began with five races, two at a time: Gene Reiber and James Dawson, Reiber winner; James Rooney and Jackie Crable, Rooney winner; Joe Graham and Joe Moses, Graham winner, Moses soap box upset during race; Bobby Humphrey and Kenny Donaldson, Humphrey winner; and Paul Doolan and Jimmy Powers, Doolan winner.

In the semi-finals, Joe Graham and James Rooney ran, Rooney, the winner; Gene Reiber and Bobby Humphrey, Reiber the winner; Paul Doolan and James Rooney (chosen by a drawing from the two previous winners to run remaining winner); Doolan and Reiber racing the final one for the championship.

Freedom Train Groups To Meet Director Today

Local committeemen preparing to welcome the Freedom Train here September 22, will get first hand information on the possibilities of Rededication Week, when Sidney Kirsten, area director, visits here today.

Kirsten is scheduled to arrive at 2 a. m., according to Mayor Thomas S. Post, who said the area director will meet with various committee heads throughout the day and then conduct a public meeting in City Hall auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

John M. Robb, general chairman of the local group planning to welcome the Freedom Train here, said Kirsten will show movies at the public meeting touching on programs presented in other cities where the document-loaded train has visited.

The train will spend only one day in Cumberland, but the committees in charge are planning a week of rededication to the ideals that made our country great. Mayor Post indicated that the program may be modeled after those held in other cities where street decorations, pageants, church services and civic programs were presented during the seven days prior to the arrival of the train.

The success of the Freedom Train's tour will not be measured in the total miles traveled but will come when all Americans appreciate the great stake they have in their own form of government and resolve never to lose it through neglect, committee members said.

While the meetings throughout th day will be confined to members of the various committees, Robb said the night meeting will be open to the general public and especially requested officers of the various fraternal, civic and veteran organizations in Cumberland to attend.

Warnick Admits Serving Prison Term In Denver

FBI To Question Former Midland Man

A Midland man, Hubert Warnick, who authorities identified as one of two who drove here from Denver, Colo., in a bullet-riddled stolen car, last night admitted he is presently on parole in Colorado where he served a year in prison for car theft, police said.

First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from the Baltimore office indicated yesterday they will come here to question Warnick while police continue a search for his unidentified companion.

Warnick, who at first told police he has been working in Denver since his discharge from the Navy, yesterday admitted that he was released from the Colorado State Reformatory July 9, this year, after being sentenced there on July 11, 1947.

Trooper Milton G. Hart, who arrested Warnick Monday and questioned him yesterday, said the former Midland man denied any knowledge that the car he rode here in was stolen.

Police said they discovered the car abandoned Sunday on Dan's Mountain Road two miles east of Midland and said there were two bullet holes in the rear of the automobile. Warnick told authorities he didn't know how the holes got there.

Trooper Hart said Warnick has failed to identify his companion but added Maryland State Police are awaiting answers sent to Denver police and Naval authorities in San Diego, where Warnick said his companion was discharged from the Navy.

Warnick told Trooper Hart yesterday that he was working in a summer resort when he met his companion and admitted the prison warden was instrumental in getting the job for him after he was paroled.

Police said Warnick will be held here for further investigation pending questioning by the FBI and answers from Colorado.

Lewis Questioned In Purse Thefts

Thomas Lewis, 23, formerly of 219 Carroll Street, was brought here from Baltimore yesterday by Deputy Sheriff William Orr and was lodged in City Jail.

Detectives Thomas J. See and Ernest M. Powell, who questioned Lewis, said he admitted taking about $20 from the purse of Miss Lida M. Henton, who was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Arthur W. West, 507 Baltimore Avenue, on the night of July 24.

Police said he also admitted jumping on the running board of a truck operated by Oscar Ault, Star Route 2, Everett, Pa., earlier the same night, and asking him for a ride to Baltimore, which was refused.

Ault, police said, had complained to police that Lewis had threatened to shoot him if he did not stop. Lewis said he never carried a gun, and did not make any threats.

Lewis is also accused of taking $4 from the purse of Mrs. Laura Crissinger at the Garibaldi Club, rear of 10 Baltimore Street, on the night of June 26.

Lewis, police said, admitted having the purse on his shoulder, but said he had been drinking and could not remember whether or not he had taken any money from it.

The detectives said Lewis would be taken to the office of the State's Attorney today for further questioning.

Elks May Buy New Boys' Camp

Rosell T. Pickrel, Washington, president of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks' Association, last night, told 150 members of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 that he expected that Camp Ritchie would be unavailable next year for the Elks Boys Camp, which is sponsored there each year.

Pickrel urged the local lodge to attempt to raise funds to be used for the purchase of another site for the camp. Pickrel also expressed the hope that all lodges in the area would send a team to the ritualistic contest to be held at Wilmington, Del., September 2 to September 6.

A buffet luncheon was served after the meeting. The annual Elks picnic will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at Smouse's Beach.

Car Hits Tree

A car belonging to John Wolford, 125 South Liberty Street, was damaged last night when it ran down a hill in front of the All Ghan Country Club and crashed against a tree.

Witnesses said the car was parked in front of the club building when it drifted down the hill. The incident marked the second time in about a year in which a car has drifted down the steep bank and struck the same tree.

Bills Of Complaint

Three bills of complaint were filed in Circuit Court yesterday. They were:

Cumberland Kiwanis Club Will Hear Knight Now Studying For Ministry

John S. Coffman, one of the original Kiwanis Knights of the Harrisburg, Pa., Club, will speak at the Cumberland Kiwanis luncheon today at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

His talk, entitled "This Side of the Tracks," is the story of his life from his childhood in a low rent area in Harrisburg to his present studying for the ministry.

Coffman joined the first Kiwanis Knights program under the sponsorship of the Harrisburg group spurred on by Past District Governor Frank J. Walls. At that time Coffman had narrowly escaped being sent to reform school for pilfering scrap iron from railroad cars and selling it.

Coffman and other members of the gang with which he ran around reluctantly accepted the invitation to the first meeting at the Harrisburg YMCA and soon the former street waif became a leader of the organization.

It was while he was serving with the Navy in World War II that Coffman decided to become a minister. Other members of that first club are holding or working up to positions of responsibility in business and professions. Some who did not accept the original invitation are serving or have served time in various penal institutions.

The Weather

Yesterday's warm but pleasant day ended with a light rain that began falling at midnight and the weatherman who has been steering away from "wet" forecasts for the past week, came back last night with predictions of a cloudy, cool day, with some rain for today.

Probe Shows Pageant Conducted On Fair Basis

Miss Frostburg Won In Two Brackets

Charges against the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and the state director of the Miss Maryland Pageant made by sponsors of the Frostburg and Paw Paw, W. Va., contestants were found largely without merit, according to a statement issued by the Jaycee Board of Directors at a special meeting last night.

The local Jaycee Board of Directors met with Jack F. Moore, state pageant director and master of ceremonies at the show, and a three-man delegation from the Frostburg Jaycees. Each charge was aired separately and in detail.

Following the discussion, the local Jaycee Board of Directors issued the following statement:

"The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce wishes to make the following statement concerning the comment on the 'Miss Maryland Beauty Pageant' held at Fort Hill High School auditorium August 2, 1948.

Conduct Acceptable

"The Jaycee Board of Directors believes that the 'Miss Maryland Pageant' was an entertaining and interesting pageant, conducted in a manner entirely acceptable to the audience and judged by an entirely impartial panel of judges.

"As to the adverse comment, the Jaycee Board of Directors believes most of the criticism is unjustified on the basis of exhaustive examination of the facts involved.

"Outward appearances would seem to indicate that 'Miss Cumberland' took a disproportionate amount of time in the talent contest. However, investigation revealed that almost all of the contestants exceeded the three-minute time limit by varying degrees and that not one of them was stopped.

"It might be noted that Miss Lonaconing's talent rendition was not interrupted but ended in the manner in which the author and 'Miss Lonaconing' intended it to end.

"Criticism about the disproportionate amount of rehearsal time given contestants may be justified, but not to an extent that it interfered with the results of the pageant."

Moore made the following statement last night:

Moore Makes Statement

"I have nothing to add to the statement issued by the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce regarding the general staging of the 'Miss Maryland Pageant.'

"However, with reference to the complaint lodged by the Frostburg Jaycees against my wife, Mrs. Winnie Moore, I have not been contacted by any member of the Frostburg Jaycees regarding their complaint.

"I feel that it is a most ungracious gesture on their part to make such a complaint, particularly without the courtesy of consulting me. I say this because the Miss Frostburg Pageant was directed and staged mainly by Mrs. Moore. Before rehearsals started, Mrs. Moore made a trip to Frostburg to help the Jaycees there sign up contestants. After rehearsing the contestants and the master of ceremonies, Rev. George Wehler, president of the Frostburg Jaycees and one of the signers of the complaint, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Dixie Ballard worked backstage during the entire show.

"Without the help of Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Ballard, I doubt very much if the Frostburg Jaycees would have had a pageant. I have asked the president of the Frostburg Jaycees for permission for my wife to speak to the general membership at their next regular meeting. He stated that the matter would be taken up at the next meeting of their Board of Directors Friday evening this week, and he would give me their answer the following day.

"I have derived a personal pleasure in directing and staging the Miss Maryland Pageant in Cumberland for the past two years but have received no other compensation.

"My efforts have been directed toward building up an annual affair for Western Maryland that will give us a festival atmosphere.

"It was staged in Cumberland because facilities gave better accommodations. Actually the winner of the contest made little difference to me, since my primary purpose was to present a program that would please the public and enable us to elaborate in following years.

"The program is Maryland's. The state stands to gain much publicity and in future years financial benefit. I stand to gain only the satisfaction of knowing I have contributed something to the area and a great deal of pleasure in the work."

Almost as soon as the Frostburg statement was published persons, many of whom said they attended the pageant Monday night, called the Cumberland News office to express "disapproval of any attack made on Miss Lookabaugh, or the directors of the state contest."

Lonaconing Satisfied

Pershing Holmes, co-chairman of the Miss Lonaconing pageant, said last night, "As far as I am concerned—I know nothing about judging, this is my personal opinion—I attended the Miss Maryland Pageant in Cumberland. From my viewpoint, not knowing how contestants were rated, it is my personal opinion our girl got fair treatment and the Junior Association of Commerce of Cumberland gave her as fair treatment as she could have gotten anywhere.

"As far as I'm concerned our entry had no talent training, although she had some natural talent, until she went to Cumberland where

CONTEST RATINGS-- Although Miss Juanita Lookabaugh's right to the title of Miss Maryland was questioned yesterday, official records of the judges show that the Narrows Park brunette won by a margin of three points. The semi-finals of the contest which contained three phases (top picture) shows that Miss Cumberland, No. 4 was defeated in the talent phase by Miss Frostburg, No. 3, about which most of the Frostburg protest centered, but won the bathing suit phase by a commanding majority. The pair tied in the evening gown phase. Entering the final phase (records in second picture) were Miss Cumberland No. 4, Miss Frostburg No. 3, and Miss Baltimore No. 1. The judges credited Miss Frostburg with 31 points in the personality phase and Miss Cumberland with 24 points but the commanding lead picked up by Miss Cumberland in the bathing beauty contest held good in spite of Miss Frostburg's 31-point personality score.

Declares Judges Above Reproach

The state finals of Maryland's beauty pageant conducted here Monday night was "fair and unbiased," Miss Lenora Slaughter, national director of the Miss America Pageant, who attended the local affair, said last night at her home in Atlantic City, N. J.

Informed that at least two groups in Western Maryland who sponsored contestants in the state pageant were protesting, Miss Slaughter said the "integrity of the seven out-of-state judges as far as national headquarters is concerned is above reproach."

"If I had any feeling of unfair play in the Cumberland contest, which I attended as national director, I would not have permitted it to continue," Miss Slaughter declared.

Answering charges made by the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose contestant finished second in the state contest, Miss Slaughter declared:

"Miss Maryland" To Lead LaVale Firemen's Parade

Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, "Miss Maryland of 1948," will head the LaVale Volunteer Firemen's parade tomorrow night at 7:30, Thomas L. Smith, president, has announced.

The parade, the fourth of five events scheduled to celebrate the company's 15th anniversary, will have fire companies and musical organizations from the county and area participating.

Saturday the fireman will wind up their program with public dancing and children's games in the Fire Hall auditorium.

Miss Lookabaugh To Retain Title Of Miss Maryland

Says She Wants To Go To Atlantic City

The title of Miss Maryland of 1948 wore well on Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, 18-year-old Cumberland girl, last night when she declared, "I have never thought of withdrawing," despite a storm of protest that was voiced yesterday over the decision.

"I want to go to Atlantic City and do my very best to win the Miss America title," she said in denying rumors that she may withdraw in view of criticism filed by the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce and W. E. Mueller, sponsor of the Miss Potomac entry.

"Anyway," Miss Lookabaugh, declared, "I don't think I would want a second hand title, if I were one of the other girls." The protesting organization threatened in a statement yesterday to file a formal protest with "national headquarters" against the decision of seven out-of-state judges.

Informed that many of the citizens of Western Maryland were "very disappointed" with the action of the Frostburg group, Miss Lookabaugh said she appreciated the support of the people and would do "my very best" to win the national title.

Although the bulk of the charges made by the Frostburg Jaycees and Mueller, were directed at the pageant director, Miss Maryland said she considered a few of "the unfounded charges" were directed at her.

"I never saw any of the judges except when all of the contestants had dinner with them at Taberna Montium Sunday night on the eve of the contest," she asserted, "and I don't remember drinking anything but milk."

Miss Lookabaugh said she did not see any one drinking alcoholic beverages at the party that was held for the judges and contestants at Taberna Montium after the contest on Monday night.

The Frostburg group charged that Maryland had several extra attendants in her dressing room on the night of the contest, but she branded the accusations "unfounded," and said her only attendant was a person assigned by a local department store.

"There were two other women in the room, but they were assisting

Jaycees Inaugurate Fly Control Program For Cumberland Residents

A community-wide fly control campaign has been arranged by the Junior Association of Commerce in co-operation with the Allegany County Farm Bureau, according to Charles S. Catherman, Jaycee president.

Catherman said William Scott is chairman of the Jaycee project and that arrangements have been made through J. William Loar, president of the Farm Bureau, to make the Bureau's large power sprayer available to residents of Cumberland.

The plan is simple in operation, Scott explained. All property owners, residents and business people of the community can have their premises sprayed completely with a DDT solution, which has been found effective against flys, mosquitoes, etc., for a charge of $2 per residence or vacant lot. Business houses will be charged on the basis of size and time and spray involved.

People interested in having their premises sprayed should telephone the Jaycee office, Telephone 29, and leave their name and address. Each Tuesday, the sprayer will be in the city, and will spray those premises for which telephone requests have been received.

The project is part of a nation-wide, Jaycee-sponsored "Fly-Free Community" program and is proving most effective where similar co-operative and co-ordinated efforts have been undertaken.

There are fewer flys in the city this year, it is reported, but mosquitoes seem to be on the increase. Flys usually breed and hatch around farms, barns, etc., and the fact that the Farm Bureau put their power spray in operation on farms of the county a year ago, is believed to be a strong contributing factor. There are still breeding and hatching places in the city for flys. Spraying of these, Scott explained, will help eliminate the pests entirely.

Proper spraying by the qualified and trained power sprayer operator will also help cut down the mosquito nuisance, Scott said.

Textile Workers Redouble Effort For Full Vote

NLRB Will Count Votes Friday Night

James A. Blackwell, TWUA national representative, said last night that Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, is redoubling its efforts toward full participation in the union security election now being held by the National Labor Relations Board.

He said the added effort is necessary since the total number of employes eligible to vote in the election has been revised upwards. Blackwell said a NLRB agent has advised the union that 8,044 hourly paid employes are now on the lists.

It had been previously stated that roughly 7,500 workers were eligible to vote in the election.

Blackwell added, "The eligible figures cover those employed during the period ending July 17 and include all who are on vacation during this week of voting. It obviously means we must step up our efforts to have all vacationers still at home to come out and vote. We are urging as large a vote as possible so that a full reflection of sentiment can be obtained.

"We were pleased with the turn out up to closing of the polls at 11:30 last night, but our efforts will continue right through until Friday night," Blackwell said.

Miss Marie Pierce, NLRB field representative, said that in May, when the election was first planned, the Amcelle hourly rated payroll was roughly 7,500. The present voting list is taken from the July 17 payroll list, which is higher than the May lists.

The ballots, she said, will be counted beginning Friday night at the South Gate polling place. NLRB employes, she added, will work straight through until all ballots are counted.

Miss Pierce said the progress of voting has been "good."

Rieve Protests Barring Of TWUA From Election

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP) — The president of the CIO Textile Workers Union protested today the barring of a union local from a National Labor Relations Board election at Memphis, Tenn.

Emil Rieve, the president, said in a letter to the board that its decision "threatens the whole structure of industrial relations in America."

The local, No. 817, represents employes at the Kimberly-Clark Corporation plant in Memphis. Its officers have not filed non-Communist affidavits with the NLRB although officials of the parent union have done so.

The CIO union's status has been challenged at the AFL International Brotherhood of Papermakers and the AFL International Brotherhood of Pulp, Suphite and Papermill Workers.

The NLRB ordered an election at the plant but barred Local 817 from the ballot.

Rieve declared that the international union, not the local, is the certified bargaining agent in the contract with Kimberly-Clark.

It is general practice, he said, for the international union to sign contracts. The practice is approved by management as a means of fostering responsible unionism, he said, but the NLRB decision would undermine it.

Rieve wrote that all of the Textile Union locals could file under the Taft-Hartley Act because "We are hiding no Communists and we have no financial secrets." But to do so, he argued, "would impose a heavy burden upon both the union and the board.

Near-Centenarian Dies In City

Mrs. Catherine Sliker Wickertsheim, who celebrated her 98th birthday in May, died yesterday at 5 p. m. at the home of her son, John Wickertsheim, 514 Frederick Street.

Mrs. Wickertsheim, born in Salzburg, Germany, May 6, 1850, came to this country with her mother when she was seven years old to join her father who was a truck farmer in New York. She told friends that the ocean trip then took 40 days.

When her father and she came from their Englishtown, N. Y., home to market their produce in New York City, she saw blackberry bushes growing along the present Battery and Broadway. Union soldiers drilled in front of the George Washington Monument during the Civil War, she recalled.

In 1866 the family moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she married the late Andrew Wickertsheim in 1870 and went to Wilmington, Ohio, where she lived until 1943.

Mrs. Wickertsheim, last of a family of nine children, had one other son, the late Charles Wickertsheim, Charlestown, W. Va.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home and will be taken to Wilmington Friday.

Allan Deplores Strike Inference By TWUA Official

Says Celanese Pact Has Not Expired

An official of the Celanese Corporation of America last night deplored a statement by a Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, official, declaring the inference was that the TWUA was planning strike action at rayon plants. He said members should have been advised specifically if such action were planned at union meetings called last night and today to take up "urgent business."

Playford Aldridge, union president, yesterday declined to discuss the action planned but explained TWUA contracts with several rayon firms have expired. He did not comment when questioned as to the significance of the expiring agreements.

Edward R. Allan, personnel superintendent of the Amcelle plant said the statement made yesterday by Aldridge on the termination date of contracts at Viscose, Industrial Rayon and Tubize could carry only one inference—that the union is planning strike action at rayon plants with which the TWUA has agreements.

"While Mr. Aldridge states that the contract at Amcelle expired in June, the company never received notice of cancellation as provided in the agreement and by the terms of this agreement, it is automatically renewed for one year in the event either party fails to give notice in writing 30 days prior to the expiration date.

"In view of the apparent strike threat it would appear that the membership should be advised of such contemplated action but instead Mr. Aldridge has declined to indicate the reason for last night's urgent meeting.

"If strike action is taken by the TWUA, only rayon plants covered by TWUA agreements will be affected. Over 50 per cent of Celanese production would be unaffected by such action."

Local Man Wins Radio Contest

A local man, Harold R. Smith, was chosen "Bandleader of the Week" last night on the NBC program, "So You Want To Lead A Band," which originates in New York.

Smith, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, was one of three contestants who conducted Sammy Kaye's band on the show. He said he was interested in music, but had no experience as a band leader.

His 10-year-old triplet daughters are well known in this area as accordion players. They and Mrs. Smith are in New York.

Among the prizes Smith won were tickets to the baseball game today between the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, a gas range, a bicycle, and enough paint to paint his house inside and out.

Another contestant on the program was Mrs. Ethel Knepper, Somerset, Pa., who conducted the band as it played "Margie." Smith led the group in the "Woody Woodpecker Song."

Smith was chosen winner by the recorded volume of applause from the audience for his performance.

Smith on Monday was on the Second Honeymoon program on the ABC network with Mrs. Smith and each was presented with clothing and other prizes.

Asked why they were taking a second honeymoon, Smith said that after their marriage the depression set in, and upon its end the triplets arrived, causing the delay.

Freedom Train Groups To Meet Director Today

Local committeemen preparing to welcome the Freedom Train here September 22, will get first hand information on the possibilities of Rededication Week, when Sidney Kirsten, area director, visits here today.

Kirsten is scheduled to arrive at 2 a. m., according to Mayor Thomas S. Post, who said the area director will meet with various committee heads throughout the day and then conduct a public meeting in City Hall auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

John M. Robb, general chairman of the local group planning to welcome the Freedom Train here, said Kirsten will show movies at the public meeting touching on programs presented in other cities where the document-loaded train has visited.

The train will spend only one day in Cumberland, but the committees in charge are planning a week of rededication to the ideals that made our country great. Mayor Post indicated that the program may be modeled after those held in other cities where street decorations, pageants, church services and civic programs were presented during the seven days prior to the arrival of the train.

The success of the Freedom Train's tour will not be measured in the total miles traveled but will come when all Americans appreciate the great stake they have in their own form of government and resolve never to lose it through neglect, committee members said.

While the meetings throughout th day will be confined to members of the various committees, Robb said the night meeting will be open to the general public and especially requested officers of the various fraternal, civic and veteran organizations in Cumberland to attend.

Cumberland Kiwanis Club Will Hear Knight Now Studying For Ministry

John S. Coffman, one of the original Kiwanis Knights of the Harrisburg, Pa., Club, will speak at the Cumberland Kiwanis luncheon today at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

His talk, entitled "This Side of the Tracks," is the story of his life from his childhood in a low rent area in Harrisburg to his present studying for the ministry.

Coffman joined the first Kiwanis Knights program under the sponsorship of the Harrisburg group spurred on by Past District Governor Frank J. Walls. At that time Coffman had narrowly escaped being sent to reform school for pilfering scrap iron from railroad cars and selling it.

Coffman and other members of the gang with which he ran around reluctantly accepted the invitation to the first meeting at the Harrisburg YMCA and soon the former street waif became a leader of the organization.

It was while he was serving with the Navy in World War II that Coffman decided to become a minister. Other members of that first club are holding or working up to positions of responsibility in business and professions. Some who did not accept the original invitation are serving or have served time in various penal institutions.

Warnick Admits Serving Prison Term In Denver

FBI To Question Former Midland Man

A Midland man, Hubert Warnick, who authorities identified as one of two who drove here from Denver, Colo., in a bullet-riddled stolen car, last night admitted he is presently on parole in Colorado where he served a year in prison for car theft, police said.

First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from the Baltimore office indicated yesterday they will come here to question Warnick while police continue a search for his unidentified companion.

Warnick, who at first told police he has been working in Denver since his discharge from the Navy, yesterday admitted that he was released from the Colorado State Reformatory July 9, this year, after being sentenced there on July 11, 1947.

Trooper Milton G. Hart, who arrested Warnick Monday and questioned him yesterday, said the former Midland man denied any knowledge that the car he rode here in was stolen.

Police said they discovered the car abandoned Sunday on Dan's Mountain Road two miles east of Midland and said there were two bullet holes in the rear of the automobile. Warnick told authorities he didn't know how the holes got there.

Trooper Hart said Warnick has failed to identify his companion but added Maryland State Police are awaiting answers sent to Denver police and Naval authorities in San Diego, where Warnick said his companion was discharged from the Navy.

Warnick told Trooper Hart yesterday that he was working in a summer resort when he met his companion and admitted the prison warden was instrumental in getting the job for him after he was paroled.

Police said Warnick will be held here for further investigation pending questioning by the FBI and answers from Colorado.

Lewis Questioned In Purse Thefts

Thomas Lewis, 23, formerly of 219 Carroll Street, was brought here from Baltimore yesterday by Deputy Sheriff William Orr and was lodged in City Jail.

Lewis was arrested by Baltimore authorities at the request of local police, who hold a warrant charging him with petty larceny.

Detectives Thomas J. See and Ernest M. Powell, who questioned Lewis, said he admitted taking about $20 from the purse of Miss Lida M. Henton, who was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Arthur W. West, 507 Baltimore Avenue, on the night of July 24.

Police said he also admitted jumping on the running board of a truck operated by Oscar Ault, Star Route 2, Everett, Pa., earlier the same night, and asking him for a ride to Baltimore, which was refused.

Ault, police said, had complained to police that Lewis had threatened to shoot him if he did not stop. Lewis said he never carried a gun, and did not make any threats.

Lewis is also accused of taking $4 from the purse of Mrs. Laura Crissinger at the Garibaldi Club, rear of 10 Baltimore Street, on the night of June 26.

Lewis, police said, admitted having the purse on his shoulder, but said he had been drinking and could not remember whether or not he had taken any money from it.

The detectives said Lewis would be taken to the office of the State's Attorney today for further questioning.

Elks May Buy New Boys' Camp

Rosell T. Pickrel, Washington, president of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks' Association, last night, told 150 members of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 that he expected that Camp Ritchie would be unavailable next year for the Elks Boys Camp, which is sponsored there each year.

Pickrel urged the local lodge to attempt to raise funds to be used for the purchase of another site for the camp. Pickrel also expressed the hope that all lodges in the area would send a team to the ritualistic contest to be held at Wilmington, Del., September 2 to September 6.

A buffet luncheon was served after the meeting. The annual Elks picnic will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at Smouse's Beach.

Car Hits Tree

A car belonging to John Wolford, 125 South Liberty Street, was damaged last night when it ran down a hill in front of the Ali Ghan Country Club and crashed against a tree.

Witnesses said the car was parked in front of the club building when it drifted down the hill. The incident marked the second time in about a year in which a car has drifted down the steep bank and struck the same tree.

Three bills of complaint were filed in Circuit Court yesterday. They were:

The Weather

Yesterday's warm but pleasant day ended with a light rain that began falling at midnight and the weatherman who has been steering away from "wet" forecasts for the past week, came back last night with predictions of a cloudy, cool day, with some rain for today.
